LORIMER INQUIRY NOW FACES FACT SOMEONE IS LYING

Amazing Contradictions in Testimony Make Perjury Plainly Apparent.

G. M. REYNOLDS TESTIFIES

Wiehe Charges "Frameup" of Story Told by W. H. Cook and William Burgess.

ALDRICH TAKES THE STAND TODAY

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—The senate Lorimer investigating committee was given another shock today by the conflict of testimony offered by various witnesses.

It is plainly apparent to the committee that perjury is being committed—perjury of the most flagrant character. There is contradiction of statements so flat that it is impossible to reconcile the evidence.

Either various witnesses against Mr. Lorimer are lying or the witnesses for him and for Edward Hines are doing so.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa recently stated there should be prosecutions for perjury, and the desirability of such action is impressing itself upon others.

More light on conflicting testimony will be shed tomorrow when former Senator Aldrich and Senator Penrose will take the stand to explain their connection with Hines' "message" to Deneen.

During the proceedings today four witnesses—B. A. Johnson, formerly connected with the American Lumberman; John B. Price and S. J. Cusson, lumbermen; and Christian F. Wiehe—gave testimony to prove the untruth of the evidence of William Burgess.

Testimony Flatly at Variance.

Burgess had testified that Wiehe, in the smoking compartment of a car attached to the Winnipeg flyer, on March 7 last, told of a contribution of $10,000 he had made to a Lorimer jackpot and of a conversation he had with Father Green, a Catholic priest, in reference to the confession of a detective asserted to have been employed by a Chicago newspaper to obtain false testimony against Mr. Lorimer.

Johnson, Cusson, and Price swore they were in the smoking compartment and never heard the Lorimer election discussed. Wiehe denounced Burgess as an "absolute liar," and charged that Burgess and Wirt H. Cook, the Duluth lumber man, had engaged in a "frameup" for the purpose of ruining Hines.

Besides the perjury aspects of the case, the committee is extremely anxious, according to reports, to locate Robert J. Shields of Superior, Wis., who is well known in Wisconsin politics.

Shields was employed by the Hines Lumber company to find the men who were in the smoking car on the night of March 7, and he succeeded in finding Charles McGowan, a resident of Regina, Canada, and Price.

Affidavits Prepared by Hines' Man.

McGowan told yesterday of how Shields had prepared an affidavit and then obtained his signature to the document, and today Price testified the same methods had been employed with respect to himself.

Price swore he did not know of Burgess until Shields referred to him and had not thought of the train incident until Shields called upon him in Seattle. All he said to Shields was that he had not heard the conversation Burgess alleges he had with Wiehe.

Shields thereupon went away, prepared an affidavit, and returned with it, Price signing it without making any changes.

Price's statement of how he identified the men in the compartment was surprising. For instance, he said at some time—he could not say whether it was within three years—Wiehe had been described to him as a man with a mustache, a nose with a lump on it, and blue eyes. Although Wiehe was wearing a black beard on the Winnipeg flyer, the witness at once knew him.

Uncertain as to Wiehe's Movements.

Johnson said the Wiehe-Burgess conversation did not take place in his presence. Burgess had testified that he, Wiehe, and McGowan were the only occupants of the compartment at the time. Johnson said Wiehe left the compartment before he did, but he did not know whether he came back. The witness also swore Price was not in the smoking compartment and that he never saw him until this week.

To show that Wiehe did not return to the smoker Cusson was placed on the stand. He swore he did not hear any such conversation as Burgess told of, and he described with minute exactitude the position of every man who entered the compartment until shortly before the train arrived at its destination. But it developed that after he testified before the Helm committee he had been asked by some one—he did not recall who—to make an affidavit. This affidavit was sent to him, he thought, from Chicago—he was not certain.

The witness subsequently remembered he had talked the matter over with either Hines or Wiehe but not with Shields. It took some time for him to tell the committee he had sent the affidavit to the Edward Hines Lumber company.

Wiehe Enters Sweeping Denial.

Wiehe entered a sweeping denial of everything, confirming Hines in the latter's statement that Mr. Lorimer had requested him to advise Hines not to go to Springfield but to telephone him from Chicago on May 26, 1909, and also upholding Hines' version of the conversation over the long distance telephone from Cook's room at the Grand Pacific hotel between Hines and Mr. Lorimer.

Wiehe testified Hettler told a falsehood in saying that Hines said to him at the Union League club, "I elected Lorimer. I did it myself personally." The witness also spoke of Cook's threats. He did admit urging Cook

BROKEN GUY WIRE DISABLES H. F. M'CORMICK'S AEROPLANE

Loud Report Heard While "Umbrella" Type of Machine Is in Air—Benefit for Late Aviator Kreamer's Family.

Harold F. McCormick's "umbrella," one of the two aeroplanes of a new design with which he has been experimenting, met disaster yesterday on the aviation field of the Aero Club of Illinois. It was the first trial since the plane was partly demolished in a flight in Texas several months ago.

W. S. Romme, the pilot, had traveled fifty feet in the air at an altitude of about five feet when a loud report was heard. The machine glided to the ground. It was found that a guy wire had broken and had become entangled with the propeller.

The machine will be out of commission for a month.

George F. Sexton, secretary of the Aero club, announced during the day that the club will hold a benefit meet on Sunday for the family of Dan A. Kreamer, the aviator, who was killed on Thursday.

FEDERAL LAWYERS FACE AN INQUIRY IN OLEO SCANDAL

Government Investigates the Charges Against Prosecutors Davis and Childs.

ACCUSED BY COL. INGRAM

One Said to Have Protected Violators of Law; the Other Involved Indirectly.

BIG TURMOIL NOW UNDER WAY

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—Sensational charges of misconduct, involving two assistant United States district attorneys at Chicago, are under investigation.

The two attorneys under fire are facing charges of moral turpitude connected with the investigation of the oleomargarine manufacturers, some of whom were indicted last week by the federal grand jury sitting in Chicago. The government lawyers involved are:

Ben Davis, assistant attorney at a salary of $2,500 a year, charged with being a party to a plot to protect certain oleomargarine makers from indictment.

Robert W. Childs, assistant attorney at a salary of $4,000 a year, charged with protecting Davis from investigation by the federal grand jury.

The charges against the federal prosecutors were laid before Commissioner of Internal Revenue Cabell by Col. C. H. Ingram, chief of the internal revenue agents assigned to the investigation of oleomargarine cases in the Chicago district.

Childs a Revenue Law Expert.

Assistant Attorneys Childs and Davis were in charge of the federal grand jury's recently completed investigation of the oleomargarine manufacturers. Working with them in the presentation of the facts to the jury were a number of internal revenue agents under Col. Ingram. Childs is an authority on the revenue law in its relation to oleomargarine and has conducted several inquiries into violations of the statute.

The grand jury which returned indictments against twenty-three officials and employés of the Moxley, Jelke, and Braun oleo companies last Thursday also indicted three revenue agents, Frank P. Caviezel, L. C. La Rue, and Harry Oldam, on charges of receiving bribes from representatives of oleo makers, seeking immunity. Juror Martin Dahl and Henry E. Coyne, a clerk in the revenue agent's office, were cited by Judge Landis for contempt of court in disclosing the identity of persons indicted before the indictments were returned.

Charges Made Against Davis.

The charges against Caviezel also involve Assistant District Attorney Davis. According to the allegation of Col. Ingram, Davis was cognizant of the protection given to certain oleomargarine makers by Caviezel and participated therein.

Upon learning that his subordinates had been indicted on charges of receiving bribes, Col. Ingram began a searching investigation. He demanded that the grand jury investigate Davis as well as the revenue agents, but according to Ingram the Davis charges were not presented to the inquisitorial body. Col. Ingram then charged that Assistant Attorney Childs prevented the presentation of the Davis matter to the grand jury.

There will be a thorough investigation of the entire situation by the Washington authorities.

Justice Thwarted by Politics.

The treasury has been cheated out of hundreds of thousands of dollars by evasions of the oleo tax in Chicago, and the government prosecutors have been defeated continually by political interference in attempts to bring the offenders to justice.

Commissioner Cabell, shortly after taking office, reorganized the force of revenue agents at Chicago. Almost immediately extensive frauds in the oleo factories were discovered.

Col. Ingram captured a dozen big moonshiners and had them sent to the penitentiary. Then Judge Landis ordered a general grand jury investigation of the frauds by the district attorney's office.

District Attorney Sims gathered a mass of evidence of violations of the law, but the first grand jury called returned no indictments. A second body impaneled for the same purpose adjourned without voting any true bills against oleo men. When the last grand jury was called upon to go into the oleo charges, District Attorney Sims turned the entire investigation over to Mr. Childs and took no part in the inquiry.

ELEANOR ROBSON'S PIN SEIZED; UNDUE ZEAL CAUSES MISTAKE.

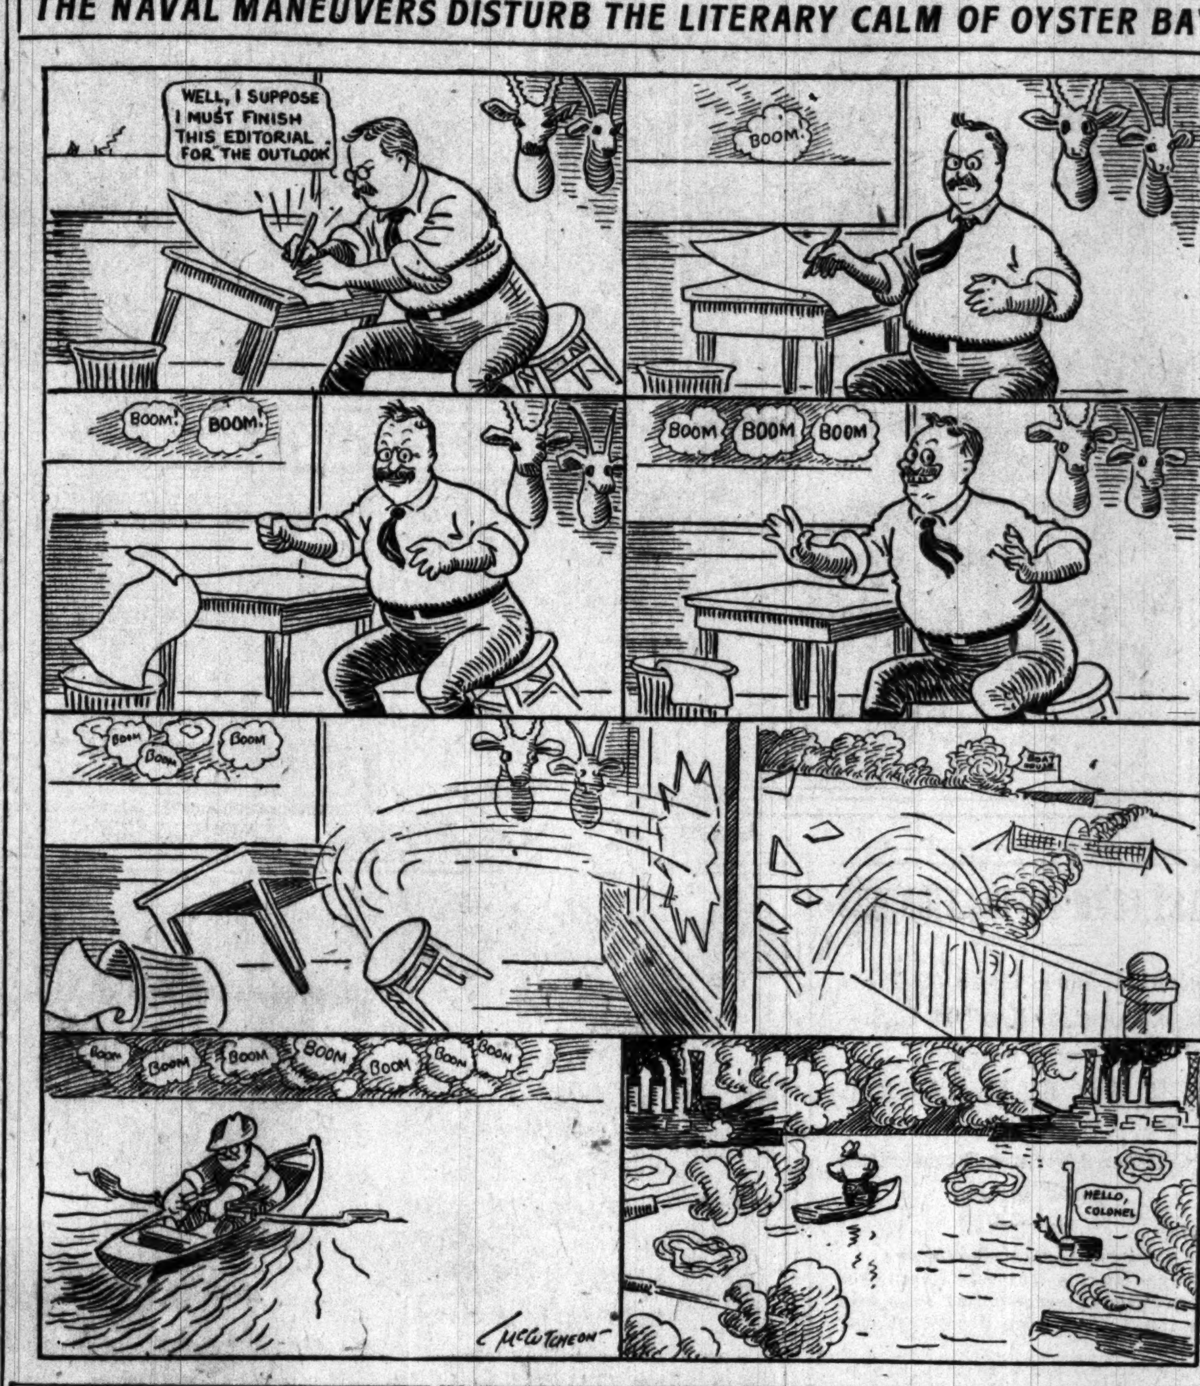
Gem Worth $15,000 Returned to Owner When Collector Loeb Hears of It—Explanation Follows.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Mrs. August Belmont (Eleanor Robson) had a little trouble with the customs officials today. It was caused by the undue zeal of a subordinate in the service.

When Mrs. Belmont arrived on the Olympic the inspectors deprived her of a $15,000 diamond studded bow knot pin, which was sent to the appraiser's stores for valuation. Later Collector Loeb heard of the matter and the pin was returned to its owner, Mr. Loeb explaining the mistake.

Mrs. Belmont did not object to having the gem sent to the appraiser. She believed the duty had been paid on it when she obtained it, but the official thinking otherwise, she readily consented to giving it up until he found out his error.

THE NAVAL MANEUVERS DISTURB THE LITERARY CALM OF OYSTER BAY



DE VRY A HUNTER? HE "BAGS" 27 DEER

Zoo Keeper Goes Hunting on J. J. Mitchell's Wisconsin Farm for Specimens.

FIGHTS A CRAZED BUCK.

Cy De Vry went deer hunting in Wisconsin yesterday to get new specimens for his Lincoln park zoo. By 9:30 o'clock a. m. he had twenty-seven of the white tailed variety.

Perhaps it will detract from the glory of the feat to announce that the deer were upon the farm of John J. Mitchell at his summer residence at Lake Geneva. All the herd but one was raised there. The deer were supposed to be half tamed. All the north side animal expert had to do was to put them in crates. It looked easy.

But long before the twenty-seven were in their snug wooden cages Cy and his three perspiring assistants, with their clothing torn nearly to ribbons by the hoofs of the frightened deer, were breathless and sick of their jobs.

Mr. Mitchell Tires of Animals.

Mr. Mitchell became tired of seeing the deer around and gave them to the Lincoln park board. He thought it would be a simple matter to transfer the animals to the north shore zoo. But never at any stage was Cy deceived as to the difficulty of the undertaking. Early yesterday morning as he was walking down the driveway toward the pen where the animals were kept, he remarked:

"It's going to be a tough job. I'd rather handle forty lions than these crazy deer."

The forty-four animals in the herd went in all directions but toward the corral. They eluded the drivers with sudden bursts of speed that made them resemble brown blurs to the eye. But with the aid of a net, two does and five fawns were driven into the small inclosure.

Battles with Crazed Buck.

De Vry and two strong helpers entered the corral. Then things livened up. The deer shied at the trap door, which led into a cage. Instead they milled around and around, working themselves into a frightened frenzy. With blind fear they leaped repeatedly at the tough wire mesh. Finally the animals were cornered and worked into the trap. Several of the fawns were caught by Fred Hawkins with his hands and carried bawling to the crates.

Then another bunch was run in. Among them was an antlered buck that came near sending the zoölogist to the hospital. The crazed animal struck at him with its sharp fore feet. His left trousers leg was slashed from hip to heel. The undergarment was also torn, but Cy got away without a scratch. His clothing was ripped later on and at the close of the exciting work it was fit only for the ash can. After it was over Cy was a most satisfied man. Seventeen more will be caught today.

OKLAHOMA PASSENGER TRAIN DROPS THROUGH HIGH BRIDGE.

Extent of Injuries Unknown—Structure Weakened by Swollen Creek—Wrecking Crew to the Rescue.

Muskogee, Okla., July 19.—Northbound passenger train No. 5, on the Midland Valley railroad, crashed through a bridge half a mile west of Avant, Okla., late today. The bridge is fifty feet high. The structure had been weakened by a swollen creek. A wrecking train has been sent to the scene. Reports are meager, and it is not known how many are injured.

PATENT "TEETHING NECKLACE" CALLED "FAKE" BY DR. YOUNG

Supposed Preventive of Infant Diseases Said to Be of No Scientific Value to Mothers.

"Teething necklaces" are the latest things calculated to save the lives of the babies. Health Commissioner Young, however, says they are "fakes."

Dr. Young has just discovered that large numbers of the so-called "necklaces" are sold in Chicago, especially in the foreign quarters. He declares the principal reason for their existence is to separate 50 cents from mothers.

The "necklaces" which are made of narrow bands of velvet are exploited as sure guards against sickness while babies are teething. The "necklaces" are supposed to contain small wires which give the wearer electrical treatment.

One of the health department's visiting nurses discovered the "necklaces" used among the foreigners and notified Dr. Young, who ordered an investigation.

Examination of one of the "necklaces" disclosed the fact that it was made of a cheap grade of cotton velvet wrapped around a strip of gauze, stiffened with flour, and peppered wtih sulphur.

Dr. Young declares the "necklaces" have no medical properties and says that wearing them will not protect babies against sickness while they are teething.

OHIO CONTRACTOR FOUND DEAD WITH BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

E. C. McConnell Believed to Have Committed Suicide After Unexplained Absence from Family.

After an absence of ten days from his home at Kenton, O., following an unexplained absence from his family, E. C. McConnell, a wealthy contractor was found dead in his room at the Lash hotel in Hammond, Ind., yesterday. A bullet wound in his head above the right temple indicated that he had committed suicide. No reason for the act could be learned by the police.

Shortly after the body was found a woman telephoned the hotel and asked for McConnell. She refused to give her name and rang off, but a second call was received shortly afterward apparently from the same woman. She inquired if the authorities had been informed as to the suicide, but refused to identify herself.

According to advices from Kenton, McConnell stood high in business circles there and his finances were in good shape. As far as could be learned his family life was happy and no reason can be given for his suicide. He was 50 years old.

GIRL STRUCK BY LIGHTNING AT BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

Daughter of Attorney James Turnock Severely Burned While with Friends at Benton Harbor.

Miss Millicent Turnock, daughter of Attorney James Turnock, who has an office at 35 North Dearborn street and resides in Evanston, was struck by lighting yesterday afternoon and probably fatally injured while attending a party given for her at a summer resort near Benton Harbor, Mich.

It was her sixteenth birthday, and her friends were in the midst of the celebration when a thunderstorm swept over them.

Miss Turnock was walking with a young man, and carried an umbrella. The lighting struck the umbrella and the girl dropped to the ground. Her clothes were torn and she was severely scorched from head to foot on one side. Her companion only received a light shock. Mr. and Mrs. Turnock left for Benton Harbor last night.

MISS BARRYMORE TO PUSH HER SUIT

Mission to New York Is to Direct Divorce Action Against Husband.

CAN'T CONDONE OFFENSE.

Ethel Barrymore passed a good part of the day in Chicago yesterday before departing for New York. She is going there to direct her divorce suit against her husband, Russell Griswold Colt, and not to suppress that suit, as has been currently reported.

It was said during the day with some authority that there has never been a possibility of a reconciliation since the knowledge upon which the divorce suit is based came to Miss Barrymore.

Cannot Condone Offense.

"There is only one basis upon which a divorce may be secured in the state of New York," said one who was informed, "and this basis is one which any one knowing Miss Barrymore would realize she could not condone.

"If the facts, as related in the bill prepared by Miss Barrymore's attorneys, become public, there may be some small surprise regarding the personality of the woman in the case, for the reason that she is not of any standing, social, theatrical, or otherwise."

Miss Barrymore was carefully guarded from intrusions of the curious during her stay in Chicago, as she has been ever since the public began to meddle with her domestic affairs. The reason for this has been ascribed to the fact that her contract with Mr. Frohman provides that she is not to permit an interview on any topic.

Suffered Physical Collapse.

However, the contract is not permitted to enter into the question at all. Miss Barrymore has suffered physical collapse, brought on by her domestic problem.

A nervous breakdown, suffered while in Sacramento, has become aggravated. Her friends naturally are desirous of guarding her from any intrusion calculated to upset her peace of mind. It is doubtful if she will return to the stage for some time to come.

She arrived in Chicago over the Overland limited at 9 o'clock in the morning, was whisked over to the Blackstone hotel, and remained in seclusion until the afternoon, when she departed for New York.

DROWNS NEAR BEACH HOTEL; CLOTHES FOUND IN LOCKER.

Victim's Relatives Identify Effects—Chicago Woman Dies in Michigan Lake—Four Rescued from Launch.

Morris M. Greenbaum, 3862 Evanston avenue, was drowned last evening at the bathing beach near the Chicago Beach hotel.

After all patrons had left at 10 o'clock attendants examined all lockers, and in one of the men's lockers found a man's clothing and other apparel. In a pocket of the coat was found a card bearing Greenbaum's name, and search was then made for the body, but no trace of it was found. His relatives identified the clothing.

Falling from a launch last night while riding on Gull lake, near Kalamazoo, Mich., Mrs. A. J. Jones of Chicago was drowned before the boat could be stopped. Her husband left yesterday for Chicago.

R. J. Kissane, 542 North State street, and three companions were rescued yesterday afternoon by Capt. Garland and the life saving crew after their launch had become disabled in the rough water of the lake off Oak street.

LABOR MEN, FREED, HOLD JOY FEST AT SCENE OF MURDER

Indictments Quashed on Plea of Wayman; O'Donnell, Garvin, and Kearney Are Let Go.

CHIEF WITNESS DISCREDITED

Pardee, on Whom State Depended, Admits Being Ex-Convict and Once in Asylum.

ENRIGHT NOW ALONE BEHIND BARS

Simon O'Donnell, James Garvin, and Thomas Kearney, the three labor leaders who had been indicted for complicity in the murder of Vincent Altman, were carried from the county jail yesterday afternoon on the shoulders of their followers, free men.

They immediately adjourned to the scene of the murder, the Briggs house bar, where they proceeded to hold high carnival in celebration of their victory.

Earlier in the afternoon the indictments against the men were nolle prossed upon the motion of State's Attorney Wayman, because Frank Pardee, chief witness for the prosecution, had lied.

Pardee, upon cross examination by Attorney James Brady for the defense, admitted he had served a term in the Missouri penitentiary and had been the inmate of an asylum. This was a direct contradiction of his declaration to Wayman, repeated many times, that he had never been in trouble.

Asks Dismissal of Indictments.

In dismissing the indictments, Wayman made the following statement:

"In view of the fact that the state and Inspector Hunt have been imposed upon by the witness Pardee, the only man through whom we hoped to connect O'Donnell, Garvin, and Kearney directly with the crime, the state now wishes to nolle pros the cases against these three men. In so far as the case against Enright is concerned, the state will stand.

Wayman's action came as the climax of a day of sensations. Almost up to the moment that the prosecutor made this motion it appeared that the state had made out a prima facie case sufficient to at least hold the defendants without bail.

Pardee at first testified to having heard O'Donnell, Garvin, and Kearney on two occasions plotting with Enright to kill Altman. The witness also described the manner in which he said Enright had obtained the "white pirate" automobile.

"I was in room 508 of the Briggs house prior to the day of the shooting," he said. "In the next room to me were O'Donnell, Kearney, Garvin, and Enright. I heard O'Donnell says: 'Moss, if you get Altman I will give you $500 and a new automobile.'"

Tells of Aid Given by Enright.

Pardee said he had been in the barroom of the Briggs house when Altman was shot. He asserted Enright told him to keep his mouth shut about what he had seen. Later Enright caused him, he said, to be admitted to the Steam Fitters' union and had given him a union card with three months' dues paid in advance. He was afterwards given employment as a guard and later as a steamfitter.

He said he had taken a letter of introduction to O'Donnell from Ald. John J. Coughlin and another from Ald. Michael Kenna. He testified that after Altman was murdered the four defendants were drinking together in room 5.. and one of them proposed a toast to "Moss and his new automobile."

Norman Goldstein, a bell boy, said he received money from a man representing himself as coming from the office of Attorney Charles Erbstein. The money was given to him, he said, to keep him from telling on the witness stand that he had seen Enright run out of the bar after Altman was murdered.

When the witness had given this testimony Erbstein demanded that the grand jury investigate the charge.

Goldstein said that Harry Lipke, another bell boy, told him to go to room 606 on the evening following the shooting.

Says He Was Given "Hush Money."

"I told him that I would not go until I had to," he said. "So a short time later I was sent to the room with some stationery. In the room were two stenographers and Thomas Kearney and James Garvin. As I was going through the hall to the room I saw Mr. Erbstein in the hall.

"When I left the stationery on the desk I walked out and was later called again for a bar order. When I went into the room to get their orders either Garvin or Kearney told me to go into O'Donnell's room and see if I could find Erbstein. Mr. Erbstein asked me if I knew anything about the shooting and I said 'yes.' He asked me if I knew who did the shooting and I said it was Enright. He said: 'Don't say anything more about it; come out into the hall.'"

After talking to the attorney the witness said he returned to the room, where he made a statement.

"It was sometime after the shooting that this man, who said he was from Erbstein's office, came to me and gave me some money," Goldstein testified further: "He told me that I should not say at the inquest that it was Enright that killed Altman."

Bellboy Describes Enright's Flight.

Arnold Warner, another bellboy, testified that he had seen Enright run from the bar with a revolver in his hand. He said he saw John J. Brittain grab him. Enright, he asserted, cried to Brittain: "O, let me go, John."

The boy said he was afterwards called to O'Donnell's room and when he entered the room without knocking, some one jumped into the closet.

George Barnett, an elevator operator, told of carrying Enright from the second floor to the fourth floor of the Briggs house after Altman had been shot.

Erbstein when confronted with a photograph of himself at the time that he was sent to the Missouri penitentiary by Attorney Brady that Pardee admitted that he had once committed forgery. He also admitted that he had been in an insane asylum.

Erbstein drew from the witness that his expenses had been paid by the police department and that he had received $25 a week from Detective Sergt. Burns while he was held by the police.

On examination by State's Attorney Wayman, he admitted he had lied to the prosecutor before going before the grand jury, having stated that he had never been in trouble.

Wayman Explains Situation.

In explanation of his action, Mr. Wayman last night issued the following statement:

"The indictment against O'Donnell, Kearney, and Garvin was returned after evidence was presented to this office by Inspector Hunt.

"The evidence against these three defendants rested on circumstantial evidence, together with the direct evidence of Pardee. The circumstantial evidence was not sufficient to prove guilt. The testimony of Pardee, unless corroborated by this circumstantial evidence, would not have been sufficient upon which to predicate an indictment. But the circumstantial evidence taken together with Pardee's testimony was sufficient to sustain a conviction.

"Pardee in the first interview with Inspector Hunt, told him that he never had been in any kind of trouble. In every interview I had with him he was repeatedly asked as to his past career. He accounted for his time from the day he was born up until today. Mr. Northup and I inquired of him as late as last night whether he thought of anything in his entire career which, if divulged, might affect his credibility. He replied in the negative.

"When confronted with his record on the witness stand before Judge Honoré, he denied he had been in the Missouri penitentiary, and finally admitted it. He denied he served a term in the prison for the criminal insane, and then admitted it. He denied he served a term in Pontiac, and then admitted it. This being the situation, he was destroyed as a witness."

50,000 BACK NEW LABOR BODY IN FIGHT TO DOWN O'DONNELL.

Reorganize Associated Building Trades with Shaughnessy as President—"L" Agent Crisis Today.

Fifty thousand union workmen in the building trades have joined the reorganized associated building trades in the expectation of ending the rule of the Building Trades council with its two leaders, Maurice Enright and Simon O'Donnell. Peter Shaughnessy, president of the Bricklayers' and Stonemasons' union, has been elected president of the new central body.

The unions which have joined the Associated Building trades, with their membership, is as follows:

Unions—	Membership.
Boilermakers	250
Boilermakers' helpers	250
Bricklayers and stone masons	8,000
Carpenters	17,500
Hoisting engineers	250
Glass workers	400

Something is going to happen today among the women ticket agents of the Chicago Elevated railroads, but no one seemed to know yesterday just what it would be.

The last legislature enacted a law, which became effective July 1, forbidding the employment of women longer than ten hours a day. Before that the women ticket sellers had been working twelve hours. Officials of the roads asserted that under the ten hour law the pay of the women would be reduced two-twelfths.

The agents at the same time insisted they would not submit to a reduction. They decided to work until the first pay day under the new law "just to see if their wages really would be reduced."

Today will be the first pay day on the loop, where fifty women are employed. While the Northwestern, the Oak Park, and the Metropolitan lines do not pay until next Tuesday today will determine the situation, as the managers of all the roads are in accord.

OBITUARY.

THE REV. SAMUEL COX HAY, for more than thirty years pastor of First Presbyterian church at Woodstock, Ill., died there on July 18 after a long decline. He was born at Geneva, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1836, acquired his classical education at Owego academy and Hamilton college, New York, and was graduated from McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago, in 1865. STUMP MAY BE EXACT SPOT.

Place Honored by Census Bureau "Just Home" to Him.

Bloomington, Ind., July 19.—[Special.]—In the southwestern part of Indiana, about sixty miles from Indianapolis, is situated a farm of 136 acres.

Heretofore the farm was considered of no more importance than others in the neighborhood, like them being located in a valley surrounded by wooded hills. Just now, however, this farm is not only a center of interest to Indianians but is in the national public eye as well.

According to the reckonings of census bureau officials and college professors this farm is the approximate center of the population of the United States. Following the announcement by Dr. Charles S. Sloane of the census bureau that the former center had moved thirty-one miles west since the last census was taken Prof. W. E. Cogshall, head of the department of astronomy at Indiana university, made an investigation yesterday and by the use of a sextant found the farm to be the country's population axis.

Owner Born There 69 Years Ago.

The farm is owned by Samuel H. Stevens, who was born there sixty-nine years ago and who has lived there ever since. It is in Monroe county, about four miles south of Unionville and eight miles east of Bloomington.

Except on the southern end the farm is entirely shut in by abrupt hills of sandstone and rock. They are heavily timbered and little underbrush has been removed from them. The southern portion opens into a wide valley which is also surrounded by hills and presents the appearance of a small bay opening into a lake when viewed at sundown from the "population center."

It is with some difficulty that the roadway leading directly to the farm may be found by a stranger. Where it forms a junction at the "main pike" it is partly obscured by tall grass and bushes. On the right hand side the eastern hill, forming a part of the valley in which the farm lies, rises abruptly from the roadside. Somewhere within half a mile area on this hill is the exact spot marking the population center of the country, according to the reckoning of the mathematicians. A stump in the center of this area is the "logical deduction" as to the precise spot.

Tucked In Among Thickets.

Little of the surrounding country can be seen from the half mile area. It is tucked in among the trees and thickets. To the south, however, a bird's-eye view of the corn fields and pastures may be obtained.

Through the forest growth to the west the farmhouse and its small adjacent buildings can be seen. They are nestled in at the foot of the hill slope. The farmhouse is painted green and white and is a comfortable structure. None of the outbuildings is painted, but their weather stained boards are in harmony with the green corn fields just back of them. This field has been "planted in corn" ever since the timber was cut from it by Mr. Stevens' father more than sixty years ago.

The "central man of the United States" is sturdy despite his age. His skin has been bronzed by exposure until it has the hue of tanned leather. A few wrinkles and white hair and beard are the only indications of his age.

When a representative of THE TRIBUNE reached the farm today the old farmer and his son Raymond were engaged in bringing in hay from a small field.

Pleased at Being "Central Man."

"Well, what do you think of being the central man of the United States?" he was asked.

He smiled with pleasure and ran his hands through his white hair.

"It does seem kind of funny," he said. "Here I've been a-livin' on the old place all my life and now it turns out that it's the hub of the whole country. It sorter makes me feel that I'm an axle and that the spokes are a-runnin' round me. It certainly is surprisin', sure enough.

"Why, I can remember when I used to go out and shoot deer and wild turkeys instead of havin' to go to town when I wanted meat. At night you could hear the timber wolves howlin' in the hills and it was an everyday happening to kill a rattlesnake. No, sir, I never dreamed that I'd some day be the central figure of the country, as they say about me. I never thought that such an honor would belong to the old farm, either.

Things Changed Since the Old Days.

"In the old days the farmhouse here was made of poplar logs. That cornfield out there was about the only place where the trees had been cut and you almost had to cut your way through the brush to get to the creek over west there, but now things have changed."

The old man gazed wistfully at the farmhouse and the four buildings nearby for some time without speaking.

"Center of population—well! It's just plain home to me. I never had no desire to live in a big city. I've always been contented and happy here—I wouldn't like it nowhere else. Still, it's something to be a center of population, ain't it?"

In addition to the old man and his wife, who is seventeen years younger than he, his son Raymond, 21 years old, and the latter's wife live at the farmhouse. A few miles distant is the farm of a daughter, Mrs. Martha Pauley. There are two other daughters, Mrs. Laura Peterson of Bloomington and Mrs. Mary E. Lampkins of Sidell, Ill. There are fourteen grandchildren, six boys and eight girls. The old man is the only survivor of four children.

GRAFT BANKRUPTS A CITY

Lawrence, Mass., Offers to Barter Self-Government for Loan.

APPEALS TO THE GOVERNOR.

Story of Municipality's Shame Told by Business Men's Committee.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—[Special.]—A committee of citizens from Lawrence, one of the largest cities in the commonwealth of Massachusetts, a chosen delegation of responsible business men, waited upon Gov. Foss today and for the loan of $500,000 offered to barter away the right of the citizens to govern themselves for a period of ten years.

A story of a city's shame was told and its darkened history exposed. M. T. White, former mayor of Lawrence, now occupies a cell in jail. Up to a few months ago he was one of the most respected citizens of the city and widely known throughout the state. He was accused and convicted of complicity in graft cases. Then he resigned the office of mayor.

Graft cries were raised every day and it was found upon investigation that the city was bankrupt. Hundreds of city employés, mostly in the public works department, have been discharged, as there was no money to pay them.

Aid of Corporations Asked.

The present mayor, who was elected when Mayor White resigned, was forced to ask the large corporations to advance their tax assessments for the year. The American Woolen company, one of the largest manufacturing concerns in America, sent a check for a little less than $50,000.

This was needed to meet current expenses and thus it comes about that the city has been forced to go to the legislature for a loan of $500,000 for ten years. During that time the city is to be ruled by a commission appointed by the governor and over whom the citizens of the city will have no control.

The situation has attracted the attention of noted publicists, and the right of the state to deprive 100,000 citizens of their rights is widely discussed. Lawrence is the best known of the eastern manufacturing cities and its population is growing rapidly.

Climax of Municipal Graft.

The climax of the city's disastrous financial condition came last Monday, when Mayor Cahill refused to pay any bills against the city except the regular pay roll and ordered extreme cuts in the staff of all departments.

There was not money enough to pay the regular city employés, and the last $20,000 the city had was paid on the regular June draft for current expenses, which fell due July 12. More than $58,000 of this draft remains unpaid.

As soon as the hopelessness of the situation became known, the call was sent out for the meeting of representatives of the leading interests in Lawrence. The remarkable proposition to the governor followed.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATS SPLIT INTO TWO FACTIONS.

Indorsement of Wilson for President Only Issue on Which Two "State Committees" Can Unite.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 19.—The expected split in the Democratic state central committee came today when the two factions held separate state committee meetings and reorganized.

The factions agreed to one proposition, however. This was the indorsement of Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey for the Democratic presidential nomination. Each meeting adopted such a resolution. The only other presidential boom was that of Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio.

The "reorganization" Democrats had present fifty-six of the eighty-one members which they declare constituted the committee. They elected George W. Guthrie, former mayor of Pittsburg, state chairman and indorsed Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer for national committeeman to succeed James M. Guffey. The regulars indorsed Col. Guffey.

WILL PLAN FIGHT OF PROGRESSIVES

Downstate Committee of Seven Expects Conference Here Last of the Week.

MERRIAM MEN MAY JOIN.

Cook County Leagues Said to Incline Toward Reconciliation with Legislators.

Progressive Republicans in Springfield yesterday placed in motion the machinery for a statewide primary campaign. This was done through tentative plans for the enunciation of a platform which will meet the approval of every progressive in the party and for an appeal to every Progressive Republican organization in the state to federate.

A committee of seven legislators appointed by the Republican assemblymen who met at the state capital on Tuesday to confer on a progressive campaign has the new campaign in charge. Word is to be sent to every corner of the state urging Republicans of the progressive type to get together on common ground to defeat the "jackpotters" and the special interests who have corrupted the legislature for years.

Within a few days, possibly by the last of this week, the committee of seven will meet in Chicago for the purpose of issuing the progressive principles upon which the campaign is to be made, and for counsel with any progressives from any part of Illinois who care to be associated in the campaign.

To Fight Legislative Corruption.

"We want every decent Republican in the state who believes in progressive policies to be with us," was the expression of the committee, composed of Senators Hugh S. Magill, Charles F. Harburgh, and Samuel A. Ettelson, and Representative George H. Hamilton, Homer J. Tice, Walter M. Provine, and Norman G. Flagg.

"Our declaration of principles will be general in character, for while there are dozens of specific things which progressives as a rule stand for, the coming campaign will have for its chief issue something paramount to any one principle or movement toward the legislative ideal," said Senator Magill. "The big issue is going to be legislative corruption—the fight between the 'jackpotters' and the decent citizen; it will be a contest which will have for its chief object on the part of the progressives the downfall of Lorimerism and all that it stands for in Illinois."

Gov. Deneen, while not discussing the proposed campaign, is deeply interested with his friends in the progressive movement and his followers declare that he is the logical man to lead the fight for civic decency which he has waged ever since the organization of bipartisan gangs in the legislature for the purpose of chloroforming progressive laws.

Roy O. West, state chairman of the Republican committee, made a statement in which he declared the new progressive movement, with the governor as chief standard bearer, must be pushed with all vigor if the corruptionists are to be put out of business.

Governor as Senate Timber.

Republicans from all parts of the state are urging Mr. Deneen to announce himself either as a candidate for governor or for the United States senate, the two big offices which will be at stake at the April primary next April."

The executive committee of the Merriam progressives last evening announced that today they would probably make a statement as to the attitude of the Republican league of Cook county toward the statewide progressive fight.

The promise was made after an all day conference of the executive committee and the entire managing committee of the league. While it is certain that the Merriam representatives did not get what they wanted at Springfield, those in touch thought last evening there was likelihood that an understanding could be reached and the Merriam people would work hand in hand with Gov. Deneen and other progressives.

According to legislator members of the Springfield conference, attended by Charles E. Merriam, Fletcher Dobyns, J. W. Breen, and Harold F. Ickes of the Merriam crowd, no agreement on principles could be reached nor would the legislators listen to boosting candidates for any state office at this time.

ALCOHOL THESIS WINS DOCTOR JOB

Definition of Four Kinds of "Drunks" Makes New Hospital Warden.

LOW IN SOME BRANCHES.

Use of Baffling Word "Ternulative" Presses Balance for Dr. W. J. Anderson.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

[Late Deputy Commissioner of Public Works.]

Dr. William J. Anderson won his $2,400 job as assistant night warden of the County hospital by defining four different kinds of "drunks." His composition on inebriety was responsible for the appointment. If he had failed to write that essay he would still be in private practice.

There were four others who outclassed Dr. Anderson in the examinations on medicine and surgery—the subjects which are acknowledged as of importance and value to an assistant warden. In materia medica and experience he ranked second; in letter writing three others outclassed him, and in executive ability he is in a tie for second place.

On the face of the civil service records the test appears to have been a fluke so far as getting the best qualified man for the place is concerned. Dr. Roger T. Vaughan passed a better examination than did Dr. Anderson but the former said on his paper he had "no time for letter writing." He did not write any. Therefore he lost the job. Dr. Anderson had time to and did.

Describes Stages of Alcoholism.

The civil service examination was given May 11. One of the subjects was called "letter writing," and the subject of the letter was "inebriety." This is what Dr. Anderson said on the subject:

Inebriety—A term used to classify alcoholics. They may be further divided according to the time in which they have indulged in alcohol, also as regards their state of mind from the influence of alcohol. Thus the word ternulative is used to designate the man who is on the ordinary debauch.

An individual who is of a highly neurotic strain who shall become in a condition we may say of mania his condition is known as mania-a-potu. When after indulging in spirits for some time, neglecting eating and having no desire to sleep, with ever increasing restlessness and developing a tremor first in the finer muscles of the fingers, then the tongue, or vice versa, the restlessness continuing to increase and the approach of mental symptoms, such as hallucinations and illusions, especially pertaining to reptiles, etc., such a condition is known as delirium tremens.

Further we have the individual who desires to indulge periodically in the use of alcohol. These intervals have or have not any fixed time. Such an individual who periodically gets on what is commonly known as a "drunk" is known as a dipsomaniac.

Much can be said as regards the treatment of inebriety, but everything to get a result depends upon the will power of the individual.

"Ternulative" Was a Poser.

The papers were marked by Drs. Charles L. Mix, Carl Beck, and Charles Davison. Dr. Mix is out of town and Dr. Davison was busy at a hospital yesterday afternoon. Dr. Beck was found ill in bed at his home, but consented to talk about the examination.

"What is a ternulative?" he was asked.

"I don't know. None of us knew what that word meant," he replied. "None of us had ever remembered seeing it before."

"Did you prepare the questions?"

"Mix, Halsted and myself were asked to suggest ten questions on medicine and surgery which would bring out an assistant warden's knowledge of how to handle emergency cases, such as a night warden is called upon to care for. We did."

"Who suggested the question on materia medica?"

Says Questions Were Juggled.

"We did not know anything about that. One of four questions was slipped out and one of materia medica slipped in. I don't know who did it. Drs. Mix, Davison, and myself marked the papers and then saw the question for the first time. There were eight or nine questions on surgery and medicine and one on materia medica. According to the rules which were given us we had to give as much weight to the one question on materia medica as to the eight or nine on surgery. Neither did we have anything to do with framing the other questions used. We did not know any of the applicants, but it seemed a pity that the fellow who did not write a letter should fail. He was the best qualified in our opinion."

President Ballard Dunn of the merit board said that the examiners prepared all of the questions.

Mystery Surrounds "Materia Medica."

"It was a technical examination and the examiners stand high in their profession," he said. "They surely gave an examination which would bring out the ability of the men examined.

Both Dr. Beck and President Dunn appear to know nothing of the source of the question on materia medica.

The markings on the answers of Drs. Anderson and Vaughan are as follows:

GIVES MRS. ELVIRA J. WHITMAN DIVORCE DECREE AND ALIMONY

Court Orders Attorney to Pay $15 a Week and $7,500 at End of Four Years.

Attorney Charles R. Whitman was ordered to pay his wife, Mrs. Elvira J. Whitman, alimony of $15 a week and $7,500 at the end of four years, in a decree of divorce handed down by Judge Ball in the Superior court yesterday. Mrs. Whitman originally filed suit for separate maintenance against her husband and made a number of charges, but her attorneys filed an amended bill July 13 in which a divorce and alimony were asked. The only charge contained in the new bill was desertion.

Mrs. Whitman, in her first bill, filed by her son, Attorney Lloyd C. Whitman, made statutory charges against her husband. They were married June 19, 1871, at Ypsilanti, Mich., and separated Sept. 7, 1905.

She also alleged that she was "reduced to rags while her husband clothed himself in fine clothes and maintained a separate existence."

U.S. IN NEED OF A THACKERAY?

Prof. Herrick Says Great Writer Would Help the Country.

THINKS SATIRE IS NEEDED.

Declares Novelist Could Find Wealth of Material to Touch with Scorn.

Wanted—Novelist. Must be a satirist and an American. One with knowledge of senators, state legislators, lobbyists, campaign managers, and malefactors of great wealth preferred. Stock of club gossip a consideration. Acquaintance with families who have purchased European titles for their daughters a desideratum. Wide experience in Illinois politics will count. Address the people of the United States.

"Need Satirical Novelist."

This advertisement embodies the "want" of the United States as it was outlined at the University of Chicago yesterday by Robert Herrick in the list of his series of two lectures on Thackeray.

Mr. Herrick, who is not only a professor of English at the university but a novelist and a satirist as well, explained in some detail just what work the United States offers such another as Thackeray.

"We need a really great satirical novelist to picture for us and touch with his scorn the senate, Lorimerism, Dowieism, the divorce court, the heiresses who contract for titles, and many another phase of our national life," he said.

Wealth of Material.

"Thackeray exposed the aristocracy of England, its shams and its hypocrisies. Today in the United States there is immeasurably more and greater material for such a pen than he found in the England of a hundred years ago.

"He devoted little attention to government. He knew nothing of trades unions. A large picture of the life of our day could not ignore these things."

FORT SHERIDAN TROOPS START TO CHICAGO ARMY TOURNAMENT

Lake Front Turned Into Camp Pending Arrival of Marines, Infantry, and Cavalry from Various Points.

The Fifteenth cavalry of Fort Sheridan, which will participate in the national military tournament in Grant park, beginning on Monday, will start on the march from the north shore post to Chicago this morning. The troopers, fully armed and equipped, will take two days to reach the encampment.

The cavalry will reach Evanston this afternoon and go into camp for the night on the athletic field of Northwestern university at Central street. It is expected that the soldiers will arrive in Grant park about noon tomorrow.

A detachment from the post, under command of a sergeant, yesterday came to Grant park to stake out the camp for the cavalry and the Twenty-seventh infantry, also from Fort Sheridan.

Col. Lewis D. Greene, adjutant, I. N. G., superintended the staking out of the entire camp for the national guard, United States marines, naval reserve, and the regular army. By tonight everything will be ready for the troops to move in and begin their rehearsals for the tournament.

"COPPER" KISSES WAITRESS; DECLINES TO "FACE MUSIC."

Albert Wallace of Mounted Squad Seen No More by Comrades After Charges Are Made.

Miss Charlotte Hausner, cashier in a Washington street restaurant, has charged Albert S. Wallace of the mounted police with hugging and kissing her three times.

The basement of the restaurant was the scene of the amorous demonstrations. Now the policeman may be discharged if he does not face the charges.

"The policeman," said Harmon N. Campbell, president of the civil service commission, "has not appeared before the trial board, but will be given one more week."

When the case was called yesterday Capt. Healey told the trial board the man had not shown up for duty since June 10, the day mentioned by Miss Hausner.

Arrested as Handbook Man.

Chester Flannigan, a clerk, was arrested on charges of conducting a handbook in a room in the rear of a saloon at 319 South La Salle street yesterday.

GETS MORE SECRET THREATS

H. N. Higinbotham Met by Messages Upon Arrival from Europe

ECHO OF WIDOWS' FUND.

Chairman of Relief Committee Will Visit Daughter in New England.

Harlow N. Higinbotham, who returned to New York yesterday, was driven to Europe because of threatening letters, according to dispatches from New York last night.

Chicago friends admitted that he had received threatening letters, but laughed at the idea that he had been driven from the contry through fear.

More threatening letters met Mr. Higinbotham in New York yesterday when he left the steamer Olympic.

Firemen's Widow Fund Cause.

The recipient said that he had received several anonymous threats because some of the beneficiaries of the fund raised for the widows and families of the firemen killed in the stockyards fire last December were not satisfied with their incomes.

Mr. Higinbotham is chairman of the committee which raised the fund for the widows and children of the fire victims.

"I really believe," he said in New York yesterday, "that they will try to kill me when I return to Chicago."

First Threats Come July 5.

He said that threats came to him first July 5, when he went to New York to see his daughters leave for Europe. As a result, New York dispatches say, he suddenly decided to sail on the same steamer. Even his daughter did not know he was aboard until the steamer was beyond Sandy Hook.

Mr. Higinbotham reached the other side just in time to return on the Olympic. More threatening letters were in the mail handed to him as the vessel steamed up the bay. Mr. Higinbotham will not return to Chicago immediately, but will visit a daughter at Ipswich, Mass.

J. Harry Selz, a member of the committee which raised the fund, declared last night that Mr. Higinbotham had received the threatening letters while he was still in Chicago. He scoffed at the idea that anonymous letters had driven Mr. Higinbotham to Europe and back again.

EAT 350,000,000 PICKLES YEAR; CHICAGOANS LEAD THE WORLD.

German Dill Now in Favor Among Consumers of Succulent Sour Product—Benzoate of Soda Spoils Other Trade.

By munching between 250,000,000 and 350,000,000 pickles annually, Chicago has attained two new distinctions:

It is the biggest pickle eating city in the world.

It is the biggest pickle market in the world.

These important statistics were made public yesterday at a convention of the National Pickle Packers' association in the Palmer house. It is said that between 500,000 and 700,000 bushels—containing an average of 500 pickles of different varieties—lose their entity here each year.

For the United States 3,000,000 bushels were given as a year total consumption.

"What gives Chicago its precedence is its location in the center of the cucumber region," a pickle packer said during the day.

"The sweet pickle continues to be the most popular, the sour second, and the dill third. The sweet and sour are losing out each year, however, the pure food law prohibiting the use of benzoate of soda and discouraging the packers. But the dill—a German product—is jumping into favor."

LOST HOLME DRAWINGS FOUND

Pictures by Artist Discovered at Chicago Athletic Club.

LOSS RESULTED IN LAWSUIT.

Sketches of Celebrities Left on Table Put Away and Forgotten.

The missing autographed drawings of the late Frank Holme, which comprised studies in pen and ink of such celebrities as Bernhardt, Irving, Chevalier, Lillian Russell, and others, have been found. They were hidden in a drawer of one of the members of the Chicago Athletic club.

The suit for $1,000 which Mrs. Holme brought against Witt K. Cochrane of the athletic association—the man to whom she says she intrusted the missing pictures—has been dismissed and the whole incident is ended.

Mrs. Holme expresses herself as happy in the possession of the pictures which she at one time felt compelled to sell through a pressing need for money, and declares that she would rather have the pictures than any amount that she could gain in "any old lawsuit."

The drawings had reposed in a drawer in the desk of the billiard room of the club, where they had been placed by Alexander Donovan, the superintendent, when he found them laying on a table. After a cursory glance they were put away with the thought that their owner probably would call for them, and he had not thought of them again until the publication of the suit brought by Mrs. Holme.

A close examination of the drawings was made and the name of Frank Holme found upon them. They had never been outside the club or taken from the drawer of the desk in which Mr. Donovan had placed them.

Dunn Heads Loyal Americans.

E. J. Dunn of Springfield, Ill., was reelected supreme president of the Loyal Americans of the Republic at the second day's session of the fifteenth annual convention in the Hotel Sherman yesterday afternoon.

The Slim Summer Girl Is Winning

The day of the slim woman's triumph has arrived. "The thinner one is the more stylish," say the dressmakers, "and the more comfortable," say those whose fat makes summer intolerable.

This would have been sad news for the fat woman a year ago. She would have had to try dieting or exercise. Nowadays, however, the woman who is too fat for the styles goes to a druggist and gets a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets, one of which she takes after each meal and at bedtime and so reduces her superfluous flesh quickly.

These tablets, being made in accordance with the famous prescription, are perfectly harmless, even on the hottest days, and they are, also, the most economical preparation a person can buy, for they cost only 75 cents a large case, one of which is frequently enough to start a person to losing fat at the rate of 12 or 14 ounces a day. Pretty nearly every druggist keeps this tablet in stock, but should yours be sold out, you can easily obtain a case by sending to the makers, the Marmola Company, 1409 Farmer building, Detroit, Mich.

DOCTOR'S HOLDUP PLOT REVEALED

Aid in Robbery of Girl Patient Says He Hired Two "Gunmen" for Sisinger.

NEEDED 'TUITION MONEY.'

Five More Arrests Made at "Thieves' Nest" as Result of the Confession.

The inside history of the plot which cost Miss Hazel Hogan $1,756 was revealed yesterday. Confessions made by Dr. Irvine Sisinger and Curtis R. Young a few hours after the robbery in the doctor's office were given out by police of the Canalport avenue station, where the plotters are being held.

With the details of the robbery plan that marked the climax of the friendship between the doctor and the young woman, the motives that inspired Sisinger and Young came to light.

The optician, anxious to become a full fledged physician and embarrassed by lack of practice and funds, betrayed the trust of the girl who befriended him that he might continue in the night classes at a downtown medical college.

The other two men involved in the holdup, now being sought by the police, were professional "gun men." The motive that actuated them was the cash lure held out by Sisinger.

Five Arrested in "Thieves' Nest."

Detectives arrested five persons said to be implicated in the robbery. All were caught in a house known to the police as "Thieves' Nest," 411 Baldwin street, shortly after returning from an automobile ride in celebration of the marriage of one of the party.

Those arrested are:

JERRY MACK, 411 Baldwin street.

JAMES HOGAN, paroled convict, 411 Baldwin street.

JOSEPH GRABUS, 1722 South Ashland avenue.

MRS. BELLE HOGAN, bride of James Hogan.

VIOLA DELMORE, colored, 417 Baldwin street.

Mack and Hogan are the two implicated in the confession of Young. Ten and twenty dollar bills were found on both Mack and Hogan, and a $100 bill was found on Mrs. Hogan.

The marriage, which took place on Tuesday, is believed to have been in celebration of the success of the theft.

Tells of Doctor's Plot.

It was Young who made the first complete confession. The optician assented in writing to the contents of Young's signed statement. Young told how Sisinger called at the office where he was employed as an envelope addresser July 8 and asked him to drop in at the doctor's office the following morning. He kept his engagement. This is what he tells of their interview:

"The doctor explained to me about a woman who had sold her property and from whom he had borrowed some money. He said she was about to get the balance of her money and said it would be easy to take it from her. He asked me to do the job myself. When I refused he said to get somebody to help hold her up. He called at my place of employment the day she got the money and told me to get ready any day I could get some one to help.

"I then made the acquaintance of two men and they said they were ready and I could find them any time upon appointment."

Describes Binding Doctor.

The statement, which was made in reality early Tuesday morning, refers to events as if they had taken place the same day. It goes on:

"Today, July 17, when returning from lunch Dr. Sisinger met me at the curb in front of the building where I am employed. He said: 'She will be up tonight. You can come any time after I turn the light down.'

"This evening I met the two men by appointment. We walked to Halsted street and Canalport avenue. The lights being out, we proceeded to the office on the second floor. I rattled the knob. Dr. Sisinger opened the door and admitted myself and one of the men. The other one followed.

"He took us in the operating room and one of them sat in the chair. Both men took towels from a drawer. One was put around the doctor's hands behind the chair. Another towel was placed over his mouth, when the doctor motioned to have one put over his eyes.

"The two men then entered the adjoining room and closed the door. I heard one say, 'We've got your friend.' Both men came out immediately. One left by the rear door, the other by the front way. I followed him."

Split Up the Money.

The rest of the statement was taken up in describing the division of the money at the rendesvous of the holdup men. One of the "gun men" had slashed Miss Hogan's stocking with a knife and taken her pocketbook. When the time came to split he counted out seven $100 bills—the doctor's share—and gave them to Young. He gave Young $315 for himself and promised to give him a third share of an odd $100 bill when he got proper change.

The police learned of Dr Sisinger's motive for planning the robbery through Mrs. A. C. King, wife of the dentist whose offices at 2011 South Halsted street the optician shared.

"Dr. Sisinger comes from somewhere in Michigan," she said. "It is his ambition to get a degree as a doctor of medicine."

SUES PARTNER OF A. B. PEASE

Mrs. Sallie A. Cole Asks $20,000 from His Former Associate.

ECHO OF REAL ESTATE DEAL?

Louis J. Pierson, Surviving Member of Law Firm, Mantains Silence.

An aftermath of the death of Arthur B. Pease by his own hand last April came to light yesterday when Mrs. Sallie A. Cole filed suit against Louis J. Pierson as surviving member of Mr. Pease's law firm. A. Mrs. Sallie A. Cole, 2731 Archer avenue, said she was not the plaintiff.

The suit is for $20,000. The deal to be bared was one in real estate and the other party to it was Attorney Pease—that is all that was made known. The papers filed were barren of information and Henry W. Leman, the attorney of record, refused to discuss the case.

Mr. Pierson would not talk of the case except to say that his late partner and not himself had dealt with Mrs. Cole.

Sued for Another's Act.

"Mrs. Cole has sued me for an act of Mr. Pease for which I am not liable," he said. "She asserts that she purchased some paper from my former partner which was not good. I cannot be held for my partner's wrongdoing. It was a real estate deal."

Attorney Leman was asked if the action was one for which Attorney Pease, had the lived, would have been criminally liable.

"I cannot answer that question," he replied, quickly.

"Was the trouble between Mrs. Cole and Mr. Pease one of such import that it might have supplied a motive for suicide?" he was asked.

"That's another question I can't answer."

Death Still Remains Mystery.

The mystery surrounding Mr. Pease's death by cyanide of potassium poison never has been completely cleared. Entanglements romantic and legal that might have led to suicide came to light. The lawyer had been contesting through Probate, Circuit, and Appellate courts his right to hold property bequeathed to him by a woman he had wooed and lost.

Esdras B. Trubey, a real estate dealer, who was Pease's successful rival in the courtship of Mrs. Luella B. Marchand, wealthy widow, was the plaintiff in the case. Mr. Trubey said that shortly before the death of Mr. Pease the attorney had said:

"If you think that Mrs. Trubey was not in her right mind when she signed that will or did not know she signed it, I'm going to see that justice is done you."

SISTER MARY LORETTA THIRD VICTIM IN ORDER AT GARY.

Young Woman Who Was Annie Fisher, Fort Madison, Ia., Dies of Typhoid at Hospital.

Sister Mary Loretta of the Franciscan order, which conducts the Mercy hospital at Gary, Ind., died yesterday, a victim of typhoid fever.

She was the third of her order to give up her life while working for the sick of the Steel City. Annie Fisher was Sister Loretta's name in the world. She was a native of Fort Madison, Ia. She was 21 years old and came to Gary from Burlington, Ia., last December.

In 1907, when Gary was a cluster of shacks and tents, five sisters came from Burlington and set up a hospital in a tenement house that the typhoid victims of the city might have care.

Sister Mary Elizabeth, the first mother superior of the hospital, died of typhoid shortly after her arrival in Gary. Sister Mary Helen was her successor and she also fell a victim to typhoid.

CLUBWOMEN JOIN CRUSADE TO MAKE CHICAGO CLEANER.

Will Co-operate with City Departments in Instructing Foreign Speaking Householders in Disposal of Garbage.

In coöperation with the health department and street department, club women and nurses will begin today a campaign for a cleaner city.

Disposal of waste is the point attacked by the club women and nurses, who will distribute cards bearing directions on garbage disposal and place them in every home in the poor districts of the city.

Frank W. Solon, superintendent of streets, had the cards printed in six languages for the women, who will begin early today circulating them.

The idea came from the Woman's City club and the Chicago Woman's club. Afterwards city officials were interested in the method of educating the foreign speaking public, and agreed that the nurses in the health department connected with the child's welfare work should assist.

FLEE FROM BURNING TENEMENT

Twelve Families Escape from Smoke Filled Building at Midnight—No One Hurt.

Twelve families living in an apartment building at South Michigan avenue and East Sixty-first street fled to the street last night when fire, starting in a store on the ground floor, filled the structure with smoke. No one was hurt. The fire was discovered shortly before midnight in the delicatessen store of Mrs. Loretta Lemen, and before extinguished caused a loss of $500. It is believed that rats gnawing on matches caused the blaze.

1 CENT PHONE CRY PROVOKES TWIGG

Mayor Silent but in Receptive Mood, While Bauler Remains Confident.

READY FOR GAS FIGHT.

Corporation Counsel Organizes Forces for Court Test of New Rate.

Members of the city council are not enthusiastic over Ald. Herman J. Bauler's plans for "penny telephones." Some aldermen think the proposition should be considered, but others are inclined to ridicule the scheme.

Even Ald. Charles Twigg, chairman of the gas, oil, and electric light committee, which has the revision of telephone rates in charge, denounced the plan.

"I don't see how Ald. Bauler thinks he can have penny telephone service," said Ald. Twigg. "I think it's a crazy idea. I don't see how a man with sense could treat such a scheme seriously. I don't think the plan will ever be submitted to the committee."

Ald. Bauler spent the day discussing his scheme with members of the council. He asserted at night that he had received much encouragement. He said the work of transforming the Seventy Cent Gas league into the "penny telephone league" would be begun soon.

Thinks Company Can Make Profit.

He is still confident Chicago can have "penny telephones," but says that the proposition will have to be figured out.

"I want to be fair to the telephone company, but at the same time I want the telephone users to get a cheap rate," said Ald. Bauler. "I think the company could still make a fair profit at the reduced rate. I believe that the adoption of the 1 cent rate could make a telephone in every home in Chicago."

"I haven't given the 1 cent telephone rate any consideration at all," said Mayor Harrison, "and I am not prepared to say what the telephone rates should be. If it is possible to give a penny service it will be done."

Prepare for Gas Battle.

While Ald. Bauler was making plans for his attack on telephone rates, Corporation Cousel Sexton and his assistants made ready for the court battle with the gas company which is to follow the passage of the new gas rate ordinance. Although directors of the People's Gaslight and Coke company will not decide until next week what action will be taken, the city's legal department is prepared to resist the attack which the gas company is expected to make on the ordinance.

Corporation Counsel Sexton during the day organized a "defense league" in his office. The duty of this league will be to defend the ordinance in court. Maclay Hoyne, first assistant corporation counsel, who prepared the ordinance, is leader of the defenders. He will be assisted by Assistant Corporation Counsels Bryan Y. Craig and Joseph F. Grossman.

Bemis Begins in Two Weeks.

Edward W. Bemis, who was engaged to make an investigation of the Chicago Telephone company's affairs and recommend a new schedule of rates, will not begin his work for two weeks. He left at night for Des Moines, Ia., where he will aid the city in revising gas rates.

B. E. Sunny, president of the telephone company, is out of town. Other officers of the company declined to discuss Ald. Bauler's plan for "penny telephones."

Dredge Hits Wire; Five Hurt.

Five men employed by the Illinois Brick company while moving a dredge at North Western avenue and Byron street yesterday were stunned and two were severely burned when the top of the dredge came in contact with an electric wire of the Chicago Railways company.

KENYON ATTACKS AMERICAN WASTE

Iowan Scores Public Extravagance and Demands Lower Cost of Living.

LIVES UP TO PREACHING.

Refuses Perquisites Enjoyed by Colleagues; Vivid Parallel of Rich and Poor.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—Extravagance in public and private life was scored in a speech Senator Kenyon of Iowa made in the senate this afternoon. He thought it was time congress did something to decrease the cost of living.

The wool duty should be reduced, he said, for that would give cheaper clothing. He proposed a bill which would scale the duty but preserve Republican protection of the wool industry, and asserted that congress has sufficient information to carry out such revision without awaiting the report of the tariff board.

The senator said he was going to vote against the reciprocity bill, although he is not convinced that it will injure the farmer.

"But, inasmuch as there is a doubt in my mind on that question," he said, "I have deemed it my duty as a representative of a great agricultural state, whose prosperity is entirely dependent on agriculture, to cast my vote against the bill."

Assails Expensive Commissions.

Mr. Kenyon said there was no doubt that the cost of living is increasing, that the extravagance of the rich is becoming scandalous, and that economy must be practiced. He thought the government ought to set an example in retrenchment by reducing the number of expensive commissions, many of which are maintained by congress merely to pension political veterans repudiated by the people at the polls.

"We are living in an extravagant age," said Senator Kenyon. "We are money mad and racing through life at a neck breaking pace, piling up fortune on fortune, men worth millions striving for more, never stopping to think there is no pocket in the shroud.

"The rich are flaunting their riches in the faces of the poor. We see a $120,000 organ at the opening of a millionaire's home in New York and a long line of hungry men at midnight in the same city, constituting the bread line. Girls working in stores for $5 a week, and the proprietor of such stores dying and leaving millions to museums.

"Is it any wonder that the people of the country are restless? The problem of the control of great wealth is the most important problem of the hour and the one that should receive our attention."

Refuses Free Barber and Baths.

It is related of Senator Kenyon that he practices what he preaches. His friends say when he entered the senate he was shocked by the waste of the people's money on frivolities by the members of the upper house.

According to one story current, the young Iowa senator indignantly refused to patronize either the free barber shop or the free baths.

BURBANK SLAPS HIS RIVALS

Says Agricultural Department Sends Out Worthless Trash.

PRAISES HIS OWN SUCCESS.

Calls Government Experts Ignorant, Pin Headed, Low Browed.

San Francisco, Cal., July 19.—[Special.]—Charges that experts in the United States department of agriculture, through ignorance or worse, are sending out tons of "just as good as Burbank" spineless cactus, which in reality is "ancient trash such as the builders of the pyramids in Egypt might have cultivated," are made by Luther Burbank in a pamphlet he has just published.

Burbank fires a whole broadside of sarcasm and scorn at the government experts and speaks of his own achievements as "the most valuable improvements in vegetable life during the centuries, fully equal in importance to the discovery of a new continent."

Assails the Federal Experts.

Experts in the government service at Washington are called "low browed, narrow gauged, and pinheaded employés, who have to keep shouting to hold their places, and who are largely responsible for the trash free seed and the trash so-called spineless cactus distribution."

"The existence of the United States department of agriculture has been rightly supposed to be, among other things, for the purpose 'of fostering and encouraging improved methods,'" writes the plant wizard.

Hunt for Spineless Cactus.

"That the cause of agriculture and horticulture would receive a lasting benefit by the prompt dismissal of some of the low browed, narrow gauged, pinheaded employés is too well known to need further comment."

After telling how he developed seedless and spineless cactus, Burbank says the department experts at Washington at last became ludicrously earnest in their interest in his experiments.

BEWARE FAKE FILTER PEDDLER; ONE VICTIM PAYS HIM $4.

Represents Himself as Employe of the Health Department—Fraud Soon Discovered on Trial.

Beware of a young man who represents himself as an employé of the health department and who is installing filters at $4 each.

He is a swindler.

The filter isn't worth 2 cents.

His latest victim is P. Romacetti, 1144 Argyle avenue. The "filter man," as he is known to the police, called at Mr. Romacetti's residence yesterday.

He said the lake water contained typhoid germs, and that it was necessary to put filters on the faucets to guard against the malady.

Every houseowner and occupant in the city, he said, would be compelled by order of the health commissioner to purchase these filters. He had just one left, which he would let Mr. Romacetti have at half price.

By some hokuspokus the "filter man" drew a glass of water which contained sand and other foreign matter. Then he drew a glass with the filter attached to the faucet. It was clear. Romacetti bought the filter for $4.

The swindle was discovered after the "filter man" had gone. Romacetti went to show a neighbor how dirty the water was when not filtered. He did not understand the legerdemain of the swindler and the water was clear whether drawn through the filter or not.

Other victims of the "filter man" during the last week reported to the police that he operated the same way to sell them an article of like quality.

POLICE FIX "MOVING DAY" FOR DISORDERLY HOUSE KEEPERS.

Flaunting of Vice in East Chicago Avenue Police District Results in Order for Cleanup.

Keepers of disorderly houses and hotels were given notice last night by detectives of the East Chicago avenue police station that they must move from the district bounded by Chicago avenue, the river, and the lake by July 28.

This order, issued yesterday morning by Inspector Revere, is the result of numerous complaints received by the inspector and Capt. Baer from respectable residents of the district.

"Conditions have been intolerable the last few weeks," said Capt. Baer last night. "Respectable people cannot walk along Clark or Wells street without being accosted by these women. Wives and daughters of old residents in the neighborhood are daily witnesses of vice openly flaunted in their faces. The district must be cleaned out."

The order applies to all disorderly houses and their inmates, "shady" hotels, women who frequent saloons, and men who live upon their earnings.

This order follows closely upon one issued last week by Capt. Baer forbidding music in saloons and cafes south of Chestnut street.

FOUR WOMEN IN AUTO KILLED WHEN TREE BLINDS ENGINEER.

Man in Locomotive Unable to See Motor Car Stalled While Shifting from High to Low Speed.

Granville, N. Y., July 19.—[Special.]—The mangled bodies of four prominent women lie in the morgue, the result of an automobile accident at Raceville today. The dead are Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, Mrs. Charles Wells Jr., Mrs. George W. Yates, all of Saratoga, and Mrs. Robinson of Boston, Mass., a guest of Mrs. Wells.

The party was hit by an extra express train at a grade crossing.

The chauffeur says that the engine on his machine was stalled while he was shifting from high to low speed, the crossing being at the top of a steep hill. He claims he did not hear the train, and the view of Engineer Frank Bruce was cut off by a tree.

Fright Brings Auto Death.

St Louis, Mo., July 19.—The explosion of a tire on an automobile frightened George Grote so that he leaped from the machine while it was running forty miles an hour and was killed. Edward Teutrine also jumped and suffered a broken leg.

PUSHES LAKE SHORE PARK PLAN

John Barton Payne Appoints Two South Park Commissioners to Investigate Riparian Rights Along Beach.

At the meeting of the South Park commissioners yesterday afternoon Judge John Barton Payne, president of the South Park board, appointed Commissioners Donnersburger and Foreman as a committee of two to investigate the riparian rights of the property holders along the lake shore between Grant park and Jackson park.

NONE TO LOSE JOB FROM WILEY ROW?

Taft Anxious That No Member of Administration Quit Because of Case.

EXPECT DECISION SOON.

Likely to Result in Reforms Regarding the Employment of Experts.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—So far as President Taft is concerned there will be no resignation of any member of the administration on account of the Wiley case. That fact stands out clearly tonight after another day of delay in reaching a decision on the matter at issue.

The president does not want the unfortunate occurrence to cause the loss of Dr. Wiley's services to the people in the enforcement of the pure food and drugs law. At the same time he is determined that neither Attorney General Wickersham nor Secretary of Agriculture Wilson shall feel called upon to resign from the cabinet on account of the position each has taken.

It is probable the case will be decided and the decision announced before the president goes to Beverly on Saturday. The impression is growing that Mr. Taft will succeed in sifting the issues down to the essentials and making a decision that will not embarrass either the attorney general or the secretary of agriculture, although decreeing the retention of Wiley.

Reforms Regarding Experts.

It is likely the president's decision will result in bringing about reforms in all the departments in respect to the employment of expert services. The payment of Dr. Busby at the rate of $50 and $20 a day when the law limits expert fees to $11 was a technical violation. But the same thing has been done in the agricultural and other departments for years.

It has been charged before the house investigating committees that extravagant expert fees have been paid in the department of justice and that funds have been used for purposes never intended by congress.

Friends of Dr. Wiley contend that his arrangement with Dr. Busby not only had the sanction of Secretary Wilson but was patterned after the plan on which the Remsen board of experts is paid. The Remsen board was established with express authority of law and the members, all scientific men, are paid $2,000 a year for their services. It is said the average in some years has been over $100 a day for each member of the board. This was declared legal by Attorney General Wickersham.

Wilson Likely to Act.

There has been talk today that Secretary Wilson might not make a recommendation in the case, but that cannot well be avoided, inasmuch as President Taft has called upon him for his opinion. Ordinarily in a department matter of this kind the secretary's opinion would have been passed before the case reached the president, but Secretary Wilson somehow failed to act on the Wiley charges further than to lay them before President Taft.

It is practically certain that President Taft will do everything he can to make the situation easy for Secretary Wilson. Some of the president's friends believe that any break between him and his secretary of agriculture would be as serious from a political standpoint as the enforced resignation of Dr. Wiley.

EXONERATED IN VIOLIN THEFT.

Charge Against Kimball Building Musician Dismissed When Called for Hearing in Court.

Charge of larceny against Senior Salvatore Tomaso, a musician in the Kimball building, was dismissed yesterday when the case was called for hearing before Municipal Judge Fake at the West Chicago avenue court. The arrest of Tomaso occurred several weeks ago following the disappearance of a violin from the studio of Prof. Vladmir Shomberg in the Kimball building.

ANOTHER BATTLE IN BIG WAR GAME

Both Enemy and Defense Claim Victory in First Fight Off Long Island.

NEW YORK CITY PRIZE.

Success of Force of Invaders Also Would Put Boston at Their Mercy.

Block Island, R. I., July 19.—Another battle tonight is impending in the theoretical attack by the "Blue" navy upon the "back door" defenses of New York. The first battle was fought this morning. The attacking fleet of eighteen battleships is opposed by a defense line of submarines and torpedo destroyers.

Both attackers and defense claim they theoretically annihilated the opposing vessels today, but they will not officially know which was the victor for some months—when the navy department has examined the reports of the umpires.

All that the people on shore saw this morning was a series of maneuvers by two fleets. At dawn today the submarines were apparently patrolling the ocean between the easterly side of Block Island and No Man's Land, with the destroyers along a secondary line between Gardiner's Bay and Newport and the cruisers on guard at Newport, Point Judith and Gardiner's bay.

Battle Begins at Sunrise.

Just as the sun was peeping over the horizon, according to Commander E. W. Eberle of the defenders, the battleship fleet approached from the sea, engaged the enemy, and was apparently destroyed theoretically.

At 10 a. m. three cruisers—the Washington, Salem, and Chester—part of the attacking fleet, came in from sea rapidly, passed the north end of Block Island, and then headed in the direction of Gardiner's bay. This movement was designated as a ten minute attack by Rear Admiral Osterhaus, in command of the invaders, and he claimed to have won a victory by one and one-half minutes.

Tonight the invading fleet will be weakened by the loss of the Connecticut, Rear Admiral Osterhaus' flagship, for it is actually out of commission for the time being through the cracking of a crankshaft.

Both Fleets Return to Sea.

After a day of resting about Block Island the attacking fleet put to sea late today, but left the Connecticut behind. It will remain here until the "war" is over, and then proceed to New York for repairs. Rear Admiral Osterhaus had not transferred his flag to another ship when the battleships left.

During the day the torpedo boat destroyers and others of the fleet of defense rested in the vicinity of Newport, but left about the same hour the battleships headed out to sea. It is generally understood that a night attack is contemplated tonight and that the attempt of the so-called hostile fleet to open a way through the defending fleet to reach New York through Long Island sound would be made in the vicinity of Montauk Point.

DEMANDS MORE INSPECTORS UNDER NEW BUILDING CODE.

Commissioner Ericsson to Ask Council for Additional Funds with Which to Do the Work Properly.

Building Commissioner Henry Ericsson wants some more inspectors. He says his present force is not large enough to make the annual inpection of Chicago's buildings required by the revised building code. He will ask the city council finance committee for an extra appropriation to pay the salaries of additional men.

Ten inspectors are now working on the annual inspection. At the end of a month Mr. Ericsson will determine from their work how many more will be needed to complete the work before the end of the year.

The request for money to pay extra men cannot be made until the finance committee meets in September. In the meantime the present force will continue its labors. A conference was held in the commissioner's office yesterday, at which plans for the inspection were made.

ADMITS DEFEAT UPON VETO BILL

London Telegraph, Unionist Organ, Says Lords Must Swallow Dose.

CRISIS DUE ON MONDAY.

Surrender Caused by Desire to Keep King George Out of Bitter Contest.

LONDON, July 20, 3 a. m.—The Daily Telegraph, a stanch Unionist, in today's editorial says that not only will the house of lords pass the third reading of the veto bill today without division, but that when the government bill is returned to the upper chamber, shorn of the lords' amendments, they will pass that also.

This will be done, it says, for the simple reason "that there is no choice," and because it would form an evil and dangerous precedent to bring the crown into the struggle and it would be impossible for the king to withhold his consent if the ministers requested the creation of peers.

Unionist Press in Line.

Practically the whole Unionist press has fallen into line with the Telegraph in the admission that this is the only reasonable policy for the lords to follow, and that the "no surrender policy" would be suicidal.

Long meetings of the cabinet and also the Unionist leaders, including Balfour and Lansdowne, Selborne, Curzon, Salisbury, and others, were held yesterday for the purpose of making final arrangements for the coming debates.

Crisis Due on Monday.

Premier Asquith has postponed his intended visit to Scotland on account of the crisis, and urgent whips have been issued to all parties for Monday's sitting of the house of commons. On that date the prime minister will move the excision of the lords' amendments and is expected to make an important pronouncement on the ministerial intentions.

According to persistent reports, whatever happens, fifty new peers will be created before the bill is sent back to the lords as an earnest of the government's intentions, should the peers still display a disposition to be obdurate.

ANOTHER OUTBREAK IN COURT AT THE TRIAL OF CAMORRISTS.

Defendant Priest Denounces Witness Who Accuses Him of Complicity in the Cuoccolo Murders.

VITERBO, Italy, July 19.—The testimony of Capt. Fabroni of the Neapolitan carabineers drew violent protests from the prisoners at the trial of the Camorrists today.

Fabroni pointed out the similarity of the versions of the crime given by the priest Vitozzi and Giacomo Ascrittore. He said the latter promised money to one Jovine for swearing falsely, and Jovine expected to be paid by the priest for recounting the same falsehoods.

Here Vitozzi interrupted the witness, crying out:

"Murderer, you won't find a priest to assist you at the moment of your death."

Fabroni continued, saying Jovine had disappeared, which assertion led counsel for the defense to remark that "Jovine" was an invention of the carabineers.

A general tumult followed on the part of the counsel for the defense and the prisoners, all of whom rose to their feet and denounced the witness.

Physician Says American Financier Has Equal Chance for Recovery Due to Strong Constitution.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 19.—John W. Gates' physician, Dr. Gros said tonight that the patient's condition, compared with what it was a week ago, had distinctly improved and that there were equal chances for his recovery, thanks to a strong constitution.

Mr. Gates' heart was better today. His kidneys remain the source of danger, and it will probably be a week before the doctor can judge accurately of the ultimate results.

Charles Gates said his father had spent an excellent day and that tonight the family is greatly encouraged.

Shoots Husband Who Won't Work

Mrs. JOSEPH LOPISCOPO

HUSBAND LAZY; WIFE SHOOTS

Mrs. Joseph Lopiscopo Fires at Man While Detectives Wait.

HAD SENT FOR THE POLICE.

Woman Complained She Had Supported Spouse Who Beat Her.

A case something similar in some respects to that of Mrs. Angelina Napolitano developed in Chicago yesterday when Mrs. Joseph Lodiscopo shot her husband. The bullet was fired in their home, 1141 Larrabee street, in the presence of city detectives.

The detectives went to the Lopiscopo home in response to an appeal from Mrs. Lopiscopo. She claimed that her husband was a member of the Black Hand, that he never worked, and that he had compelled her to slave to support him ever since they had come to Chicago.

Detectives See Man Fall.

As the detectives were waiting for the man to dress they heard a shot fired and saw Lopiscopo fall to the floor, shot through the back. The woman was taken to the Chicago avenue police station and the man was sent to the Passavant hospital, where it was said he might not recover.

Through an interpreter Mrs. Lopiscopo told how she had supported her husband since they had come to this country from Italy.

Husband Took Her Money.

She said that she earned on an average of $10 a week as a tailor's assistant, that her husband had always taken the money, and had often beaten her when her earnings were small.

Lopiscopo at the hospital yesterday denied being a member of the Black Hand.

BERNSTEIN DUEL COSTS NO BLOOD

Clash with Royalist Sequel to Riots That Caused Play's Withdrawal.

CAMERA MAN MENACED.

German Baron Who Killed Painter Given Two Years in Fortress.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 19.—Uproarious demonstrations organized by Royalist agitators, known as Camelots du Roi, which led to the withdrawal of Henri Bernstein's play, "Apres Moi," from the Comédie Française last February, had their sequel today in a duel fought between the author and Gustave Tery, a leading Royalist journalist.

Tery had refused to meet Bernstein on the ground that the latter had refused to fight a duel on a former occasion and of his desertion from the French army when fulfilling his military service.

The regular court of honor, composed of men of the highest standing, last night formally declared that Bernstein was honorable, as since declining to fight a duel on one occasion he had fought five other duels and had subsequently completed his military service.

Both Fire Without Result.

The adversaries met early this morning in the Parc des Princes and fired at each other without result. An enterprising press photographer standing behind a palisade hoping to get a picture had a narrow escape, Bernstein's bullet passing close to him.

Surviving Duelist Gets Two Years.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, July 19.—Baron Oswald Richhoff, who killed the painter, William Wilhelm von Graffon, in a duel on May 10 last, has been sentenced to two years in a fortress. A military court found there were extenuating circumstances. The father of the baron was at one time secretary of foreign affairs. The quarrel that led to the duel was over money matters. The officer and the painter fought with pistols just after dawn in a forest near Berlin.

KNOX DISPELS CUBA'S FEAR OF AMERICAN INTERVENTION.

Message from U. S. Secretary of State Sets at Rest Disquieting Rumors in Island Republic.

HAVANA, July 19.—That the American government was considering another intervention in Cuba were dispelled today when the American minister, John B. Jackson, visited Señor Sanguilly, the Cuban secretary of state, and delivered a message from Mr. Knox, the American secretary of state, declaring the American government had not the least intention of intervention. Señor Sanguilly said he was convinced nothing would disturb the present friendly and intimate relations betwen the two countries.

MAY SILENCE HAITIEN GUNS

United States Minister Protests Bombardment of Two Towns.

BOTH OCCUPIED BY REBELS.

Indications That President Simon May Be Deposed in a Few Days.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, July 19.—The cruiser Antoine Simon, which has been repaired, left today for St. Marc and Gonaives, both of which ports are occupied by the revolutionists.

It is the intention of the cruiser to bombard these towns if the revolutionists refuse to withdraw.

The diplomatic corp met this afternoon at the call of American Minister Furniss and decided to protest against the threatened bombardment of these unfortified towns.

The revolutionists have occupied St. Marc and are mahcing on Archahaie, a port eighteen miles northwest of this city.

The government has assembled two divisions of troops at Archahaie to oppose the enemy.

More American Gunboats Sent.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—It is doubted here that the capital of the Haitien republic will remain much longer in possession of President Simon.

The report made to the navy department today by the commander of the United States gunboat Petrel, now in Haitien waters for the protection of Americans, indicates that all of the department north, except Cape Haitien and Fort Liberte, is controlled by the revolutionists.

Because of the precarious situation at Gonaives, the Petrel sailed from Cape Haitien for that place today.

The navy department cabled the commanding officer of the Peoria, now at San Juan, Porto Rico, to proceed immediately to Cape Haitien.

The cruiser Des Moines, from Boston, will sail direct to Port-Au-Prince, and probably will make the trip in about five days.

GAYNOR JOLTS SUBWAY PLAN.

New York Mayor Denounces Practical Guarantee of 9 Per Cent Interest to Interborough Company.

New York, July 19.—Mayor Gaynor came out in a letter tonight, laying perhaps a more violent hand on the subway situation than on any municipal question since he came into office.

He declared he would resign rather than have his name linked with the execution of such a plan as was semi-officially reported today to have been agreed upon in the allotment of subways, with a practical guarantee of 9 per cent interest to the Interborough Rapid Transit company.

The mayor declared the Interborough company had transferred its shares of $35,000,000 capital stock to a holding company, which "straightway 'financed' this stock by issuing $70,000,000 worth of debenture bonds at 4½ per cent, which require a 9 per cent dividend on the original stock to provide such interest."

Verdict: Watchman Murdered.

GOTHAM CHOLERA CLAIMS ANOTHER

Seventh Victim of Scourge at New York; Gaynor Inspects Patients.

PLAN NATIONAL FIGHT.

System of General Observation Against Germ Carriers Contemplated.

New York, July 19.—There was another death from Asiatic cholera at the Swinburne Island hospital of the New York quarantine station today. The victim was Giuseppe Pettinicchia, 32 years old, who arrived on the steamer Moltke.

Notwithstanding this additional death, making seven at this port, Health Officer Alvah H. Doty issued a statement tonight in which he said the situation was satisfactory. No further cases of the disease have developed among the detained immigrants, and the one suspicious case discovered this morning proved not to be cholera.

Mayor Gaynor and Health Commissioner Lederle visited the quarantine station late today at the invitation of Dr. Doty. Upon his return the mayor said he had personally examined the cholera patients, but said he was not ready to make any statement regarding his investigation.

Whole Country May Fight Menace.

The health officers of New York and the entire country may be asked to help repel the threatened invasion of Asiatic cholera.

The discovery of five "cholera carriers" among the 600 immigrants undergoing bacteriological examination at quarantine emphasized what Health Officer Doty has said about the difficulty of confining the disease to the quarantine hospitals of ports of entry.

Dr. Doty is conferring with Surgeon General Wyman, head of the United States marine hospital service, to plan how the country may be protected against "carriers," who harbor the germs while themselves free from their ill effects.

A system of general observation is contemplated, so that even after the "carrier" is released from quarantine the health authorities of the place where he settles may watch for possible transmission of the disease.

Other Ports Carefully Watched.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—Other ports than New York are being carefully watched by federal authorities to guard against an invasion of cholera. Advices reached Surgeon General Wyman today that the next vessel from Italy due at Philadelphia will reach there July 27, while the next at Boston is due Aug. 7, and these will be subjected to close examination. Baltimore and other ports will be watched.

Russia is officially claimed to be free of cholera by the St. Petersburg government.

TESTIMONY CLASH IN LORIMER CASE

Amazing Contradictions in Stories Make Perjury Plainly Apparent.

WIEHE IN FLAT DENIAL.

Declares Hettler Lied, but Admits Urging Flight to Escape Subpœna.

and O'Brien to leave Chicago to escape a subpœna by the grand jury during the Lee O'Neil Browne bribery proceedings, but he did not know Hines' reason for telling him to do so.

He said in the gossip around Chicago he had heard of the Father Green incident, but denied repeating it to Burgess. He will be cross examined tomorrow.

Reynolds Tells of Hines' "Message."

Another witness of the day was George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank. Mr. Reynolds testified that on the morning of May 26, 1909, Hines went to the Continental bank and telephoned to Gov. Deneen and Mr. Lorimer. He said to Mr. Reynolds he was the bearer of a message from Mr. Aldrich stating the president desired Mr. Lorimer's election.

Hines had subsequently said to the witness he had been instrumental in Mr. Lorimer's election and he assumed it was in connection with the carrying of the message from Mr. Aldrich.

Mr. Reynolds further stated that shortly after the election and some time before the publication of the White confession, Medill McCormick, at the time in charge of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, came to him and told him of a fund of $122,000 which had been spent in behalf of Mr. Lorimer.

The witness had no knowledge himself of any Lorimer or jackpot fund, and said if he did he would consider it his duty as a citizen to furnish it to the committee.

B. A. Johnson First Witness.

The first witness of the day was B. A. Johnson, whose direct examination was resumed by Attorney Hynes. He said that his attention had been called to the Burgess testimony before the Helm committee by a newspaper item he saw at Houston, Tex., on April 21, 1911. The following day he received a telegram from Wiehe asking for his affidavit. The witness said he did not send an affidavit, but received a telegram from Wiehe at New Orleans on the following Sunday asking him to come at once to Springfield and testify before the Helm committee.

Senator Kern questioned Johnson as to his conversation with McGowan, the Canadian. The witness said they talked reciprocity.

Mr. Healy cross examined with special reference to what the Winnipeg flyer smoking compartment party discussed. The witness said the tariff and reciprocity were the only topics.

MR. HEALY—You never saw Mr. McGowan after that evening until he appeared in Washington?

MR. JOHNSON—I did not.

MR. HEALY—You recognized him as the young man who was in the smoking compartment that night?

MR. JOHNSON—I did recognize him. I tried to meet him in the rotunda of the hotel and pick him out, but I did not succeed in doing that. Later I wanted to see some one that happened to be in his room. I went to Mr. McGowan's room, and he was there with a man introduced to me as Mr. Price and some one else whom I do not remember—probably Mr. Baker or Mr. Wiehe.

MR. HEALY—Did you also recognize Mr. Price?

MR. JOHNSON—I did not recognize Mr. Price.

MR. HEALY—You have no recollection, then, of Mr. Price being in the smoking compartment?

MR. JOHNSON—None whatever.

Tells of Seeing Wiehe.

MR. HEALY—How long had you been in the compartment when Mr. Wiehe came in?

MR. JOHNSON—I have never been quite clear, yet, as to whether I went in ahead of Wiehe or Wiehe went in ahead of me. I cannot answer that question specifically.

MR. HEALY—How long did he remain in there, according to your recollection?

MR. JOHNSON—O, about twenty or twenty-five minutes; something like that, I think.

MR. HEALY—And when he left the smoking compartment you practically followed him out?

MR. JOHNSON—I think so.

MR. HEALY—Did you see him again that evening?

MR. JOHNSON—That is a queer thing. I have no remembrance of seeing Mr Wiehe from that minute, after he went out of there, until I saw him in the office of the Virginia and Rainy Lake Lumber company about 7:30 o'clock the next evening, after dinner.

Mr. Healy asked particularly as to Wiehe's movements as seen by Johnson. The witness said Wiehe did not come into the open part of the car again that evening, "to the best of his recollection."

Mr. Healy then referred to the testimony of Johnson before the Helm committee, when he was positive Wiehe had not entered the car.

MR. JOHNSON—A number of people said he was there and they saw him, and they thought it was rather remarkable that I did not see him.

Points to Conflict in Testimony.

MR. HEALY—Your attention has been called to the fact that after you had positively testified Mr. Wiehe was not in that coach Mr. Harper in his Helm committee testimony placed Mr. Wiehe in front of you and on one side of you for all the way from three-quarters of an hour to an hour or an hour and a half.

MR. JOHNSON—No, sir; my attention has not been called to it.

MR. HEALY—And you did not see him in the car that evening?

MR. JOHNSON—I have no remembrance of having seen him again, positively, as I state. He might have slipped down in the seat. He might have been where I could not have seen him if I tried. He certainly did not sit with me.

Mr. Healy asked Johnson if he remembered smoking car conversations on other trips, which the witness said took him over 50,000 miles annually. Johnson said he did not remember any.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Were you perfectly sober that evening in that compartment from Duluth to Virginia, Minn.?

MR. JOHNSON—I was.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Was Mr. Burgess?

MR. JOHNSON—I have no idea on the subject. He did not appear like a drunken man.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Was Mr. Wiehe sober?

MR. JOHNSON—He was.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Was this young Canadian, whom we now suppose to be Mr. McGowan, sober?

MR. JOHNSON—I did not see any drunken man on the train, senator.

SENATOR FLETCHER—You do not suffer from any such trouble as lapse of memory or mental aberration, do you?

MR. JOHNSON—Just as any other man.

SENATOR FLETCHER—You have no special or particular fault of that kind? Your mind is generally clear?

MR. JOHNSON—Yes, sir.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Your memory is good, is it not?

MR. JOHNSON—Fairly so.

Fletcher Cites Burgess' Story.

SENATOR FLETCHER—On the train from Duluth to Virginia, in the same compartment where you sat, in the chair opposite you, was a man of intelligence, sound mind and memory, and, so far as we know, of good character. That man has testified that on that trip there came a time when there were only three persons in that compartment—himself, Mr. Wiehe, and the young man from Canada—and that while those three only sat in that compartment the question or the subject of the election of Senator Lorimer was raised. He testified he expressed himself on that subject and Mr. Wiehe immediately took up the cudgels and wanted to know what he knew about Mr. Lorimer's election. Mr. Burgess told Mr. Wiehe the only thing he knew was what he had read in the papers. Mr. Wiehe asked him then if he got his information from the Chicago Record-Herald, or some other paper, and he testified he told Mr. Wiehe he got his information from the local papers in Duluth and the Chicago Examiner; that Mr. Wiehe then made the remark to him that he, Burgess, did not know very d— much about it. The conversation continued and Mr. Burgess told Mr Wiehe—so he said—that it was credited about the country that Mr. Lorimer had used a considerable amount of money to secure his election. Mr. Wiehe said, according to the witness, that Mr. Lorimer had not used a dollar of his own money for his election. That conversation kept on, and then Mr. Wiehe started in to tell Mr. Burgess how Mr. Lorimer was elected, and finally made this statement: "There was a jackpot raised to elect Mr. Lorimer. I know what I am talking about, because I subscribed $10,000 to it myself." Mr. Burgess has testified before this committee also that Mr. Wiehe said something about a fund of $100,000 having been raised in that connection, and he qualified that later. He is not quite so sure that was mentioned. But they continued, and Mr. Wiehe further said it was impossible to get anything of merit through the Illinois legislature without the use of money. You have testified that you preceded Mr. Wiehe into that compartment?

MR. JOHNSON—I am in doubt about that and have not so testified.

Fletcher Puts Issue Squarely.

SENATOR FLETCHER—And you have testified that Mr. Wiehe left the compartment before you?

MR. JOHNSON—He did; that I do know.

SENATOR FLETCHER—You have testified you heard the conversation that went on in that compartment and that you heard no such conversation as I have just mentioned, as detailed by Mr. Burgess?

MR. JOHNSON—I certainly have.

SENATOR FLETCHER—You are positive and clear about that?

MR. JOHNSON—Most definite, because it would have been a very astonishing thing and I never would have forgotten it.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Then, Mr. Johnson, does it not come to this: That if your testimony is true, Mr. Burgess has fabricated this whole statement out of whole cloth?

MR. JOHNSON—I have never doubted from the beginning——

SENATOR KENYON—That is not what the senator asked you.

MR. JOHNSON—What?

SENATOR KENYON—Do you say that, if your testimony is true, Mr. Burgess has fabricated his testimony? That is the question the senator asked you.

MR. JOHNSON—If the story that he relates is true it never occurred in my presence. That is all I can say.

Fletcher Pins Witness Down.

SENATOR FLETCHER—The rule is that this committee ought to view the testimony of these witnesses so as to have each one of them speak the truth if possible. Can you help this committee by suggesting any way we can reconcile your testimony with that of Mr. Burgess in respect to the conversation which he says took place in that compartment?

MR. JOHNSON—Does Mr. Burgess say that conversation took place while I was in that compartment?

SENATOR FLETCHER—Mr. Burgess says it took place in that compartment on that very trip, there being present at the time Mr. Wiehe, the young man from Canada, and himself.

MR. JOHNSON—I do not know how I could help you there, because Mr. Burgess evidently eliminates me.

SENATOR FLETCHER—You have testified that you were in that compartment practically all the time Mr. Wiehe was there?

MR. JOHNSON—Yes, sir, I have.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Then, if this conversation took place with Mr. Wiehe to which Mr. Burgess has testified, it must have taken place in your hearing?

MR. JOHNSON—Well, it certainly did not.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Then I am now asking you how you can reconcile your statement, that it did not take place, with the statement of Mr. Burgess that it did take place between him and Mr. Wiehe in that compartment on that trip?

MR. JOHNSON—I do not reconcile it. I do not aim to. I would like to, but I cannot do it and tell the truth.

SENATOR JONES—You do not know whether Mr. Wiehe was in the compartment when you were not there?

MR. JOHNSON—No, of course not. I did not so testify.

SENATOR JONES—You did not go back there to see whether he was there or not?

MR. JOHNSON—I was not back in the smoking room.

SENATOR KENYON—Have you said this conversation with Mr Burgess did not take place?

MR. JOHNSON—I said it did not take place in my presence.

SENATOR KENYON—Did you say you were there all the time Mr. Burgess and Mr. Wiehe were there?

MR. JOHNSON—No, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—Then what have you to reconcile in your statement?

MR. JOHNSON—Nothing, so far as I can see.

Conversation Might Have Taken Place.

SENATOR KENYON—There was plenty of time for the conversation to take place when you were not present?

MR. JOHNSON—Why, certainly. Certainly, if Mr. Wiehe went back, there was.

SENATOR KENYON—Then, as far as you are concerned, this Burgess conversation may have taken place when you were not there?

MR. JOHNSON—It certainly would have had to take place when I was not there. It did not when I was there. It might have taken place when I was not present. I do note know anything about that.

SENATOR KENYON—In other words, you are assuming to pass on the question of whether or not any such conversation took place in that car that night?

MR. JOHNSON—No, sir; I am not. I would not think of doing that.

SENATOR KENYON—Let me ask you this: Were you present all the time, in that smoking compartment, when Mr. Burgess and Mr. Wiehe were there?

MR. JOHNSON—If Mr. Wiehe did not go back into the smoking compartment, yes, I believe so. Practically so.

SENATOR KENYON—You say "practically so." Leave out practically. Were you present all the time?

MR. JOHNSON—You know, I am uncertain about just whether I went in immediately ahead or immediately after Mr. Wiehe. That is the only time I cannot account for. I am making no definite statement about that.

Kenyon Pins Witness Down.

SENATOR KENYON—But after you went in you were present all the time until Mr Wiehe left?

MR. JOHNSON—I positively was.

SENATOR KENYON—How long a period of time was that?

MR. JOHNSON—Twenty-five or thirty minutes.

SENATOR KENYON—Could a conversation have taken place there that you might not have heard?

MR. JOHNSON—Not of that startling character.

Senator Jones asked the witness how the different men expressed themselves on the tariff question. Johnson could not say definitely. He testified he never saw Price in the smoking compartment and did not remember ever having seen him until this week in Washington.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Referring again to the statement of Mr. Burgess as to the conversation with Mr. Wiehe, Mr. McGowan has testified Mr. Wiehe never returned to that compartment after he left it. Now, if that be true, was it possible for this conversation which Mr. Burgess states took place, to have taken place in that compartment?

MR. JOHNSON—Granting that Mr. McGowan was telling the truth—no.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Mr. Burgess further testified that there was reference made to a Catholic priest and detectives. Did you hear anything of that sort?

MR. JOHNSON—Not a word, and I knew nothing of that until I saw it in the evening paper here the other day.

J. B. Price Gives His Version.

J. B. Price, the next witness, testified he was connected with the Puget Sound lumber agency of Seattle. He was examined by Mr. Hynes. His father, he said, was secretary of state of Washington.

Price testified he was in the smoking compartment of the sleeper between Duluth and Virginia, Minn., on the night of March 7, 1911. He said he was there all the way with the exception of not more than two or three minutes. He declared he was there when Wiehe came in and when Wiehe was called out by Hines.

MR. HYNES—From that time—from the time that Mr. Wiehe went out in response to the call of Mr. Hines—did Mr. Wiehe come back into that smoking compartment?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

The witness said that in the smoking compartment were McGowan, Burgess, Johnson, Weyerhaeuser, and Cusson. Price testified the conversation had to do with tariff and reciprocity. He denied categorically the conversation alleged in the Burgess testimony took place.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Was there time for such a conversation to have taken place between the time that you left the smoking compartment to go to your grip and when you returned and found Mr. Wiehe in your seat?

MR. PRICE—No, there was not.

SENATOR GAMBLE—You do not think Mr. Wiehe was in the smoking compartment when you left to look after your grip?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

SENATOR JOHNSTON—Was Mr. Johnson in the smoking compartment when you left to look after your grip?

MR. PRICE—Yes, he was.

Tells of Visit from Shields.

MR. HYNES—Will you tell in your own way how you were found in connection with this, or in any other way, as a party who was on the car that night?

MR. PRICE—I received a wire from R. J. Shields asking me if I would be in Seattle on a certain day—I think on a Wednesday—and I wired back that I would be there. Mr. Shields came several days afterwards. He came into the office and said he was on a peculiar mission, and asked me if I had been on a certain car on the Canadian Northern or the Duluth and Mesaba Northern between Duluth and Virginia, on March 7. I told him I had been. Then he started to tell me the testimony that had been given at Springfield, and asked me if I recollected any such conversation. I told him I did not. He asked me if I was willing to sign an affidavit to that effect, and I said I was. Possibly two days after that Mr. Shields brought an affidavit up to the office. I read it over and signed it.

Mr. Marble cross examined Price, who said he had been on the train fifteen or thirty minutes before it started, and that he went at once to the smoking room. In the room were McGowan, Johnson, and Burgess. He said he learned McGowan's name when they were retiring after the train left Virginia. He knew Johnson, he said, by newspaper pictures, as the founder of the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoos.

Shields Aided Identification.

MR. MARBLE—Who was the third man in the car when you were in?

MR. PRICE—Mr. Burgess.

MR. MARBLE—When did you learn his name was Burgess?

MR. PRICE—From Mr. Shields, I think.

The witness said he learned of the identity of Cusson through a Minneapolis insurance man whose name he did not remember. He said he knew the Weyerhaeusers by name.

MR. MARBLE—Afterward who was the next man to come into that smoking compartment?

MR. PRICE—Mr. Wiehe.

MR. MARBLE—When did you learn that it was Mr. Wiehe that came in?

MR. PRICE—I recognized Mr. Wiehe.

MR. MARBLE—Did you know him previously?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—How did you recognize him?

MR. PRICE—I recognized him by—really—a description.

MR. MARBLE—Where did you get the description of Mr. Wiehe which enabled you to recognize him?

MR. PRICE—I do not remember.

MR. MARBLE—How long before the trip was it that Mr. Wiehe had been described to you.

MR. PRICE—Some little time.

The witness replied "I could not say" to repeated questions from Mr. Marble in attempting to get the time fixed.

Wiehe's Features Impressed.

MR. MARBLE—Where did you get this description of Mr. Wiehe which was so exact and so vivid that it enabled you to recognize him on a railway train, and yet you cannot remember when it was?

MR. PRICE—I cannot remember that.

MR. MARBLE—You do not remember where it was?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—It did not make any impression of time or place upon you?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—But it impressed Mr. Wiehe's features upon you so that you recognized him when you met him on a train?

MR. PRICE—Knowing that the party was on the board of directors of the Virginia and Rainy Lake company, yes.

MR. MARBLE—How was Mr. Wiehe described to you when you got your description?

MR. PRICE—As he looks today. With a mustache, and blue eyes, with a sort of a—something wrong with his nose; a little bump in it.

MR. MARBLE—What else? Go on, give us a description, so that we can recognize him when we see him.

MR. PRICE—That described him to me.

MR. MARBLE—All right, go on, give us the description of Mr. Wiehe, just as it was given to you—the vivid description which helped you to recognize him. That is what we want.

MR. PRICE—That was really the way he was described to me.

MR. MARBLE—Had you been told whether or not he had a beard?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir; that he had worn a beard.

MR. MARBLE—That he had worn a beard? Were you told whether it was red or black?

MR. PRICE—Black.

MR. MARBLE—You said a minute ago that he was described as he looks today. Do you mean that?

MR. PRICE—At the time he was on the train Mr. Wiehe wore a beard.

MR. MARBLE—Were you told that he had no beard?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—And yet, when he came in with a black beard, you recognized him?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Was the black beard all over his face when you saw him?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—And still you recognized him after being told he had no beard?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

Could Not Identify Burgess.

SENATOR KENYON—You did not remember Mr. Burgess being in the car at all?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir. I remember a stranger being in there.

SENATOR KENYON—You had no knowledge that a man named Burgess was there until Mr. Shields told you?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—He came to you with the affidavit already prepared?

MR. PRICE—No, sir; he came to me first, and then about two days afterwards he came to me again with the affidavit prepared.

SENATOR KENYON—I suppose you would have given this affidavit to anybody who came along?

MR. PRICE—He said a statement had been made on this train that I did not hear, and I was willing to sign an affidavit to any one that I had not heard that conversation.

SENATOR KENYON—What was the affidavit that you signed? What was the substance of it?

MR. PRICE—That I had been in the car the greater part of the time and had not heard Mr. Wiehe discuss anything with regard to Senator Lorimer's election, or any other subject pertaining to it.

Unable to Describe Burgess.

SENATOR GAMBLE—You have spoken of Mr. Burgess. Do you recall his personal appearance as you saw him in the car?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

SENATOR GAMBLE—Have you ever seen him since?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Do you think you would know Mr. Burgess if you were to meet him now?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

The witness said he and McGowan discussed the Hines party after the train left Virginia, and it was mentioned that Frank Gotch, the wrestler, was on the train. He said he had seen Mr. Hines "on the coast," but could not remember where or when. He recognized him, he said, from a newspaper picture. The witness said that when he went back in the car to look after his baggage Hines was sitting with some one, whom he could not remember.

While Mr. Marble was looking over the Price affidavit Mr. Hynes asked the witness if he had not seen Hines at a lumbermen's convention in Seattle in July, 1910. Price said he had.

SENATOR KENYON—Had you ever thought of this matter at all, Mr. Price, until Mr. Shields came to see you?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—There was nothing about it that impressed itself on your mind?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—There was just a crowd of men sitting in the smoking compartment of the Pullman sleeper, talking and smoking?

MR. PRICE—Yes.

SENATOR KENYON—Could you have given this committee a single fact except that Mr. Hines came and called out two men from the car if it had not been for the talk that Mr. Shields had with you?

MR. PRICE—Possibly not.

George M. Reynolds Testifies.

G. M. Reynolds, now president of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago, was then called at the request of Mr. Hanecy.

MR. HANECY—Did you meet Mr. Hines on the morning of May 26, 1909—the day William Lorimer was elected United States senator from Illinois?

MR. REYNOLDS—I do not recognize the date, but I did meet him on the day on which Mr. Lorimer was elected senator—yes, sir.

MR. HANECY—Where had Mr. Hines been prior to your meeting him that morning?

MR. REYNOLDS—He told me he had been in Washington.

MR. HANECY—Did you have a talk with him as to what he was in Chicago for?

MR. REYNOLDS—Yes, sir, he explained to me.

MR. HANECY—Will you not tell the committee now what your talk with him was in that respect?

MR. REYNOLDS—Mr. Hines came to me that morning, as I think, directly from the train, and said that he was the bearer of a message which would have an important bearing on the situation in Illinois politics.

MR. HANECY—Did he say from whom the message was?

MR. REYNOLDS—Yes, he did. The message came directly, as he stated it to me, from Senator Aldrich. In the conversation, however, he explained the message in reality was coming from the administration, or from President Taft, through Senator Aldrich, and was to be delivered by him to Gov. Deneen.

Repeats Statement of Hines.

MR. HANECY—What else did he say to you in that respect?

MR. REYNOLDS—He told me in substance there had been a conference of some of the leading senators in Washington upon the question of the election of a senator in Illinois. He stated as a result of that conference he had been commissioned to take this message to Illinois, which, in effect, was that the leaders in the senate, including the president, had expressed a desire to have a senator elected before the adjournment of the legislature in Illinois. After a consideration of the situation locally they had come to the conclusion they probably could unite better upon Mr. Lorimer than any one else. He stated to me that he had been commissioned to carry this message to Gov. Deneen, to the effect that they would much prefer to see Mr. Lorimer elected than to have the legislature adjourn without an election.

MR. HANECY—Did Mr. Hines say anything to you about how he was to convey that message to Gov. Deneen from the president and the leaders in Washington?

MR. REYNOLDS—I do not think there was any specific discussion about that. He intimated that he had expected to go on to Springfield direct, but for some reason or other had been detained in Chicago, and that it would necessitate the message being sent by telephone. He said he did not know quite what was the best way to do it, and asked my advice. I said to him that he, being the only party who could know anything about the details of the message itself, I thought he was the only man who could consistently undertake to do the telephoning. I told him there was a telephone in the room adjoining mine in the Continental bank that he could use.

MR. HANECY—Did Mr. Hines suggest to you or talk to you about having you convey that message to Gov. Deneen?

MR. REYNOLDS—I do not think to do. He asked my advice as to the best way, however, in which the message could be gotten to him. My remembrance is that he asked me to call my secretary, and he asked him to get Mr. Lorimer on the telephone.

MR. HANECY—Was the long distance telephone resorted to and was it reported they had Mr. Lorimer on the telephone?

MR. REYNOLDS—Mr. Hines left my office then and went into the adjoining room, where there was a public telephone and was in the booth for some little time—I do not know how long. After some time he came back to my office and said he had talked to Mr. Lorimer and also had talked to Gov. Deneen.

Question of Recognizing Voice.

MR. HANECY—Was there anything said by you or Mr. Hines about the possibility of Gov. Deneen not recognizing Mr. Hines' voice, either before Mr. Hines got the governor or afterwards?

MR. REYNOLDS—I think Mr. Hines intimated before he went into the booth that in his proposed talk with Gov. Deneen he might not recognise his voice. He said: "I may have to bother you further, to ask you to step to the phone and identify me."

MR. HANECY—But he did not call on you?

MR. REYNOLDS—He did not; no, sir.

The witness testified that Hines had not repeated to him any of Gov. Deneen's conversation. He said Hines had reported the Washington conversation with Senators Aldrich and Penrose substantially as the lumberman had testified.

Mr. Marble then cross examined. Mr. Reynolds said he had arrived at the bank at 8:30 and that Hines was his first caller and had outlined the Washington end of the proposition to him before telephoning to Springfield.

The witness said that Hines did not recount the Springfield telephone conversation, except to say that he had delivered the message.

MR. MARBLE—Did he ever afterwards discuss this telephoning with you—after the election?

MR. REYNOLDS—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Or the part that he had played in the election of Senator Lorimer?

MR. REYNOLDS—I think I have heard him say that he thought he was instrumental, probably, in electing Senator Lorimer.

MR. MARBLE—Did he at all indicate to you the service which he had rendered?

MR. REYNOLDS—I think Mr. Hines' attitude generally, as well as what he may have said at the time, indicated to me he believed he had been influential in bringing about what had happened, but I cannot quote definitely what he said.

MR. MARBLE—Has any one ever talked to you about a campaign fund to defray the expenses of his election as senator?

MR. REYNOLDS—Nothing except what may have been casual gossip since these matters have been public and have been in the newspapers.

MR. MARBLE—Not before the publication of the Funk testimony, for instance?

MR. REYNOLDS—Yes; I had one remark made to me at one time, some months—I do not remember how long—after this episode to which I have just referred. Mr. Medill McCormick of THE TRIBUNE came to me and said: "I know that you knew of that message which was sent out there, and I have come to see whether you know anything about money having been used." I said to him I did not, and that I was amazed to hear there had been any money used. At that time he said: "I have definite knowledge that somebody took $128,000," I think he said, "from Washington to Springfield."

Inference of Corruption Fund.

MR. MARBLE—Mr. McCormick said he had definite knowledge that money had been taken?

MR. REYNOLDS—Yes, sir; but he did not know who had taken it.

MR. MARBLE—Did he indicate any further to you the nature of his knowledge?

MR. REYNOLDS—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Did he say the money had been used for the election of Senator Lorimer?

MR. REYNOLDS—That was the inference.

MR. MARBLE—It was in that connection?

MR. REYNOLDS—My understanding was that is what he meant.

MR. MARBLE—He gave you to understand that he had some sort of evidence or information that there was such a fund used?

MR. REYNOLDS—Or, at least, that he believed money had been used, yes.

MR. MARBLE—Can you tell us the certainty with which he expressed himself in that regard?

MR. REYNOLDS—I think he was quite certain that he had knowledge the money had gone from Washington, but that he could not locate the party who had carried it.

The witness fixed the date as at three or four months before the White exposé. He said that never had he heard of any legislative "jackpotting" at Springfield. He had known former Senator Aldrich intimately since the spring of 1908, but Mr. Aldrich never had communicated with him regarding the Illinois senatorship.

SENATOR JONES—How did you know or how did Mr. McCormick know about this message when he came to talk to you, or do you know?

MR. REYNOLDS—Well, I do not know, except that a representative of his paper talked to me on the day of the Lorimer election and I told him of the occurrence at that time.

SENATOR JONES—You told him about it?

MR. REYNOLDS—I assume that is how he knew it.

SENATOR JONES—You told him about Mr. Hines telephoning?

MR. REYNOLDS—Yes, sir.

The witness said he had not authorized Mr. Hines to use him to identify Hines to Gov. Deneen on the telephone. He also said he had met with the monetary commission in London at Mr. Aldrich's request.

Mr. Reynolds said he appeared voluntarily as a witness at the suggestion of Mr. Hines.

S. J. Cusson Testifies Next.

S. J. Cusson, general manager of the Virginia and Rainy Lake company, and a stockholder in the Hines Lumber company, was the next witness. He testified he was on the Winnipeg flyer on the night of March 7 and was in the smoking compartment of the sleeper from twenty minutes after the train left Duluth until Virginia was reached.

The witness said Burgess, Johnson, F. E. Weyerhaeuser, Wiehe, McGowan, and Price were in the smoking room. Hines called Wiehe out after the latter had been in about fifteen minutes. The witness said he sat next to Wiehe and two or three feet from Burgess and that at no time was the Lorimer election or the Father Green incident discussed.

Mr. Healy closely cross examined Cusson. The witness said he tried three times to get a seat in the smoking compartment and that it was crowded until the third time. Wiehe left first, he said, and twenty minutes later Johnson left. Weyerhaeuser remained a half hour after Johnson left.

To Senator Fletcher's question, Cusson said Wiehe never reëntered the smoking compartment after leaving it.

Senator Kern wanted to know when the witness had traveled at other times in a crowded smoking compartment. He answered this occurred frequently.

Kern Brings Out Memory Marvel.

SENATOR KERN—But whether you were interested or not, where there was a promiscuous crowd—part strangers and part acquaintances—mixed up in the smoking compartment of a sleeping car, could you tell the committee how those people were arranged?

MR. CUSSON—Why, no.

SENATOR KERN—You could not, could you?

MR. CUSSON—No, I could not.

SENATOR KERN—Nobody could.

MR. CUSSON—I did not pay any attention to it.

SENATOR KERN—You do not know how long Mr. Wiehe had been in the compartment when you got in?

MR. CUSSON—I have not the remotest idea.

SENATOR KERN—Therefore you have no idea as to what occurred before you went in?

MR. CUSSON—No, sir.

The witness said he saw Robert Shields in Chicago last week with Wiehe and that Shields is an insurance man living in Superior, Wis. He said he made an affidavit at Wiehe's request and mailed it to Hines. The affidavit was prepared by some one Cusson did not know and was mailed to him at Virginia, Minn., from Chicago. He had not given the information to any one which was contained in the affidavit, he said.

Might Not Have Heard All.

SENATOR KENYON—Do you think you heard everything that was said in that compartment?

MR. CUSSON—Practically so.

SENATOR KENYON—You feel certain you did, do you not?

MR. CUSSON—Yes, sir.

SENATOR KENYON—Nobody could have said anything there that you could not hear?

MR. CUSSON—They certainly could.

SENATOR KENYON—Then how do you know you heard everything that was said there?

MR. CUSSON—All the general discussion that was talked in a loud tone.

SENATOR KENYON—You were having your private discussions, were you not, with Mr. Weyerhaeuser?

MR. CUSSON—Yes.

SENATOR KENYON—And other persons were having their private discussions in there, too, were they not?

MR. CUSSON—I presume so.

SENATOR KERN—I understood you to say a while ago that you could not tell who it was that requested the affidavit, Mr. Hines or Mr. Wiehe?

MR. CUSSON—You did. I said that.

SENATOR KERN—Your memory fails you on that point?

MR. CUSSON—Yes, sir.

SENATOR KERN—I should like Mr. Hynes to produce that affidavit.

MR. HYNES—I have not it in my possession.

MR. HEALY—Mr. Hines is in the room, and I should like to ask him if he has the affidavit to which the witness has just testified.

MR. HINES—No, I have not.

MR. HEALY—Do you know where it is?

MR. HINES—No, I do not.

MR. HEALY—Do you recall receiving it from Mr. Cusson?

MR. HINES—It seems to me I did.

MR. HEALY—Where will it be—among the files of the Edward Hines Lumber company?

MR. HINES—I think it will be there, yes.

MR. HEALY—Will you send for it?

MR. HINES—I will try and produce it.

SENATOR KENYON (addressing Mr. Cusson)—Did not Mr. Shields come to you and get this affidavit?

MR. CUSSON—No, sir.

Wiehe Tells of Phoning Lorimer.

C. F. Wiehe, secretary of the Edward Hines Lumber company and brother-in-law of Edward Hines, was the next witness. Attorney Farrar conducted the examination.

The witness said he telephoned Lorimer at Springfield on May 25, 1909, at the request of Hines by telephone from Washington.

MR. FARRAR—What instructions or directions did you get from Senator Lorimer?

MR. WIEHE—He told me to meet Mr. Hines at the train in the morning and stop him from going to Springfield, and to call him up immediately by phone—to call Senator Lorimer up immediately by phone.

The witness said he met Hines at the train and told him Cook and O'Brien were in Chicago. He said Cook called him up and asked him whether Hines had arrived, and, if agreeable, to have Hines at the Grand Pacific hotel at 11 a. m. This message the witness gave to Hines by telephone at the Continental bank. He went to the Grand Pacific conference at Hines' request.

MR. FARRAR—Can you state your own memory now of what you heard Mr. Hines say over the telephone?

MR. WIEHE—"I have just talked with the governor and he will do what you want him to do." And, if necessary, he offered to go down to Springfield that night or the next day. He said: "You know how the administration feels about your election. Leave no stone unturned to be elected."

Nothing Said About Money.

MR. FARRAR—Was there anything said by Hines to the effect that he would come down to Springfield with all the money necessary?

MR. WIEHE—No conversation, or no such thing was said.

MR. FARRAR—Was there anything said about money at all at the Hines end of the conversation?

MR. WIEHE—There was not.

MR. FARRAR—Do you remember whether any commend was made, either by Mr. Hines or by any member of the party there present as to the subject matter of that conversation?

MR. WIEHE—My recollection is that Mr. Hines turned around and said he had just been talking to Mr. Lorimer, the senatorial candidate.

After the conference at the hotel, Wiehe said he and Hines went to the Union League club to luncheon.

The witness said Hines talked twice over the telephone and that Hines said he had talked with the Associated Press regarding the progress of the balloting at Springfield.

MR. FARRAR—What news did you receive or did Mr. Hines receive on the occasion of his second visit to the telephone?

MR. WIEHE—He came out and said that Lorimer was elected senator.

Met Hettler at Union League.

MR. FARRAR—Whom did you meet in that passageway.

MR. WIEHE—H. H. Hettler.

MR. FARRAR—What was he doing when you met him?

MR. WIEHE—He was walking toward us.

MR. FARRAR—What conversation arose, if any, between you and Mr. Hettler, or between Mr. Hines and Mr. Hettler on that occasion?

MR. WIEHE—I had no conversation with him. He asked Mr. Hines where he came from. He said he (Hines) looked rather cheerful, and asked him what the cause of it was. Hines told him he had just talked with the Associated Press and that a new senator had been elected. He (Hettler) wanted to know who it was, and Mr. Hines told him Lorimer. He said he was glad to hear it and we passed on and went out of the club. I do not know where he went.

MR. FARRAR—Did Mr. Hines on that occasion use to Mr. Hettler language of this kind, "I have elected Lorimer, I personally did it," or anything of that sort?

MR. WIEHE—No such conversation took place.

MR. FARRAR—After the matter with ref-

Amazing Contradictions in Stories Make Perjury Plainly Apparent.

Declares Hettler Lied, but Admits Urging Flight to Escape Subpœna.

erence to Senator Lorimer's election was finished did Mr. Hines and Mr. Hettler then enter into a discussion of the tariff?

Was No Tariff Discussion.

MR. WIEHE—No, sir.

MR. FARRAR—You are certain there was no tariff discussion between them at that time?

MR. WIEHE—Absoutely certain, yes, sir.

MR. FARRAR—Did Mr. Hines, in that conversation with Mr. Hettler in respect to Senator Lorimer's election, make to Mr. Hettler the statement that he, Hines, had just been talking—waving his hands toward the telephone—with Senator Lorimer?

MR. WIEHE—He did not.

MR. FARRAR—I understand you to say that Mr. Hines stated to Mr. Hettler he had been talking to the Associated Press?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, sir.

MR. FARRAR—That was the statement that he made?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, sir.

MR. FARRAR—Do you remember an occasion when you went down late at night to the hotel in Chicago to see Cook and O'Brien?

MR. WIEHE—I do.

MR. FARRAR—How did you happen to go down there that night to see those gentlemen?

MR. WIEHE—I went down there on a telephone communication from Mr. Hines.

Tells of Hines' Midnight Message.

MR. FARRAR—At what time that night did you communicate with Mr. Hines?

MR. WIEHE—I communicated with him along about half past 11, I should say.

MR. FARRAR—Where were you when you communicated with him?

MR. WIEHE—At my house.

MR. FARRAR—Where had you been prior to the time of this communication with Mr Hines?

MR. WIEHE—I was at a theater.

MR. FARRAR—Did you call up Mr. Hines when you got home that night, or did Mr. Hines call you up when you got home from the theater?

MR. WIEHE—When I got home I called him up.

MR. FARRAR—Why did you call Mr Hines up?

MR. WIEHE—He had been calling me from half past 8 in the evening.

MR. FARRAR—What is your present memory of what Mr. Hines told you he wanted you to do?

MR. WIEHE—He told me to go down and see Cook and O'Brien at the Grand Pacific hotel. He said somebody had telephoned him something about a subpœna having been issued, and the grand jury being in session and he wanted Cook and O'Brien to keep out of the way until the matter had blown over.

MR. FARRAR—Did Mr. Hines tell you he had gotten that telephone communication from Senator Lorimer?

MR. WIEHE—He did not.

MR. FARRAR—Did he tell you from whom he had gotten that telephonic communication?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, he said some one at Duluth had telephoned.

MR. FARRAR—After you received this request over the telephone from Hines what did you do?

MR. WIEHE—I went down to the Grand Pacific hotel in an automobile.

MR. FARRAR—How long does it take to go in an auto from your house to the Grand Pacific hotel?

MR. WIEHE—About six minutes.

Tells of Start for Hotel.

MR. FARRAR—Had you started to go to bed before you started to the Grand Pacific hotel?

MR. WIEHE—I had not.

MR. FARRAR—Had you taken off your collar and your cravat?

MR. WIEHE—I had not.

MR. FARRAR—Had you been to bed in your house before you started to go down there?

MR. WIEHE—No, sir.

MR. FARRAR—Do you remember whether Mr. Hines said to you in this conversation that he had received from Duluth a telephonic message saying Cook had been talking indiscriminately around the hotels and on the trains about a conversation from his room, and that he understood there was a subpœna out for them, and to suggest to them to get out of the way until he matter blew over, or did he suggest that if Cook kept on talking that he might be subpœnaed?

MR. WIEHE—He may have said that. The thing that made the impression on my mind was the grand jury being in session, and for them to keep out of the way until the matter had blown over.

Tells of Warning Cook and O'Brien.

MR. FARRAR—Your present memory is that you do not know whether Mr. Hines stated that subpœna had been isued for these men or that a subpœna might be issued for them if Mr. Cook kept on talking?

MR. WIEHE—I think he said a subpœna might be issued for them.

MR. FARRAR—Did you find Cook and O'Brien at the hotel?

MR. WIEHE—I did in the Grand Pacific hotel.

MR. FARRAR—What did you say to them?

MR. WIEHE—I told them Mr. Hines had telephoned me the grand jury was in session and he desired them to keep out of the way until the matter that was then pending had blown over.

MR. FARRAR—Did you tell these gentlemen, or either of them, on that occasion that Mr Lorimer had telephoned to Mr. Hines?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRER—Do you know whether Mr. Lorimer knew Cook or knew O'Brien?

MR. WIEHE—I do not.

About Time of White Confession.

MR. FARRAR—Do you locate about the date of this conversation, Mr. Wiehe?

MR. WIEHE—I think it was about the time this White story was published in the papers. That is my best recollection.

MR. FARRAR—Mr. Cook stated there was some conversation between yourself and himself on that occasion in which you stated that Hines had given instructions around the office for the employés to say nothing; but that when the newspaper men came around he (Hines) would give them two columns. Do you remember having any conversation of that sort with Mr. Cook?

MR. WIEHE—I had no such conversation.

MR. FARRAR—Do you remember stating to him another thing, that Mr. Hines talked too much?

MR. WIEHE—I do not remember that. I would not say that I did not say that.

MR. FARRAR—There is another statement of Mr. Cook's connected with that which might give you some clue. He says you said that day they would "get Hines."

MR. WIEHE—I never made any such statement.

MR. FARRAR—Had Mr Hines, to your knowledge, done anything for which he could be "gotten"?

MR. WIEHE—Not to my knowledge, no sir.

Hines Feared a "Frameup."

MR. FARRAR—So that no matter how much he talked, if he told the truth he could not be "gotten" by anybody for anything?

MR. WIEHE—Unless they framed up something on him.

SENATOR KENYON—Why did you want these men to get out of town when the grand jury was in session there?

MR. WIEHE—I had no notion about it at all. I was simply carrying the message.

SENATOR KENYON—You simply carried the message for Mr. Hines, for them to get out of town?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, sir.

MR. FARRAR—What was the sentiment, so far as you know, of Mr. Cook toward Mr. Hines, at the time you delivered this message?

MR. WIEHE—It was about as bad as it could be.

MR. FARRAR—At that time?

MR. WIEHE—No, not at that time.

MR. FARRAR—I am calling your attention to Mr. Cook's position toward Mr. Hines at that time.

MR. WIEHE—At that time they appeared to be friendly.

Cook Bitter Toward Hines.

MR. FARRAR—Do you know, from contact with Mr. Cook, what the condition of his mind toward Mr. Hines was as of the date of the Virginia and Rainy Lake meeting, in March, 1911?

MR. WIEHE—He would do almost anything to injure Mr. Hines that he could do.

MR. FARRAR—Do you know what threats Cook made, if any, of your own knowledge?

MR. WIEHE—I do.

MR. FARRAR—What threats did he make?

MR. WIEHE—I met him at the La Salle hotel in 1911. I met him twice there. He called me up on the telephone and said he wanted to meet me there. I went down to see him, and on the first visit he said that Mr. Hines had promised to get some man to buy his stock, and, by G——, he wanted Hines to carry out this agreement.

MR. FARRAR—What stock did he refer to?

MR. WIEHE—His stock in the Virginia and Rainy Lake company. I told him I did not know anything about that conversation, and that if Hines had agreed to get a man to buy this stock I thought he would carry out his agreement.

MR. FARRAR—The question that I asked you, if you please, Mr. Wiehe, related to threats made by Cook against Hines.

MR. WIEHE—He said that he was in Chicago to sell his stock, and by G——, he was going to stay there until he did sell it. He was going to make somebody buy it. Things were getting pretty hot around Chicago; and the grand jury was in session, and something would happen. I asked him why he did not go before the grand jury and get it out of his system. Then he asked me how I would like to see him sell his stock to a thousand persons—he used a vulgar term regarding it. I told him that if he thought that it was the thing to do to his partners, he ought to go and do it.

Heard Cook Made Other Threats.

MR. FARRAR—You heard that he had been making threats to other persons?

MR. WIEHE—He made this same statement about selling the stock to another man, J. H. Harper, a stockholder in the Virginia and Rainy Lake company.

MR. FARRAR—On what date in this year was the stockholders' meeting of the Virginia and Rainy Lake company held?

MR. WIEHE—March 8.

MR. FARRAR—Did you attend that meeting?

MR. WIEHE—I did.

MR. FARRAR—How did you go up there?

MR. WIEHE—I went by train.

MR. FARRAR—When did you leave Chicago?

MR. WIEHE—The night of the 6th of March.

MR. FARRAR—To what point did you go first?

MR. WIEHE—Duluth, Minn.

MR. FARRAR—Who went with you on that train?

MR. WIEHE—Mr. Hines.

Met Party at Duluth.

MR. FARRAR—Whom did you meet at Duluth connected with your company?

MR. WIEHE—I met Mr. Lindsay, Mr. Hornby, Fred Weyerhaeusen, Rudolph Weyerhaeuser, John Weyerhaeuser, J. H. Harper, Mr. Cusson, I think some gentleman from Wausau, Wis. (I cannot recollect his name just now), and Mr. Bailey of Washburn & Bailey.

MR. FARRAR—At what time did you leave Duluth to go to Virginia, where I understand this corporation had its home?

MR. WIEHE—I left Duluth at 7:10 in the evening of March 7, 1911.

MR. FARRAR—Do you remember how long after the car left Duluth it was before you went into the smoking compartment?

MR. WIEHE—I should think twenty or twenty-five minutes after the train pulled out.

MR. FARRAR—Whom did you meet in that compartment when you got there? Can you recall the names of the persons who were in the compartment when you reached it?

MR. WIEHE—There was Mr. Johnson, F. E. Weyerhaeuser, Mr. ——well, there were two or three gentlemen in there that I did not know at that time.

MR. FARRAR—Have you lately found out who those two or three gentlemen were?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, sir.

Says He Had No Talk with Burgess.

MR. FARRAR—Did you, while you were in the car, have any detailed and specific conversation with this stranger who is now identified as Mr. Burgess?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRAR—Suppose you had engaged in a specific, detailed conversation with Mr. Burgess of some minutes duration, or even of a minute's duration, from the position where you were sitting to the position where he was sitting—would it have been possible for the other persons in the car to hear what you and he said?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, sir.

MR. FARRAR—Could you have talked to Mr. Burgess, without leaning over and pulling down his ear and whispering into it? Could you have talked in the ordinary tone of voice that two men would talk in with that space between them without everybody in the car hearing what you said?

MR. WIEHE—I think everybody in the compartment would have heard what I said.

One of Many Freaks of Memory Which Amaze Lorimer Committee.

(John B. Price, Seattle lumberman, a Hines witness, testifying.)

MR. MARBLE—How did you recognize him (C. F. Wiehe)?

MR. PRICE—I recognized him by really—a description.

MR. MARBLE—Where did you get this description of Mr. Wiehe which was so exact and so vivid that it enabled you to recognize him on a railway train, and yet you cannot remember when it was?

MR. PRICE—I cannot remember that.

MR. MARBLE—You do not remember where it was?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—It did not make any impression of time or place upon you?

MR. PRICE—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—But it impressed Mr. Wiehe's features upon you so that you recognized him when you met him on a train

* * * *

MR. MARBLE—How was Mr. Wiehe described to you when you got your description?

MR. PRICE—As he looks today. With a mustache, and blue eyes, with a sort of a something wrong with his nose; a little hump in it.

MR. MARBLE—What else? Go on, give us a description, so that we can recognize him when we see him.

MR. PRICE—That described him to me.

MR. MARBLE—All right, go on, give us the description of Mr. Wiehe, just as it was given to you—the vivid description which helped you to recognize him. That is what we want.

MR. PRICE—That was really the way he was described to me.

* * * *

MR. MARBLE—Had you been told whether or not he had a beard?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir; that he had worn a beard.

MR. MARBLE—That he had worn a beard? Were you told whether it was red or black?

MR. PRICE—Black.

MR. MARBLE—You said a minute ago that he was described as he looks today. Do you mean that?

MR. PRICE—At the time he was on the train Mr. Wiehe wore a beard.

MR. MARBLE—Were you told that he had no beard?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—And yet, when he came in with a black beard, you recognized him?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Was the black beard all over his face when you saw him?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—And still you recognized him after being told he had no beard?

MR. PRICE—Yes, sir.

MR. FARRAR—Do you remember having any specific conversation with him whatsoever?

MR. WIEHE—I would not say that. I may have butted into this tariff or reciprocity talk, but not to any extent. I did little talking in the car—that is, in that room.

Question of Talkativeness.

MR. FARRAR—You are not known as a talkative man, are you?

MR. WIEHE—Well, I seem to have gotten that reputation since the Lorimer case has been pending.

Mr. Farrar here read the substance of the Burgess testimony regarding the smoking compartment conversation.

MR. FARRAR—Mr. Wiehe, did you have any such detailed conversation of that sort with Mr. Burgess in respect to the Lorimer election and in respect to the so-called Father Green episode?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRAR—Did you have any conversation with Mr. Burgess which even maliciously could be distorted into what I have read to you here as this man's testimony?

MR. WIEHE—I did not. He is an absolute liar when he makes the statement.

MR. FARRAR—Did you talk about the Lorimer election with this man Burgess at all?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRAR—Did you say anything to him about a "jackout"?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRAR—Did you say anything to him about contributing $10,000 yourself to a "jackpot"?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

Denies Mentioning Jackpot.

MR. FARRAR—Did you say to him anything about any $100,000 fund or "jackpot" or slush fund, or anything of that sort?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRAR—Did you mention Father Green's name?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRAR—Did you tell him any such detailed story as he has given here to this committee?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

MR. FARRAR—Did you, before this man testified here, ever hear any such tale in respect to Father Green as is set forth in this testimony.

MR. WIEHE—Not as related there, no.

SENATOR GAMBLE—Did you make any such statements in his presence to any other party, that he might have heard, as indicated by the testimony as read to you?

MR. WIEHE—No, I did not.

SENATOR KERN—You say you never heard the Father Green episode told in that way. How did you hear it told? Did you ever hear it told at all?

MR. WIEHE—Why, I heard the story told later, some time in April.

Wiehe's Version of Father Green Story

SENATOR KERN—What was that?

MR. WIEHE—Why, I heard a story like this, that P. J. Keeley, a detective, had been employed by the state's attorney's office, and that he went and saw Father Green and stated he was tired of doing the crooked work they wanted him to do at the state's attorney's office, and wanted to change his job. Father Green told him he certainly could not do that until he had repaired some of the things in the crooked work that was going on, that he would have to make it right. One of the things I heard was said—it seemed to be kind of common gossip—a man named Beckemeyer was taken out by Detective Keeley and gotten drunk, and he was taken down in the "redlight district" and held in a room with some woman, and a flashlight picture of him taken, and when he refused to testify they showed him this picture. Now that is just gossip I heard, and I do not know whether that is true or not.

SENATOR KERN—Beckemeyer had nothing to do with the Father Green incident. Then did you further hear they had threatened Father Green?

MR. WIEHE—No, I did not know anything about that.

"Heard Gossip to That Effect."

SENATOR KERN—This Father Green business, you say, you had heard?

MR. WIEHE—I heard some gossip to that effect, but that was some time after. I did not know Father Green at that time.

SENATOR KERN—I know you did not; but when did you first hear of that?

MR. WIEHE—I think some time in April.

SENATOR KERN—Did you repeat what you just told us—this Father Green episode? Do you say you never repeated that to anybody?

MR. WIEHE—I do not think I repeated it to anybody. I may have talked of it; yes, sir.

SENATOR KERN—You do not remember to whom you did talk to on this subject?

MR. WIEHE—No, I do not.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Did you ever talk to Burgess of it?

MR. WIEHE—No, I did not. I did not know the story then.

MR. FARRAR—Was not this story as you have told it here, along in April of this year, a matter of common gossip in Chicago?

MR. WIEHE—Yes.

MR. FARRAR—This man further says in his testimony that you told him you had gotten this story from Father Green himself.

MR. WIEHE—I do not know Father Green.

Calls Story "An Absolute Lie."

MR. FARRAR—Now, the version of the Father Green story that Mr. Burgess has told here about the detective being employed by the newspaper and about the newspaper demanding a retraction of Father Green and about the newspaper getting a copy of his picture, and about the newspaper theratening him with publication, and about his answer there—did you ever hear that version of that story until you read it in the testimony of Mr. Burgess?

MR. WIEHE—I did not.

SENATOR KENYON—You say this whole story as read to you by Mr. Farrar is untrue?

MR. WIEHE—An absolute lie.

SENATOR KENYON—And this story you say is an absolute creature of the imagination?

MR. WIEHE—Well, I will not say that it is an absolute creature of the imagination. I think it is a frameup between Burgess and Cook.

SENATOR KERN—Did you state in your testimony before the Helm committee that there were three Weyerhaeusers in the compartment?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, but I was mistaken about it. Charlie Weyerhaeuser was in California. He was not there at all.

SENATOR KENYON—Your theory is that this is a frameup by Cook and Burgess?

MR. WIEHE—That is my opinion of it.

SENATOR KENYON—And that they carried the frameup to the point of swearing to it under oath?

MR. WIEHE—Yes. I think Cook would do anything to get even.

SENATOR KENYON—You think he would perjure himself?

MR. WIEHE—Yes, I think he would.

The committee here adjourned for the day.

SMOOT WOOL TARIFF BILL IN.

Offered by Utah Senator as Substitute for the Underwood and La Follette Measures.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—Senator Smoot introduced his wool tariff bill, which is expected to have the support of a majority of the Republicans of the senate if any wool revision is agreed upon. He said his bill is not an "administration measure," but represents his own views of what reduction could be made in the wool tariff without destroying American industries. He offered his bill as a substitute for the Underwood and La Follette bills.

TREATY RATIFIED BY SENATE.

Agreement to Arbitrate Pecuniary Claims Between United States and Great Britain Approved.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—The treaty between the United States and Great Britain, providing for the arbitration of pecuniary claims between the two countries, in accordance with the general arbitration treaty, was ratified by the senate in executive session today.

Is There A Smoking Chimney In Your Neighborhood?

If so tell us. Drop us a postal giving the name of the owner and the location of the offending chimney. We may be able to stop the nuisance. We cure thousands of chimneys of the smoking habit every month. It's a sure thing that the owner of a smoking chimney has not investigated the possibilities of gas as a fuel. Gas burns without smoke. And gas is now used successfully and economically in a majority of cooking ranges—water heaters—grates—steam generators—furnaces—ovens and all other kinds of home and factory heat producing appliances. We are now supplying gas for fuel in Chicago to a large proportion of our half million customers whose chimneys have stopped smoking. We are the biggest factor in the evolution of the Smokeless City. That's why we want to locate smoking chimneys. Every one gives us a line on a new gas customer. Our show room display of all kinds of gas burning appliances always proves an intensely interesting educational exhibit to those who have not seen it. Also our data telling how many big users of gas are saving millions a year are truly astounding. We mail promptly booklets covering the use of gas for all special purposes. Why not ask us on a postal for the one that would interest you most? The Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company, Peoples Gas Building, Michigan Boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon E. Townsley of the Château, Sheridan road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to George W. Rutherford of Pasadena, Cal.

Miss Emily Preston of New York, members of whose family were prominent Chicagoans some years ago, expects to return east tomorrow after having visited Mrs. John M. Ewen in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. John Borden left for the east on Monday preparatory to sailing for Europe.

Barber Lathrop has been visiting in Lake Forest for a week since returning from a journey to Hawaii.

Mrs. F. S. Eames expects to leave about Aug. 1 for Marion, Mass., to visit Mrs. John M. Clark. Mrs. C. B. Macdonald and Mrs. E. S. Worthington now are at Southampton.

Mrs. Dudley Wilkinson and Miss Nellie Carpenter, who went abroad some weeks ago, are now at St. Moritz in Switzerland.

Mrs. Charles Deering delayed her departure to Denver and did not leave until yesterday instead of on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin, who are spending the summer at Lake Forest, have gone to Michigan to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pollock for a few days.

Mrs. Wallace Wakem has gone to York Harbor, Me., to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Horatio W. Seymour and daughter, Miss Anna Seymour, of New York, former Chicagoans, are at the Hotel Moraine, Highland Park, for the month. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Lander Jones, now have a residence in Highland Park and have with them another daughter in the Seymour family, Mrs. Joseph Albert Jones of Gulfport, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Heusner have vacated the residence at 430 East Forty-eighth place and have gone to Detroit, where they expect to reside permanently. They have taken the John W. Watling residence in Detroit. Miss Florence Heusner is the guest of Miss Lucile Dolman at 6604 Woodlawn avenue for a short time before going to her new abode.

Mrs. F. A. Fielder had Mr. and Mrs. Bion J. Arnold as week end guests at her summer home, "Redleif lodge," Charlevoix, last week. Mrs. Fielder is now entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson and daughter, Helen, and Mrs. Robert H. Hunter and little daughter, Ruth.

The marriage of Miss Ruth McCauley, daughter of Mrs. Alice McCauley and the late Capt. Henry R. McCauley, to Ogden Ross Adams took place on Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride's mother in Oak Park. The Rev. Robert H. Beattie officiated. After a short honeymoon spent on the lakes Mr. and Mrs. Adams will reside in Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Berg, 301 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Maria Elvera, to Dr. Conrad Berg of Three Forks, Mont. Miss Berg is a former Lewis institute student and Dr. Berg is a graduate of the University of Illinois. The wedding is set for Aug. 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Epstein, 4646 Prairie avenue, announce a double marriage for Sunday, July 30, when their daughter Regina will wed Clarence M. Adler and their daughter Sadie will become the bride of Julius Daniels. The ceremony will be performed at 5 o'clock at the Lexington hotel.

Slipping It Over on John.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

THE bucket that goes once too often to the well, the prize fighter that returns one too many times to the ring, the Napoleon that fights until he reaches a Waterloo, all demonstrate that every man, no matter how successful he may be in his peculiar line of endeavor, may some day attempt something that to his surprise and consternation leaves him beaten and hopeless. Thus it has been with John Bong. He has met his Armageddon, his Waterloo, his Gettysburg, and a few other things.

John Bong was remarkably successful in collecting automobiles. Everybody that had an automobile and who was going out of town for a season always asked John Bong to take care of their machines. As a result John always was driving around town in a motor, and because he changed often people believed he owned two or three garages full of automobiles. The owner of each particular automobile always kept his machine in a garage that had a contract to keep the car fully equipped, so that John never was bothered by such trifling details as new tires, gasoline, or charging batteries. All he had to do was to drive the car out for an airing whenever he felt so inclined.

John became so bored finally by having so many machines thrust upon him that he would not promise to ride in a car while the owner was away unless the machine cost at least $5,000 and was perfectly new.

But fate was lying in wait for John Bong even as it lies in wait for all of us. Little did he reck as he howled up and down the avenues in somebody's else car that Nemesis was on his track. Nemesis took the shape of a yacht. A man who was going away for the summer told John that he would like to place his gallant boat, the good ship Dance Some More, in his charge for his exclusive use.

He didn't want to dismantle the Dance Some More and put her back in her winter berth, but he would leave the boat at its moorings out in the harbor if John Bong would say he would look after her. Would John Bong look after her? Would John Bong look after anything that cost some thousands of dollars and that was able to move and carry John Bong luxuriously seated and making a noise like an owner on some prominent position from whence he might spit contemptuously on the vox populi!

John Bong said in his gracious and most affable manner that while it would be a lot of bother, still he wouldn't mind keeping a weather eye on the Dance Some More. So the owner left town and John forsook his automobiles and planned to cruise the Lake Michigan main. John had never seen his gallant craft, but he postponed his tour of inspection until some future day when he intended to go on a cruise. He summoned the sailors of the Dance Some More and the Jap cook and told them to make everything ready for a little cruise on the following Sunday.

The sailors said there were a few little repairs that ought to be made and some new pipes and things, and John blithely ordered them to get everything that was needed and charge the supplies on the garage bill. The sailors explained that there was nothing like an open charge account connected with a yacht, but that the acting owner always paid for little minor repairs. John magnificently ordered everything charged to him and the sailors departed. Then the Japanese cook appeared and meekly said that if honorable sir intended to go on a cruise that some honorable lemons and a bottle of the honorable Scotch and two or three honorable stogies ought to be put in the lockers ready for the coming outing.

John said for the cook to lay in everything that would likely be needed by three or four strong men when out on the raging sea and twenty-five miles from an all night café. John retired and waited impatiently for the dawning of the day when he would have the proud honor of walking the forecastle of his own ship.

The first thing that happened to cause John Bong to realize the difference between a ship and an automobile was a bill from a grocery store of the things the Jap had purchased there. The bill was about five feet long, and as John glanced it over he gasped for breath.

"Great Scotland," murmured John, "there's been a mistake. They've mixed up the bill of goods that my Jap ordered with the bill ordered for the steamer that carries excursionists to Buffalo and return."

He grabbed his hat to go over to the grocery and start an investigation when the Jap came in with the various items of alcoholic beverages which he had purchased. John took the list and looked it over.

"Jumping sardines," he said, "was I left in charge of a yacht or a saloon?" "Nothing on board of the honorable yacht," said the Jap, smiling and bowing profoundly; "it then has become of most necessity to fill up for honorable party of next Sunday."

"I know that," said John, "but you've got the wrong idea. I said there would be three or four gentlemen go; you thought I said that this was to be the annual outing of the Nineteenth Ward Fun and Frolic club, together with the Longshoremen and Dockwallopers' union."

"O, very much need all set forth," said the Jap.

"Well, now, nothing like that at all," shouted John in great wrath. "Now understand me, I do not wish an ox barbecued on the main deck with tankards of foaming ale for all the visiting firemen. Nor is there to be a bonfire of two for a quarter cigars on the main top mizzen or whatever they call it. But what is that other list you have there and over which you are making inarticulate sounds?"

"These dishes and ware of glass," said the Jap, presenting the list.

"What!" shrieked John. "Have you purchased all the tableware, fixtures, and good will of the Congress hotel? What are you going to do with 'em?"

While the Jap was explaining one of the sailors entered. He also had a little list about six yards long that he unwound and laid in front of John. John read the first 200 items and then broke down.

"How did they ever get her through the locks and the Welland canal?" he moaned.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the sailor man. "What ship did you say, sir?"

"The Lusitania," said John. "They've brought her around from New York and got me to take charge of her so as to stick me for her outfitting. What's the idea—a three years' cruise in the arctics? But I'll be game. Come on down to the lake. I want to gaze upon this leviathan of the seas that I've got on my hands. And next Sunday I'm going to invite 3,000 orphans to go on a free excursion."

They went down to the lake front and the sailor pointed out a little boat anchored not far off shore.

"I suppose that's the rowboat, or the dingey, or whatever you call her, that belongs to the Dance Some More?" said John.

"No, sir," answered the sailor man; "that's her—that's the Dance Some More."

Opera Excerpts Vary Ravinia Park Programs.

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

ECHOES of the Chicago grand opera season are now being revived at Ravinia by a company of worthy artists and may be heard nightly by all who hunger for this form of musical nourishment. The management of the park, believing that the public has had enough purely symphonic programs in seasons past, and subscribing also to the latest tenet of the managerial creed to the effect that Americans are opera mad, has varied the evening entertainments by presenting an act from some opera in the second half.

The first part of the program is still of the popular symphonic character and engages the efforts of Conductor N. B. Emanuel and the Chicago concert orchestra. This orchestra seems to be composed about equally of Chicago opera, Thomas and Chicago Philharmonic men, and is by far the best body of players that the versatile Chevalier has had the good fortune to conduct in this city. As a result not only are the operatic excerpts given with admirable orchestral support, but the prefacing concert numbers measure up to prevailing symphonic standards.

The change of program has necessitated some modifications of the stage, which has been extended beyond the half-dome sounding board, thereby sacrificing certain advantages of an acoustic nature peculiar to Ravinia. The settings have been supplied by the Chicago Opera company, which organization contributed further the conductor, the chorus, and one of the principals. The singers are headed by Miss Lois Ewell, whose recent successes with the Aborn company are still fresh in the minds of all. She is supported by Miss Vera Allen, soprano; Miss Barbara Wait, contralto; David Duggan, tenor; William Beard, baritone, and Carver Williams, bass.

Heard in the garden scene from "Faust," these artists proved that they could give an operatic performance that was vocally and musically convincing and lacked authority only on the dramatic side. Here, however, they are hampered by the environment of Ravinia, strange as that may seem. The idyllic setting of the park has proved an advantage to worthy drama and has wonderfully enhanced the appeal of music. But grand opera of the school of Gounod is so unreal, so absolutely artificial that it must be kept in the environment of the opera house. It will not thrive out under the trees. On the other hand, an imaginative and poetic bit of opera like the Nile scene from "Aida" should benefit by the same influences that have made Ravinia an ideal place in which to enjoy absolute music that contains great emotional appeal.

However, Miss Ewell sang the "Jewel Song" with distinguished measure of vocal beauty and musical authority; Miss Allen, who has done smaller parts with the Chicago opera, displayed a voice of delightful freshness and sang the "Flower Song" as daintily and gracefully as one could wish; Mr. Duggan delivered the aria, "Hail Thou Dwelling," with great beauty of tone and attacked the several high A flats and C's with that courage that so commends itself to the public; and, finally, Mr. Williams and Miss Wait accomplished dutiful presentations of the parts of Mephistopheles and Martha.

Small Talk of the Stage.

When Miss Frances Starr appears in her new David Belasco play she will have Robert Dempster as her leading man.

Announcement is made that Miss Elsie Esmond and Henry Cooley have been engaged to appear with the Drama Players next season. Miss Esmond acted for a time in the company which supported George Fawcett in "The Remittance Man" at the Princess not long ago. Mr. Cooley is unidentified. The engagement of Miss Shannon and Mr. Kelcey as Drama Players is doubted by A. G. Delamater, proprietor of "Dear Old Billy," who announced that he has contracts with these players to appear at Powers' theater Sept. 3 in Miss Elizabeth Jordan's play, "The Lady from Oklahoma." This is the first time in many months that there has been any controversy over the services of Miss Shannon and Mr. Kelcey.

Addison Burkhardt, the librettist, is just now engaged on not fewer than three plays for the La Salle Opera house ventures. He has taken in hand the task of making over the libretto of "The Girl I Love," which will start on a season's tour early in September, when it will be revived in the Auditorium for three weeks. The book of this piece, it is recalled, was written originally for the Hermits' club of Cleveland, and it is Mr. Burkhardt's task completely to adapt it to the requirements of the new company engaged by Manager Harry Askin. Mr. Burkhardt is collaborating with Frederick Donaghey on both play and songs in the case of "Louisiana Lou," the new La Salle production, with Ben Jerome music. Furthermore, he is working on his hit of last season, "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," bringing the text up to date and putting in new songs for Miss Trixie Friganza, who is to be the star.

For Rupert Hughes' dramatization of Karl Harriman's novel "Sadie" John Cort has engaged Theodore Roberts.

Miss Helen Lackaye, late of the cast of "The Fox," has been selected to play the rôle of Light in the impending revival of "The Blue Bird."

Mr. Walter Edwardes has been engaged by Messrs. Liebler & Co. for the rôle of Laylock in "The Deep Purple," which will be played in the west by a second company. Mr. Emmett Corrigan, who originated the part here, will be seen again in it in Chicago during the McVicker's engagement.

Head of Rockford District to Retire from Ministry.

THE Rev. A. D. Traveller, superintendent of the Rockford district of the Rock River conference, Methodist Episcopal church, announced yesterday that he would retire from the active ministry and move with his family to Colorado. The reason assigned was his wife's health.

Dr. Traveller is 72 years of age. He was for sixteen years the corresponding secretary of the Chicago Home Missionary and Church Extension society.

His withdrawal will make necessary the selection of a new superintendent for the Rockford district, but this will not take place, Dr. Traveller said, until the meeting of the Rock River conference, which will be held next fall in Ottawa Street church, Joliet.

The six district superintendents of the conference have begun to hold the fourth quarterly conferences in the local churches, which usually determine the question of the continuance or discontinuance of the various pastors.

Among the more important churches of the conference where change is likely to take place are the following:

The Rev. E. L. Eaton, Emmanuel church, Evanston, has announced that he will leave the active pastofate and enter the lecture and temperance field. He will move to Madison, Wis.

The two largest churches in Rockford are also scheduled for a change. The Rev. Frank W. Barnum, pastor of the Centennial church, and the Rev. James M. Taber, pastor of Court Street, both will seek new fields, though they will continue in the active ranks of the ministry.

Both of the larger churches in Joliet will, it is said, receive new pastors. The Rev. E. G. Cattermole, pastor of the Richards Street church, will retire temporarily from the pastorate, while the Rev. A. F. Clark, pastor of the Ottawa Street church, will seek a new field of labor.

The Rev. A. C. Geyer, pastor of the Fourth Street church, Sterling, is another pastor who expects to change his pulpit.

Among the Chicago churches which are considered certain of a change is Trinity church, Thirtieth street and Indiana avenue, whose pastor is the Rev. H. O. Enwall.

Chicago churches that have invited their pastors to return for another year are Austin, First, where the Rev. J. S. Ladd Thomas is pastor, and the Wesley church, Belden avenue and Halsted street, the Rev. J. M. Phelps, pastor.

The Rock River annual conference will meet Sept. 27.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

Note:—Miss Russell will be glad to answer any question pertaining to womanly beauty. Write to her freely. She has agreed to tell the readers of The Tribune all the secrets of her toilet and give them all her tonic and cosmetic recipes. Those desiring a personal reply from Miss Russell should be particular to inclose an envelope properly stamped and addressed.

How Many of These Beauty Points Have You?

By LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1911: By Lillian Russell.]

THE head should be a seventh part of the body; that is to say, the height should equal seven heads. The old Greek standard was a little less than this, but our heads are growing larger nowadays; in fact, it looks as though in time they would be too large for our bodies.

The forehead should not be too high nor too broad. It should harmonize with the oval of the face and should be one-third of the length of the face. The skin should be white, firm, and free from wrinkles.

The eyelashes should be well marked and should end at a point at the outside of the eye. The hair should never grow across the nose, as a wide space between the eyes is considered a great beauty. They should curve slightly above the eyelids and not be too heavy or wide, tapering from the nose to the end of the eye.

The eye should be slit horizontally; those shaped like almonds are the most beautiful.

The hair should be thick and wavy. The most admired colors are blonde and black. The nose should be equal in length to the forehead and there should be no demarcation where it joins it; its thickness should be in proportion to the other features of the face. The mouth should be shaped like a bow unbent.

The lips should not be too full nor too thin. They should turn up at the corners and close softly enough to denote sympathy and with the firmness also which characterizes decision.

The chin should be rounded delicately, with no baggy flesh underneath it, and it should never retreat so that a line dropped from the nose down will not plumb with the chin. Nothing is so fatal to beauty as a receding chin. The cheeks should be rosy, skin free from large pores and blackheads, and the skin velvet.

The neck should be twice as long as the nose and twice as big as the wrist. It should be firm and plump and devoid of brown rings or wrinkles about it.

The shoulders should be plump, slightly rounded, and of the same height. The line from the ear to the shoulder, while in the modern girl has a more abrupt curve than in the old Grecian standards, yet she gains in carriage and style from her military setup.

The chest should be narrower at the top than at the bottom; bust high, firm, and rounded—not too large. The space between the breasts should be wide, showing a large lung capacity and a good diaphragm.

The arms should be large above the elbow and should diminish to the wrist. The elbows, without the slightest tinge of brown, should be dimpled as softly as the cheek.

The hands should be long, plump, with tapering fingers and well kept almond shaped nails.

Although you seldom find a woman with all these attributes of beauty in such perfection as is here mentioned, this is the standard which each woman should put up before her and by constant practice and work make herself nearer and nearer to it. Do not say that you cannot do it, because I know it is possible.

Remember—If you desire to attain real beauty you must hook your wagon to something higher up than the rouge pot.

Lillian Russell's Answers to Her Inquirers

J. M. H.: I am very sorry that I am unable to comply with your request. Perhaps the best thing that you could do would be to have your daughter join a first class musical comedy company. However, unless she is willing to work very, very hard and put up with a great many things that the home girl would never think of doing, she had better stay within the sacred confines of her own roof tree. I thank you very much for your kind wishes anent my work.

T. A.: In the near future I shall have an article upon makeup, but I would advise you not to try to cover up blackheads and freckles with anything of the kind. The thing to do is to remove them. Actresses often use grease paint upon their faces, but it would be impossible to use anything of the kind in the day time. The velvety appearance upon the stage of which you speak is obtained by the use of powder, rouge, and an adjustment of the lights. I am sending you a lotion for blackheads and freckles. Read some of my answers to those asking for cure of blackheads in which I give the mode of washing the face.

PAULINE: It is very hard to advise any one who wishes to grow taller. Haven't you heard, my dear, that the most precious articles are done up in the smallest packages? If you are too plump I would advise a diet. Write me inclosing stamped and self-addressed envelope asking for my dietary for reducing flesh. I do not think much of the remedy which you mention. You can dress yourself so as to add to your height. Be sure to wear things with long lines and you might wear heels that are slightly higher than the ordinary, doing your hair up on the top of your head will also help. I am sure that if I were you I would take a great deal of exercise and make myself a perfect miniature which in some people's eyes is more beautiful than a large piece of canvas, however well it is painted.

ELLA: See my answer to Ethel. I am very thankful to you for your good wishes and hope that I shall say something in some of my articles that will please you.

PEORIA: Yes, indeed; corsets are most important to the stout woman and will help to give her the hipless figure if properly fitted. However, it is not necessary to pay $50 for a corset. There are many good corsets that cost only $5. Exercise and the proper diet are the best means of reducing flesh, for they cannot possibly harm one, if done in moderation, and they will not only reduce the figure to normal proportions, but improve the general health in every way.

RUTH: Peroxide of hydrogen is a good antiseptic mouth wash and it also helps to whiten yellow teeth. Diluted alcohol is also refreshing and powdered pumice stone used once in awhile is excellent for removing stains. An occasional cleansing of the teeth with salt is beneficial. The gums should also be rubbed. Teeth cannot be beautiful unless they are healthy, and they cannot be healthy unless they are well cared for. If you neglect them they revenge themselves by aching, becoming discolored or crumbling away. Brushing the teeth three times a day—after breakfast, lunch, and after dinner—will preserve them.

MISS McL.: I hesitate when it comes to giving you the recipe for a dry shampoo for the hair, for when it is not properly used so much harm results. If possible a second person should brush the head thoroughly to assure the powder being all removed, for if it is left in the hair and on the scalp dandruff is sure to follow. One of the best dry shampoos is made by mixing one-half pound of powdered orris root with three drachms powdered bergamot rind and a quarter pound of finest sifted cornmeal. Dust this on the head at night, rubbing it in lightly and let it remain until morning, when it should be brushed out thoroughly. I never advise talcum for a dry shampoo. It clogs the pores of the scalp and clings too closely. I suppose the wrinkles between the eyebrows are caused by the habit of frowning. You will be able to entirely remove them if you will make up your mind to overcome this habit and massage them persistently with the skin food for which I am mailing you formula. I have used this skin food for twenty years and it has kept the wrinkles at bay.

Woman and Her Interests.

Must Girls Leave Home to Get Beaux?

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

MOST women pin their faith in regard to finding a future heartmate to the fact that "people meet where hills and mountains don't." This is true as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough.

A poet made himself famous by giving the world this truth, set to verse:

"Full many a gem of purest ray, serene,
The dark, unfathomed caves of ocean bear:
Full many a flower is born to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

The truth of this was never more exemplified than in the case of the girl who lives in the small village. Many a time, it occurs to those who love her best, are they doing right in keeping her in that small place, where there is no one to note her charms, and perhaps not even a young man there who is heart whole and fancy free?

It is no wonder that such a girl often grows discontented with her lot. She sees every possibility of ending her days in single blessedness among the hollyhocks and bachelor buttons. There are not enough folk in the village to get up a dance. All the unmarried men seem to pair with sweethearts whom they have been keeping company with year in and year out with marriage as far off as ever.

Her grandma remarks that "there was some one for every one!" The good old lady means well. In her day the swains were obliged to stay in the village and pick wives from those about them. Nowadays, it's different. Country boys stay no longer on the farms, but run off to the city quite as soon as they are able to trudge there in search of fortune and often a wife.

It is the city girls who win them and are loved and supported ever after. If the dissatisfied single country girls are the mainstay of the old folks at home, they cannot always pick up and drift cityward. The village girls seldom break with their lovers. Somehow the young men seldom look upon her whom they have known well all their lives in the light of a possible wife.

There seems no way of turning into this channel. The singing schools, quilting bees, and husking parties that the city people talk so much about are often few and far between. Nor does any city millionaire break down an automobile in front of her door, which calls for attention on her part and getting acquainted, as she has read about in the magazines and papers. Nor will the right kind of city boarders come to the little home, which has but one bedroom to spare among the six rooms and kitchen.

Look at it from every point of view, there is not a soul who would be apt to find her out to woo and wed. It is no wonder that father sells the farm for a song and moves into town, where there are marriageable young men by the thousands, but even there, she finds meeting nice, marriageable young men is quite as much of a problem.

Complications arise which are new and confounding to her. She is a modest flower from the country; she does not thrive well in the dusty pavement of the city. She stands less chance, she finds to her surprise, in the whirl of the maddening crowd, than in the country's solitude. She cannot go off amid the single city folks alone. Her father is too old to go with her, even if he wants to.

Her idea that she can soon get a beau if she were only in the city melts like mist before the sun. The farm money gives out, and the shop for father and the factory for her stares her in the face.

Creme Yvette's Reply.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I feel that I ought to defend myself from the rather sharp call-down from 'A Constant Reader.' She didn't quite grasp my situation. I fully agree with her that a large majority of boys do expect the girls to come more than half way. In fact, they don't think that it is necessary for them to make any effort at all. Their idea is that a girl should be humbly grateful for the slightest attention. Now, my dear 'Constant Reader,' my case was entirely different. I did everything I could to please that girl. I went into debt, from which I haven't emerged yet, to give her a good time. When I saw that it bored her to death to have me tell her that I cared for her, I stopped. She knew exactly what I thought about her from the way I treated her. She had acquired a new crush and I was down and out. If I may be allowed a criticism on the rising generation of girls, I am obliged to say that they are incapable of any sincere and sustained affection. They have a new crush every month or two. This does not apply to all, but to a great number. You see, 'Constant Reader,' that your case couldn't have been mine. CREME YVETTE."

* *

Shall He Dry the Dishes.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Do you think it is proper for a young man when calling on a lady to go in the kitchen and help dry dishes? EDWIN."

Yes, Edwin, I think it a real nice, homey thing for him to do. Be sure and dry them properly, however.

* *

The Dog Is Dead!

My Dear Miss Libbey: I am a very handsome young man, with soulful brown eyes and a southern accent. I can play the violin in a fascinating manner and tell all kinds of good stories, especially darky ones. My wife also has elegant musical talent and sometimes she goes abroad for a few months to study and leaves me here all alone. When she is home, sometimes she goes to Milwaukee for a whole week to visit her mother. We have no children and our dog is dead. You can readily understand that our flat is very lonesome for me, though it is not large. Now what I want to know, Miss Libbey, is this: Is it proper for me to seek the society of other ladies while my wife is away, provided they know I am married? A talented married lady who lives near me has an automobile and sometimes I have gone out with her for a little ride down to the park and back when her husband and my wife have not been with us. Is this wrong?

"BENSIE."

Indeed it is, Bensie. If you are as handsome and as talented as you say you are, you would be much better off at home in your own company. Practice your music and read good books and you will not be lonely. As for the "talented" married lady and the automobile, I would advise you to leave both severely alone. Many happy little homes have been broken up in this way. Beware of women and autos. When it is a combination of a woman and an automobile, be doubly careful.

* *

Can He Win?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am deeply in love with a young lady who is popular with the young men of our community. She is connected with the firm for which I work. Now, there is an attractive young widow who seems to be influencing this young lady in my behalf—in fact, she is trying to play the part of Cupid. I am fond of this widow, for she is like a mother to me and takes an immense interest in my welfare. Would you think it advisable to marry this young lady, provided she will consent to do so, on $120 a month? Of course my expenses are heavy, as my business compels me to spend a great deal of money on social affairs. The young lady does not give me any encouragement, but the widow continually informs me that I can have her for the asking. SIMON."

I can't tell you, Simon, whether you could win her heart or not. If there is no one else ahead of you in the field, and if you are as good as the average young man, I see no reason why you could not win if you want to. You could live quite comfortably on the salary you mention.

* *

They Are "Cute."

"Dear Miss Libbey: Three little maids are we—cute, swell dressers, and we are considered by all our friends attractive. Please do not think we are conceited. We only want you to know the true facts. We are all members of the village choir and are deeply in love with the choirmaster. O, Miss Libbey, he's the dearest man! He has a tenor voice that has got Caruso beaten. He has gone with all of us—at different times, of course—but we can't decide which one he really loves. We are sure he loves one of us. Since we are such good friends we hate to have this come up between us, and any two of us would give in to the fortunate one. Can you not tell us how to find out which one of us he loves? THE INSEPARABLES."

Can't do it, Inseparables! There isn't any sure way for me to tell. One thing is certain! You can't all marry the choirmaster, can you? By showering attentions on him as you have been doing you probably have made him so conceited it would be a hard matter to live with him. I don't know how you are going to find out which one he likes best if he isn't willing to speak for himself.

The Colorful Beet.

PEOPLE who would learn to like beets should begin in the summer time to eat them. The new beet boiled and sliced or chopped and served simply with butter is delicious. It may be molded in cups and turned out on a lettuce leaf, if chopped, or served in a circle of mashed potato. It is good with a cream sauce with a little extra seasoning, but to appreciate best its own natural majesty the partaker thereof should eat it with the butter simply.

This beet is about the only thing that we make, as it were, temporary pickles of, but by boiling the vinegar before covering the slices with it—letting it cool a little—and sealing the pickle a more permanent sort may be made, and made when the beets are most sweet and inexpensive. This is an agreeable winter pickle, but one which never goes as far as most other sorts; on the other hand, it is more less trouble to make. It is also one of the least expensive of pickles.

Some people do not have beets on their tables as often as they would enjoy them because they seem troublesome things to prepare. But the real trouble is that we do not get into the habit of using them. They take longer to cook, but are really no more trouble to prepare than potatoes.

Imperial Beets—Boil a quarter of a peck of beets until done. Strip off the skins and put them in a chopping bowl. Chop fine, season highly with salt and pepper and a generous piece of butter, and serve hot.—Mrs. J. Allen, Muscatine, Ia.

Beets with Butter Sauce.—Put one-half pint of pickled beets in a saucepan, pour cold water over them, and let them stand one hour, then pour this off and put over them one cup of fresh water, one tablespoon of sugar, one teaspoonful of butter rubbed in a little flour. Let boil for twenty minutes and serve.—Mrs. John L. Tapley, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Baked Beets I.—Beets retain their sweet flavor to perfection if baked. Select large ones, wash well, put into oven moderately hot, and turn often, but do not use a fork, as that would make them bleed. Bake three to three and a half hours. Peel and season with butter, pepper, and salt.—Mrs. O. W. Mayer, 4427 Dover street.

Baked Beets II.—Wash two bunches of beets well and place in dripping pan to roast with a little water. Replenish as water cooks away. Bake slowly in a moderate oven three hours. When soft peel them and season to taste with butter, pepper, and salt.—Mrs. Henry B. Stephens, 4852 Wabash avenue.

Beet salad.—Boil four medium sized beets until tender, remove skins, scoop out center with spoon, fill cavity with mixture of chopped beet centers, finely chopped celery, and dressing—arrange on lettuce leaves. Dressing: One teaspoon dry mustard, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vinegar, two teaspoons sour, one-third cup vinegar, one beaten egg. Mix dry ingredients, add egg and vinegar slowly, cook over boiling water until mixture thickens, thin with a little milk.—C. B.

Hot Beet Salad.—Boil two large or four small beets until tender and peel and cut in small slices while hot. Cut one bunch of celery into one-half inch pieces. Cook two slices of bacon cut in small pieces until brown, add one tablespoon of flour and one-half cup of vinegar. Cook until it thickens and pour over the celery and beets.—Grace Hays, Rogers Park, Ill.

Grated Beets and Horseradish.—This is a delicious relish at a small cost. Use one stick of horseradish to four large boiled beets. Add vinegar enough to just cover and a little salt. This amount of these two vegetables grated together and prepared in the above manner supplies a relish sufficient for six meals.—N. K. Alschuler, 3743 Wilton avenue.

Savory Beets.—Boil beets until tender and skin. Cut across into small pieces and heat in saucepan with two tablespoons of vinegar, a lump of butter, and a little salt.—M. N. Lee, 5615 Monroe avenue.

Pickled Beets.—Five medium sized beets, one tablespoon salt. Boil beets until tender, drain, and let them cool. Remove skins, slice and cover with vinegar, salt, and one-half teaspoon of sugar.—Frances Richardson, 4119 Lake avenue.

* *

French Fried Onions.—Peel onions, cut into one-fourth inch slices and separate into rings. Dip in milk, drain and dip in flour. Fry in deep fat, drain on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.—Mrs. F. E. Nagel, La Grange, Ill.

ACTION TODAY ON STEPHENSON CASE

Senate Committee Will Take Up the Question of His Right to Seat.

CHARGE OF BRIBE MADE.

Wisconsin Legislature Asked Federal Body to Make Inquiry Into Affair.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—The election of Senator Isaac Stephenson by the Wisconsin legislature will be investigated by the United States senate. The committee on privileges and elections, which has the matter under advisement, will have a meeting tomorrow, and the indications are that it will recommend an inquiry.

Whether the senate will be advised to undertake a comprehensive investigation at once or a preliminary inquiry ordered for the purpose of determining the justification of a more extended inquisition will be considered by the committee. In either event there will be an examination of the charges and the supporting evidence by the senate committee.

Some senators are convinced that the charges warrant an investigation as exhaustive as that being made in the Lorimer case. On the other hand, Senator Stephenson's friends contend that the evidence of corruption alleged to exist is of a flimsy character, and that the senate should not embark upon an expensive investigation without making a preliminary survey of the case.

Claims of Stephenson Men.

The Stephenson supporters believe that if the committee decides to conduct a preliminary inquiry it will report to the senate that the matter should be dropped for want of valid evidence.

Eight of the fifteen members of the elections committee are engaged in hearing the evidence in the Lorimer case. If any of these are designated to act as inquisitors in the Stephenson case, it will be necessary to await the conclusion of testimony in the Lorimer case. It is possible that a subcommittee composed of members not on the Lorimer committee will be appointed, in which event the Stephenson investigation may start at once or at least as soon as congress adjourns.

The original request for an investigation of Senator Stephenson's election came from the Wisconsin legislature, which a few days ago adopted a joint resolution declaring the title to his seat tainted. The resolution, which also called upon the senate to determine his right to a place in that body, was sent directly to the upper house and referred to the committee.

Lumber Interests Involved.

It is charged that Senator Stephenson owes his seat in the senate to purchased votes in the Wisconsin legislature. It has been represented that the senator spent more than $200,000 to obtain his election. The lumber interests are involved and Edward Hines has been mentioned as instrumental in landing Mr. Stephenson in the senate.

One of the witnesses in the Lorimer case reported Hines as expressing disappointment in the course that Stephenson took in advocating free lumber after all the trouble that Hines had been to in obtaining the venerable lumberman a seat in the senate. Hines denied having made any such statement, or having had any hand in Stephenson's election.

MERCANTILE DIRECTORS VOTE TO MERGE WITH BANKERS.

Morgan Interests to Control One of the Biggest Trust Companies in the Country as Result of Combination.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—The Mercantile Trust company, which was owned by the Equitable Life Assurance society until a few weeks ago, when 12,941 shares were sold to a group of men affiliated with the Bankers' Trust company, will shortly be merged with the latter organization.

In the process the name and identity of the Mercantile Trust company will be lost, making the Bankers' one of the largest trust companies in point of deposits in the country. The other, the Guaranty Trust company, as well as the Bankers' Trust, is closely associated with the Morgan interests.

Directors of the Mercantile, some of whom have also served on the Bankers' Trust company board, voted today to enter into the merger, which had previously been approved by the latter. Under the terms of the agreement stockholders of the Mercantile will receive a cash dividend of $50 a share in addition to an exchange, share for share, for stock of the Bankers' Trust company.

Mercantile stock has been quoted at 730-745 and the Bankers' at 695-710. It will be necessary for the Bankers' to increase its capital from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 to provide for the exchange.

The Equitable received $730 per share and the current quarterly dividend of $10 per share when it sold its Mercantile stock. As of the date of their last statement, the Bankers' Trust company had gross deposits of $94,062,532 and the Mercantile had $66,405,054, which would give the enlarged institution after the merger total deposits of $160,467,586.

ATTACKS TWO CENT FARE LAW.

Master in Chancery Says Illinois Statute Is Confiscatory as Applied to One Railroad.

Springfield, Ill., July 19.—Walter McClellan Allen, master in chancery of the United States court in the southern district of Illinois, today filed a report in which he holds that the 2 cent passenger fare act passed by the legislature of 1908 is unconstitutional as far as it affects the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis railway, because it is confiscatory.

He says the railroad is unable to earn enough on its intrastate passenger traffic to earn 6 per cent on the value of the property used in transportation.

He recommends that the decree be so conditioned that a rate of 3 cents per mile shall be the maximum chargeable to intrastate passengers on the line of said railway.

300 INVALIDS ATTEND NOVENA

Infirm from Many Quarters Attend Services at St. Anne's.

SEVERAL CURES RECORDED.

Child Walks for First Time; Men Leave Crutches in Church.

The halt, the lame, and the blind, to the number of 300, gathered at the church of St. Anne de Brighton Park, South California avenue and West Thirty-eighth street, and listened reverently last night in the dim light of the sanctuary lamp to the words of a priest as he told of the life and labors of St. Anne.

The evening services of the second day of the annual novena in her honor were in progress. The Rev. Father John Daly, of Milwaukee preached and explained the Catholic practice of honoring the relics of saints.

Relics Merely Instruments.

"But it must be remembered," the priest concluded, "there is no inherent merit in the hem of a garment or a bone from the wrist of St. Anne. They are only used as instruments in the performance of the will of God. You must look beyond the relic and realize that whatever good may be accomplished through it is the expression of the power of God."

The cures at past novenas are attracting large crowds, both of the curious and the believers. The capacity of the church was taxed at all three services yesterday. Fifteen hundred people were in attendance in the evening.

First Cure of Novena.

A large glass case in the front of the church containing crutches, trusses, and canes left by invalids who have been cured has received several additions since the opening of the Novena on Tuesday.

A child of 5 years who had never gained the use of his limbs walked for the first time on Tuesday. His mother had brought him two years in succession to attend every service during the nine days of the novena. After the evening service on Tuesday the boy walked, aided by his mother, and a little wheel chair was left standing in the front of the church as a memento of the first cure of this novena.

GOVERNMENT EXPERTS FIND LUMBER INQUIRY BIG TASK.

Men from Department of Justice Kept Busy Going Over Evidence Gathered by Federal Grand Jury.

A larger task than was anticipated was encountered by the government experts engaged in going over the federal grand jury evidence in connection with the lumber investigation. Clark McKercher, assistant to Attorney General Wickersham, announced yesterday that it will probably take ten days or more to complete the work. He is being assisted by Elwood G. Godman and Oliver E. Pagin, government indictment expert.

What action, if any, will be taken against lumber concerns and when it will be taken Mr. McKercher explained he could not say at the present time.

DECLARES WOMEN WASTE BILLIONS

University Bulletin Says They Are Extravagant and Ignorant of Money Values.

PREY OF ADVERTISERS?

They Should Be Trained to Spend Wisely, Assert Wisconsin Authorities.

Madison, Wis., July 19.—[Special.]—Women are extravagant—super-extravagant—in the opinion of teachers in the University of Wisconsin.

Instead of being the best bargain drivers, as widely held, they are ignorant of the value of money, and are wasteful to the extent of billions yearly, these authorities say.

A bulletin just issued by the course in home economics in the university declares that over $10,000,000,000 are spent in the United tSates annually for food, shelter, and clothing, and that 90 per cent of this vast sum is spent by women who have no adequate knowledge of money values.

Subject to Advertisers' Skill?

In any other phase of life, it is declared in the bulletin, the persons intrusted with such expenditures would be required to pass through a rigid system of training. Women are subject to the skill of the advertiser, it is declared, without any knowledge that will enable them to determine whether a certain advertised article is worth what is claimed for it or whether it will be of any value in the home. The average homemaker, it is asserted, disposes of money as her mother did before her or as her neighbor spends her money.

The state is taxed, the bulletin continues, to provide instruction in the principles governing the production of raw material and the manufacture of these raw materials into the finished product. Women should be trained to use this material so that there will be the least possible waste of time or money and the best results obtained.

Should Save Every Month.

If the mother does not understand the principles of food selection, how to choose clothing materials that are worth the price asked for them, and how to manage the household money affairs of the home so as to have her books show a balance for the savings bank every month, the whole efficiency of that home will be lessened.

MILK GOES UP; INQUIRY BEGUN.

District Attorney in Boston Starts Investigation of Boost in Price to 9 Cents.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—Following indictments found against milk contractors and producers for conspiracy in restraint of trade, the district attorney has begun an investigation into the advance in milk in Boston from 8 to 9 cents a quart to ascertain whether the increase is warranted.

MENOMINEE, MICHIGAN

Is the Choicest Spot in the Middle West for Both!

Hundreds of factories that were formerly located in big cities and in highly organized communities are fast moving away to smaller towns. One of the greatest reasons for the change is the greater contentment of labor in smaller towns and its close relation to the work of the manufacturer. In Menominee every laborer is, in a sense, a partner in the business, and his company's interest is his interest. He has been encouraged to acquire property and the manufacturer has, in many cases, aided him financially in the building of his home.

Here the standard of living is not extravagant. Everything is democratic and labor troubles and strikes are practically unknown.

This close relationship of both in the economy of manufacturing makes for conditions that are profitable to both. We have here the most splendid Americanism to be found anywhere in the Middle West, and on this is founded material success.

Added to these excellent labor conditions are the advantages of cheap power and fine shipping facilities. It is a fundamental fact also that, as the farming community around any city improves, it builds up that city from a business viewpoint. Menominee county is fast becoming the banner county of Michigan in the richness of its agriculture, and there are the finest farms of the State within its borders. The market for home made goods is growing every day, and tributary to this market is that of the rich lands of Northern Wisconsin.

The Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroads carry our manufactured products to the heart of Chicago quicker than it can be reached even from the outlying manufacturing district of Chicago itself. Boat lines ply between Menominee and all important points on Lake Michigan, thus placing us within a few hours of a great, rich purchasing population of over five million people.

We Want Only Manufacturers Who Are Responsible

The Commercial Club is willing to help bona fide manufacturers in getting located here, but we will not help any but those who mean business. We want earnest men who will be a credit to Menominee and themselves—men who have been successes in other places. We invite inquiry from manufacturers who want to benefit their business by moving to Menominee—the most advantageous place in the Middle West.

DISTRESS AT WILLIAMS BAY.

If distinguished but overwrought members of the astronomical colony at Williams Bay do not pack the big telescope with high explosives and endeavor to blow out the star studded dome of the heavens it will be because the astronomical nature is a quiet, self-contained, well poised, much enduring, philosophically calm nature.

Williams Bay has another comet on its hands. The destruction which follows in the wake of one is the work largely of inquiring humans. Halley's comet was a severe trial. When it had taken its unregretted departure and when journalistic and other distressingly human assaults on the astronomical intelligence had ceased, the scientists endeavored to regain their peace of mind and their equanimity by watching the chickens and thinking of baking powder biscuit for dinner.

Now again, alarmed by the approach of a disturber in the skies, we wish to know whether it will hit the earth and poison us with its gases or blow up and have us dodging pieces, whether it is friendly or hostile, what it means by coming anyway, and where it thinks it is going, whether it was the cause of the hot weather and what effect it will have on next winter, whether we have to fight it or need only bow to it in passing.

Comets may not teach astronomers much about comets, but they are likely to teach them a great deal about human nature.

ROBBERY ON STREET CARS.

For several weeks THE TRIBUNE has been in receipt of communications concerning the robbery and other mistreatment of street car passengers on lines leading to western suburbs. These instances of crime and rowdyism usually occur on Sunday in the afternoon or evening when the cars are crowded with persons returning from a day in the country.

There have been several instances where thieves held up and robbed men in these crowded cars and beat them if they resisted. Such outrageous happenings have long been of common occurrence about New York, but they have been infrequent in Chicago until a year or two. The overcrowded condition of the cars aids pickpockets in their work. The conductor is helpless with a hundred men and women aboard his car. The street car companies owe it to their passengers to protect them from robbery and insult. They could afford to put special policemen on each car every Sunday for this purpose.

KEEP UP THE SEARCH.

The state's attorney announces that he has been deceived by the chief witness he relied upon to connect the indicted labor leaders with the Altman murders. He therefore nolle prossed the cases against O'Donnell, Garvin, and Kearney, his duty in the circumstances.

Friends of union labor and the public generally will hope that these men are indeed innocent, but they will also hope that the state's attorney will yet be successful in running down not merely the doers of violence but those who incited, abetted, and profited by the anarchy which has reigned in the labor world during the last few months.

SCIENTIFIC MANAGEMENT AND GOLF.

Mr. Frederick W. Taylor, the "father of scientific management," is now going to apply his efficiency theories to golf. Being fond of the game he believes he can improve certain of the conditions under which it is played. One of these is the quality of the grass, and he is experimenting with various kinds in order to discover which is the most favorable to the ball.

He may hit on a combination of seed which will make the negotiation of a hole a simpler matter than it now is, but he might arrive at the result more quickly by pushing his investigations into the total depravity of inanimate things, such as the ball itself, and the sticks.

THE TRUTH IN A MORASS.

The contradictions and conflicts in testimony in the Lorimer inquiry before the senate subcommittee cannot be explained on the hypothesis that the witnesses are tricked by their memory. Purposeful misrepresentation is being made before the committee, which can only hope that efforts to get at the facts will reveal who are the bearers of false testimony.

Enough evidence has been produced in regard to one important phase of the investigation—that involved in the story of Mr. Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company—to warrant an examination of the testimony for probability, plausibility, and possible motives.

Mr. Funk told the committee that shortly after Mr. Lorimer's election to the senate—he could not say whether it was five days or ten days, but shortly afterward—Mr. Edward Hines, approaching him in the Union League club, told him that it had cost $100,000 to elect Lorimer, that it had to be done hurriedly, and that now "they were looking for a few big people" to put up $10,000 each and make up the fund.

Mr. Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, testified before the committee that shortly after this meeting Mr. Funk came to him and reported what Mr. Hines had said.

Mr. Edgar A. Bancroft, general counsel of the harvester company, testified that Mr. Funk had told him of the request made by Mr. Hines.

All this was in May, 1909, over two years ago. A year later the first investigation of Mr. Lorimer's election was ordered. Except for telling Mr. H. H. Kohlsaat, editor of the Chicago Record-Herald, the Hines story in confidence, Mr. Funk kept mum. The investigation proceeded and this evidence was not offered the investigators. They came to their conclusions, made their report, and the long, bitter fight was started in the senate, the contest which resulted in sustaining the validity of Mr. Lorimer's election by a vote of 46 to 40. Not a word from Funk, McCormick, or Bancroft.

Mr. Kohlsaat made some use of his information, cloaking it in confidence. Senator La Follette, thus hearing it, pleaded with his informant to produce the witnesses. That Mr. Kohlsaat could not do. The senate gave its verdict. The case was thought to be closed. That was the end of it. The men possessing this information allowed the case to be closed and no reference was made to what they knew of it.

At this point the reader, bewildered by the contradictions at Washington, will ask himself where entered the plot to destroy Mr. Lorimer—the only conceivable theory on which the Funk story can be construed as deliberately false. For nearly two years these secrets were preserved. They were divulged on compulsion. If Mr. Funk had been acting as Mr. Lorimer's friend he hardly could have been more reticent. He was much more reticent than Mr. Hines.

To recapitulate: Mr. Funk's story was told two years ago to the men it concerned; it was told a year ago to Mr. Kohlsaat; no use was made of it when Mr. Lorimer's seat was in jeopardy.

Now for Mr. Hines' version: On March 28, 1911, Mr. Hines was before the Helm committee. Mr. Kohlsaat did not testify until the following day. Mr. Funk did not testify until April 5.

Mr. Hines was asked if he ever had discussed with any one the question of raising money to defray the cost of Mr. Lorimer's election, or to aid it, or if he had heard of money being raised or used before or after the election, or of any money which was to be raised after the election to defray the expenses of it. To this Mr. Hines replied: "Absolutely no."

Mr. Kohlsaat had not testified. Mr. Funk had not testified. Mr. Hines knew nothing.

Yet, after Mr. Kohlsaat testified and after Mr. Funk testified, Mr. Hines discovered that he knew a great deal. He knew that Mr. Funk, meeting him as Mr. Funk had said, in the Union League club, had mentioned the matter of expenses connected with the Lorimer election, had suggested that the cost should not be borne by Mr. Lorimer unaided, and spoke of his willingness to contribute.

This after Mr. Funk had testified. Mr. Funk, said Mr. Hines, was bitterly opposed to Mr. Lorimer. That might suggest a motive for his testimony. It also might suggest a motive for his willingness to contribute to the campaign fund. Mr. Hines did not take the pains to reconcile his testimony with his theories.

Then, also, comes testimony corroborative of Mr. Hines. Fred Carney, a lumberman of Marinette, Wis.; Charles L. Hall, a lumber buyer for Hines; and Isaac Baker, another lumber buyer for Hines—all lumber. They, it is suddenly recalled, were in the Union League club with Hines the day after the Lorimer election. Funk came up to Hines, shook hands with him, expressed his pleasure that Mr. Lorimer had been elected, asked to be introduced to the new senator, and drew Hines aside for a private conversation. When Hines had returned to the group he said that the man was Funk.

All four were sitting on a couch. Mr. Carney did not hear any of the conversation between Mr. Hines and Mr. Funk, although Mr. Carney sat next to Mr. Hines. He says Mr. Hines walked several feet forward to meet Mr. Funk. Mr. Hall heard the conversation until Mr. Funk drew Mr. Hines further away. Mr. Baker heard it. Mr. Hall and Mr. Baker are employés of Hines.

These witnesses forgot all about the incident until their memories were refreshed by subsequent events and by Mr. Hines. Then they remembered such details as the exact spot on Mr. Hines' left arm which Mr. Funk grasped as he drew him aside. Mr. Baker could not recall for a long time who was with him and Mr. Hines, but he remembered the spot and he remembered the words which Mr. Carney, sitting next to Hines, could not hear.

Mr. Lorimer's election was unchallenged when Mr. Funk told his story to Mr. McCormick and Mr. Bancroft. There had been no mention of bribery in connection with it at that time.

No use was made of that story when Mr. Lorimer's seat was in danger. It was told under compulsion after the case unexpectedly had been reopened.

Mr. Hines' story was told for the first time after Mr. Lorimer and Mr. Hines had been put in jeopardy the second time. The details of the corroborative evidence produced to sustain Mr. Hines' story of that part of the conversation which is said to have been overheard were recalled to the memory of witnesses who admittedly had forgotten nearly everything about it.

Somewhere in these conflicting stories there is the truth, and they may be examined for probability, plausibility, and motive.

THE PROGRESSIVE ALLIANCE.

As a practical thought for the progressive Republicans it may be suggested that division into two factions will result in a confusion which can benefit only their enemies.

It may be admitted that among the men enlisted for the work under the leadership of Gov. Deneen and his legislative allies there are some who commend themselves very little to thoughtful and observing citizens. If their devotion be genuine their conversion at least has been rapid.

The question, however, is larger than that of a few men. Chicago progressives who are tempted to cut loose from all political organizations and make their own campaign in their own way, should consider one important thing. By doing so they will limit themselves practically to the Cook county field. They may be able to develop considerable strength in Chicago. Their influence will stop at the city lines.

A state wide movement cannot be conducted from Chicago by Chicagoans however enthusiastic they may be. There has been enough experience along this line to convince any one who will examine the record of reform movements. Down state politicians ask for nothing easier than the chance to push over a Chicago endeavor of this character.

If there is to be one movement in Chicago and another down state and both conflicting in Cook county it may be a cause of joy to the opposition, but it will be of small benefit to the progressives.

IS AN OATH WORTHLESS?

During the prosecution of Lee O'Neil Browne an interesting debate took place as to whether bribery is a crime in Illinois.

That there could be doubt on such a question was humiliating to every good citizen of the state.

There has been a glib giving of testimony before the United States senate subcommittee investigating the Lorimer election that will move all men to wonder whether perjury is a crime in the United States.

If some political geographer could devise a ward redistricting map which would insure the easy reëlection of all the sitting aldermen, it would pass the city council unanimously.

If you want to win, hold your convention in Chicago. A table compiled by the Macon, Ga., Telegraph, shows that of eleven national gatherings of both parties held here since 1856 eight nominated winning tickets and three losers. The next best showing is Philadelphia with two winners and one loser.

"With the advent of direct primaries and new civil service laws," declares the Lorimer-Lincoln league, "the various organizations which for years have been dealing in political jobs are dissolute and dead." Most of them were dissolute enough before, especially the organization led by William Lorimer.

The legion of former Chicago teachers who now preside over their own households doubtless agree with Mrs. John C. MacMahon that the schools are no place for married women.

If Dr. Wiley would consent to recant on his benzoate of soda theories would all be forgiven him?

The evening edition shouts: "We did it," and the morning edition insists "We did it." If the matter is of so much importance they might shake dice for it.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright, 1911: By the Brentwood Company.]

QUEEN MARY has decided to revive the state concerts, which were a feature of the reign of Queen Victoria but were abandoned by her son and successor. Queen Mary, like Victoria, appreciates that there are a number of elderly persons, peers and peeresses, retired ambassadors and ambassadresses, veteran generals and admirals, and white and gray haired people who, as former distinguished servants of the crown and of the government, have some claim to attention on the part of the sovereign, and yet whom it is foolish to invite to state balls, seeing that their dancing days are long since over and that they are merely in the way of the younger element.

It is hardly any compliment to invite them to a state ball which they do not enjoy, whereas they were wont to take a delight in the state concerts, which were held by Queen Victoria throughout her reign for their particular benefit.

When she was on the throne there were two of these state concerts every season for the older people, alternating with two, and sometimes three, state balls for the younger element, neither interfering in any way with the afternoon drawing rooms, which have now been converted into post-prandial courts.

Both Queen Mary and her husband are of the opinion that by means of a revival of the state concerts they will diminish the great crush which has characterized the state balls at Buckingham palace since Queen Victoria's death and, at the same time, will afford much satisfaction to an important class of people who were rather neglected during the reign of Edward VII.

At the state concerts, which will in the future as formerly take place in the State ballroom, a stately apartment, 130 feet long and broad in proportion, full court dress is worn, as at the courts and state balls. The general company will take their places without regard to precedence or rank, after the ambassadors and ambassadresses, the ministers plenipotentiary and their wives, and the duchesses have been conducted to their seats.

It is only then that the royal procession enters, led by the lord chamberlain, the lord steward of the household, the master of the household, and its controller, with white wands of office in hand, walking backwards—that is to say, facing the sovereign—and the other royalties comprised in the procession.

The seats of the king and queen and of the princes and princesses of the blood are in the front row of the audience, slightly in advance of the rest. As soon as they have taken their places the concert begins, the instrumental music being furnished usually by the sovereign's private band, in picturesque uniform.

The vocal part of the program consists of solos or duets by operatic stars whose honorariums for the occasion always have been extremely small, it being considered their principal remuneration consisted in the advertisement they derived from the official announcement they had received "royal commands" to sing before the sovereign at a state concert. The honorarium, even to the greatest artists, used to range between $50 and $100.

One of the most bitterly resented penalties suffered by Patti for her association with Nicolini before they were free to wed was the refusal by Queen Victoria to permit her to sing at any of those state concerts at which she had previously been the bright particular feature.

Victoria declined throughout her life to sanction the so widely accepted theory that the possession of genius or of unique gifts warrants the defiance of the proprieties of life, and the conventions of society.

The artistes almost invariably received, in addition to their honorarium, a gift of jewelry from the sovereign. But although they usually were addressed at the close of the concert by the principal royal personages present, and complimented, yet they were rigorously separated from the remainder of the guests, with whom they were not permitted to mingle, and they were thoroughly given to understand that they had no such right as the invited guests, each of whom was obliged to have been previously presented at court, in due form.

In fact, there never has been any toleration at these state concerts of pretensions on the part of artistes, who in the case of private entertainments, not content with receiving a large check for their services, insist upon being treated as the most distinguished of the guests, by way of tribute to their genius.

There is little or no applause at these state concerts; certainly none until the principal royal personage present has given the signal for it, and then it is very subdued and discreet.

The concerts in the reign of Queen Victoria usually lasted about an hour and a half, and then the royal procession again formed and, conducted as before by the great dignitaries of the court, who progressed again crab fashion, that is to say backward three steps and then a bow, followed by three side steps, and then another bow, etc., it made its way to a private supper room to which usually the foreign ambassadors and ambassadresses and several of the most notable guests present were specially summoned by the gentlemen in waiting.

The remainder of the guests adjourned to supper in another apartment; a feature of the repast being a special brew of hock cup, invented by George IV. The leading artistes of the concert supped in a third room, and as soon as they had finished were conducted out of the palace by an exit entirely distinct from that of the remainder of the guests.

It is only fair to add that in spite of this somewhat invidious treatment of the artistes, masculine as well as feminine, there never was any difficulty about obtaining their services, while the music at these state concerts at Buckingham palace was uniformly of the most excellent character.

Strange is the fate that seems to overtake the most famous explorers, who, so often, after escaping from extraordinary dangers in barbarous and unknown regions, are overtaken by utterly commonplace and withal fatal accidents at home.

Thus, John Speke, one of the discoverers of the sources of the Nile, after the most hairbreadth escapes from death in Central Africa returned in safety and wholly uninjured to England, only to be killed through an accidental discharge of his gun while out rabbit shooting in the neighborhood of Bath.

I could mention dozens of similar instances which are recalled to my mind by the news that Sir Francis Younghusband, the famous explorer of central Asia, of western China, of Chinese Turkestan, of the Gobi desert, of Thibet, and of all those little known regions in which the great river Brahmaputra takes its source, has been knocked down and run over by an automobile in Belgium, while walking in the vicinity of Spa. His injuries are dangerous.

Sir Francis, whose father and paternal grandfather were distinguished generals of the Anglo-Indian army, was a cavalry officer before joining the Indian political service.

He married the widow of Col. T. Vesey Dawson of the Coldstream guards. Until last year, when he retired from the service, by way of protest against the policy then inaugurated by the British government in central Asia, and the undoing of all the good work that he had accomplished in Thibet, he was British resident, that is to say, plenipotentiary, in Cashmere, one of the most important posts in England's great Indian empire.

"THE FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE."

STONY ISLAND AVENUE LOOP TO OPEN.

For several months "The Friend of the People" department has contained communications concerning the Stony Island avenue line of the Chicago City railway company, the tracks of which were laid, but over which no cars have been run. It was explained in this column that the reason the cars were not operated was a dispute between the company and the south park commissioners over the conditions imposed by the latter in consideration of the tracks crossing Fifty-seventh street and the Midway.

These differences have now been adjusted and the cars will be put in operation next Sunday. The line has been much desired by a large body of residents through whose district it runs.

BELTS VS. SUSPENDERS AT THE CRERAR.

Chicago, July 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—During the hot spell I visited the John Crerar library. It was so excessively hot I removed my coat. I saw others with coats removed. The librarian presently approached me and said the rules of the library forbid the removal of coats if suspenders or vests were worn—wouldn't I put my coat on again? I obliged him. But I noticed he ignored the coatless readers with shirtwaists, so-called. Is it because the shirtwaist is the insignia of the exploiting—i. e., the business—class, and the vest and suspenders that of the proletariat? To my democratic mind it looks like snobbery.
C. P.

The letter is an accurate statement of the fact, but not of the reason for our rules. We do not care to answer, but if you grint at all you might point out to the man the difference between dress and undress. It is upon that difference that our rule is based, and as a matter of fact a belt is no more out of reach of the "proletariat" than a pair of suspenders.

Librarian.

CONDITION OF HYDE PARK STREETS.

Chicago, July 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Through your popular column I desire to call attention to the condition of some of the streets in Hyde Park. (1) Why is Cottage Grove avenue, between Fifty-first and Fifty-ninth streets, in its present condition? Part of it has been unusable for the last five weeks. (2) Why is it that certain streets in Hyde Park are sprinkled almost hourly, while the majority are neglected? Even Fifty-fifth street, which I understand the street car company is supposed to look after, is rarely wet down. The cars and automobiles using the street stir up clouds of germ laden dust at all hours of the day and night.
A PUBLIC SPIRITED CITIZEN.

Cottage Grove avenue is in the hands of the contractor for new pavement, as is also Madison avenue. Fifty-fifth street is flushed every morning and sprinkled every afternoon, the right of way being sprinkled four times daily. Good service is given on this street. Lack of funds prevents a more general use of flushers in Hyde Park.
F. W. SOLON, Acting Supt. of Streets.

ADMISSION TO COUNTY INSTITUTIONS.

Chicago, July 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—When a cripple or physically incapacitated person, without home or means of support, is found begging on the streets, what steps can be taken to secure entrance into some of the county institutions provided for the care of such cases?

REMOVING STAGNANT WATER.

Chicago, July 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A writer, A. B. L., asks for an explanation of why there are so many mosquitoes this year. Possibly the fact of a lot of rubbish being dumped for roadmaking may solve the question in his case, but I would like to ask if there are any vacant lots, like we have at Dearborn avenue and Division street, in his vicinity. This lot was excavated some years ago and for some reason was not built upon. It has been the scene of several accidents, and is now covered with stagnant water, which is well known to be the breeding ground of the pests complained about. Let us hope that the health commissioner will see that proper remedies are applied to such places to prevent the breeding of the disease carrying mosquitoes.
G. T. C.

1201-9 Dearborn avenue, corner of Division street. Notice was served upon the owner July 1, 1911, to "remove accumulations of foul, stagnant water from premises, provide adequate appliances for the complete removal of stagnant water, and operate such appliances so as to prevent nuisance, or fill the excavation to surface and remove accumulation of refuse and decaying matter." This is an excavation of considerable extent, with the bottom covered with stagnant water below the sewer level in the street. An inspection shows that a pump has been installed, the water is practically gone, and the garbage and refuse being carted away. Water leaking from a hydrant on street corner was reported to the water pipe extension department.

IMPROVING SANITARY CONDITIONS

Chicago, July 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I reported a case to the health department over a week ago, and as they have done nothing to remedy same I am compelled to place the matter before you. There is a barn next door to our house, the barn being used by the owner of a grocery store. We have a foot of land between our house and this barn. All the articles that are not fit to be sold, such as decayed fruit and vegetables, together with the daily garbage, is put on this piece of land (which belongs to us), and laid against our house. This matter has lain there for weeks, the amount increasing day after day. When the heat is as intense as it was lately the odor is something terrible. We have a window facing this place and we are forced to keep it closed owing to the condition of this place.

They also make use of this foot of land by placing decayed wood there, and they place it directly below the window. I could not give you the number of this barn, because it is only a part of another lot bought to accommodate the store and, therefore, has no number. Our number is 1814 Seward street, and the barn is next door north. The landlord of this barn lives at 1809 Canalport avenue.
ELIZABETH DLOUKY.

No. 1809 Canalport avenue. Notice was served on the owner to remove manure from barn and provide garbage cans for the tenants. Notice was also served on the tenant to remove the manure from barn. There is a considerable accumulation of manure in the barn and evidence that the garbage was not kept in proper receptacles. The complaint was well founded.
THOMAS J. CLAFFY,
Assistant Chief Sanitary Inspector.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

SCHOOLS AND CITIZENSHIP.

O'Fallon, Ill., July 17.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Under the exceedingly appropriate heading of "The Greatest of American Problems," last Friday's TRIBUNE commented interestingly and instructively on Mrs. Emmons Blaine's excellent address on our schools and teachers; and along this line of thought some time ago the writer published an article in THE TRIBUNE stating the views of our old pioneer leaders, Gov. G. A. Koerner, the Rev. John M. Peck, Col. John Thomas, and some others, which called forth favorable editorial comment. These old pioneers held that, next to the parental or family influences in making and molding our coming citizens, the children, are the influences engendered and the courses of instruction in our common schools. They held that two of the chief ends or aims of our schools should be to implant and inculcate the great virtues of honesty and morality so deeply and effectively in the scholars that they would become the forces that would control them in after life.

On these two particular points the older Gov. Yates once said that congress, acting under the general welfare clause of the constitution, should select a commission of scholarly men, satisfactory to all the churches and people, to compile a book especially impressing honesty and morality, out of which every teacher of the common schools in the whole country should read a chapter daily and comment to the scholars; and Gov. Koerner and the other old pioneers held to the same idea. They said such teaching, oral, from the teachers would more deeply impress the scholars than merely getting the same ideas out of their books of recitation, and we all know that to be a fact. What you actually tell and impress upon a child's mind impresses him infinitely more than if he merely reads it. We again call the attention of THE TRIBUNE and other educators especially to this point suggested by the old pioneers and by old Gov. Yates. We all know our schools are not beginning to make such citizens for us as we ought to have. If our common schools were teaching such course of oral and book instruction as they should, it would be rarely that they would ever turn out a boy that would make a jackpotter. Keep the matter before the people until something is done.
JOSEPH B. LEMEN.

NANCE AND THE ROLLER TOWEL.

Chicago, July 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The city council acted wisely in legislating the roller towel out of existence. It has been allowed in public lavatories too long already. Ald. Nance, who fathered the ordinance and fought for it in committee and in the council, deserves the thanks of the community for instituting and supporting this bit of useful sanitary legislation. Some managers of factories and the cheaper hotels will doubtless be slow in furnishing individual towels for their employés and patrons, but the provisions of the ordinance, backed by public sentiment, will soon bring about relief from a condition of affairs which is a heritage of presanitary days.
ELLEN CARMODY.

TWO INQUIRIES AND A REPLY.

Chicago, July 17.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Bailiff Hunter of the Municipal court has just made another report for the last six months showing number of defendants and writs served, etc. Will you be kind enough to supply the answers to the following two questions?

1. How much money did the plaintiffs pay as costs and fees into the Municipal court and Hunter's office during the six months covered by his report?

2. How much money was collected by bailiffs on executions and paid over to the plaintiffs or their attorneys during said six months.
JOHN T. DADY.

Chicago, July 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Permit me to say that the gentleman is in error, because I did not make any report. Mr. Hewitt asked permission to examine the records here, which was granted, and he compiled, with the assistance of my chief assistants, such data as he wanted. My records are open to all. We have no secrets. It is a public office. Mr. Dady asks records of the Municipal court that include all departments. I have no authority to speak for Mr. Galpin, although I believe his records are just as public as my own.

I make a yearly statement to the judges, and Chief Justice Olson embodies it in his annual report. As you are aware, my monthly report goes to all of the judges and the newspapers of Chicago. We also have a monthly audit of our office by an expert appointed under the law by the chief justice. If Mr. Dady or any other citizen desires specific information the records are open for his inspection. My final figures for the year, six months, or a day are ready for any one who desires to come here and compile them, but I have not the time or help necessary to answer ambiguous questions for the sake of controversy. I repeat, Mr. Hewitt spent his own time in noting at the facts he desired.
THOMAS M. HUNTER.

FOODSTUFFS AND THE FARMER.

Green Bay, Wis., July 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Why do the newspapers always consider it a calamity when foodstuffs decline, as the other day when the wheat market went off 21½ cents? Surely this means a reduction in the price of flour, and consequently to the benefit of the consumer. One-third of the population are producers—the farmers—while all of the people are consumers. The farmers have been rolling in prosperity for the last ten years, while the rest of the people have suffered. There should be a law prohibiting all speculation in foodstuffs. We have seen within the last two years one man corner the wheat market and increase his millions, while the whole world paid premium. This should be criminal.

U. S. FIRE LOSS CAN CONSTRUCT CANAL

Two Years' Chicago Damage Would Build Gulf Waterway, State Marshal Says.

ARSON PLOT IN 4 STATES.

Fifteen Men at Head of Conspiracy Involving Chief Cities of the Country.

Discussion of the subject "Prevention and Elimination of Fire Hazards," by State Fire Marshal C. J. Doyle, Marshal Seyferlich of the Chicago fire department, and Ald. Dunn at the weekly luncheon of the ways and means committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday in the La Salle hotel developed these facts and recommendations:

Fire loss of the United States for one year would build the Panama canal.

Chicago's fire loss for two years would build the deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf.

State fire marshals of four states are fighting a gigantic firebug conspiracy.

Per capita fire loss of the United States amounts to $2.51, while that of Europe is only 33 cents.

Fire limits in Chicago should be extended to the city limits.

High pressure system should be installed in Chicago as soon as possible, epecially in the stockyards district.

Every building in Chicago should be equipped with an incombustible roof.

Seyferlich Points to Needs.

"There are many obstacles to contend with in a city like Chicago," said Marshal Seyferlich, "as there are so many frame buildings, in the business section as well as the outlying sections. The water supply is also scant in many localities. High pressure water system should be instituted, especially within the loop, manufacturing districts, and the stockyards."

Ald. Dunn, chairman of the fire insurance committee, asserted that it is about time that no roof can be replaced except by an incombustible roof. Shingle roofs, he said, are responsible for the spread of many fires in time of conflagration and dry weather.

State Fire Marshal Doyle said the fire loss of the United States for one year was sufficient to finance the building of the Panama canal and the fire loss in Chicago for two years was large enough to defray the cost of building the deep waterway.

Firebug Plot in Four States.

"Fire marshals of four states—Ohio, Illinois, Tennessee, and Kentucky—" he said, "are coöperating in an effort to break up an organized gang of incendiaries which has its headquarters in Kansas City, and in its ramifications takes in Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Bloomington, Ill.; Nashville, Tenn., and other large cities.

"So wealthy has this firebug syndicate become it is able to employ the best legal talent. If the fire marshal departments of the four states do nothing but place the fifteen members of the gang behind the bars it will more than pay the cost of maintaining the departments."

Will View German Maneuvers.

Capt. E. D. Scott of the Fifth artillery, stationed at Fort Sheridan, will leave Saturday for Germany as representative of America at German maneuvers.

What School?
There Is Only One Best School for Each Boy Or Girl

THE selection of a school—the best school, is an important matter, and as difficult as it is important. The best school for one is not the best school for another. It is a serious question of requirements and qualifications. Each good school offers special advantages. If students of different temperaments, capabilities and purposes could, with equal advantage, attend the same school, the problem of education would be simplified.

The Educational Aid Society, as one of its activities, maintains a School Information Bureau, which supplies, without charge, catalogues of all schools and reliable information concerning the advantages of various institutions and their comparative cost. If you are interested in the selection of a school, describe your wants fully and you will receive, free of charge, catalogues of schools meeting your requirements, as you may indicate as follows: Kind of school desired; preference as to location, (city or state); religious denomination preferred; boarding or day school; expense limit for school year; name of prospective student; age; previous education; course of study desired; purpose in taking the course,—whether to prepare for a profession or only as an accomplishment; when enrollment will be made.

Any special requirements should be fully stated. Immediately, upon receipt of this information, catalogues of schools which offer the advantages desired and a copy of the American College & Private School Directory—a 252-page book, most complete and authentic of its kind—will be forwarded to your address. Send 10c for postage. Free Book School Information Bureau, EDUCATIONAL AID SOCIETY, 1625-77 First National Bank Bldg., Chicago.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—[Special.]—In spite of flukes and boots, the Cubs wrested the final game of the series from the Rustlers today, but not until eleven innings of see-saw and provoking baseball had been played was victory finally achieved by a score of 5 to 3.

Even then it was so close at the finish that if Manager Tenney had sent a substitute to bat for him or if any less seasoned campaigner than Mordecai Brown had been on the slab the verdict might have been wholly different. There were three Rustlers on bases straining to go home when Brown ended the game by striking out Tenney.

Artie Hofman came near tossing off a hard earned conquest by a surprising muff in the ninth inning, and might have accomplished his purpose if Jimmy Doyle had not come to the rescue with a timely home run with one man on the circuit in the eleventh inning.

Stray Bat Earns Run.

At that Hofman's error would not have caused overtime efforts if Providence, which is only forty-four miles away from here, had not intervened in behalf of Boston. A stray bat tossed into the diamond by a Hub batsman stopped a magnificent throw home by Sheckard. That throw would have headed off John Kling and killed off the tying run in the ninth almost as sure as preaching, but the bat held Providence's proxy and intervened.

This strenuous battle started out to be a peaceable pitchers' contest between Toney and Mattern. For several innings it was all of that and nothing more. In these calm rounds the home team scored two runs off Toney as the result of two passes which he issued. In the same period the Cubs were helpless before Mattern's sou'-paw stuff and made only three scattered hits.

Cubs Go Into Lead.

But the eighth put a new complexion on things. The Cubs got to Mattern for four solid, telling hits in quick succession, and these with a long sacrifice fly produced three runs which ought to have won the game. They would have but, for Hofman, who somehow failed to hold a line fly from Spratt at the beginning of Boston's ninth. The ball shot through his hands and hit him on the neck.

In spite of the fact that Brown was pitching, this upset cost a run. Spratt was cut off at the plate later on, but that play produced this situation: Kling on second, Flaherty on first, and two out. Sweeney pulled a single into left and Kling raced home on it. Sheckard's throw was beating Noisy John to the plate by yards when the ball struck Sweeney's carelessly thrown bat, and was deflected from its course so that Kling tied the count.

A pass to Hofman and a home run onto the railroad tracks brought victory in the eleventh, but not until considerable anguish of mind had been suffered in the last half. Spratt drew a pass to start it. Kaiser flied. Kling and Pfeffer singled, filling the circuit with only one out. A fly over either short fence would have won the game, but Sweeney fouled out and Tenney struck out.

Herzog and Miller Back.

The two insurgents, Herzog and Miller, were back in harness and apparently glad to get back at terms which can only be surmised. Herzog was at third, because Spratt has been playing finely at short. That moved Ingerton into the outfield along with Kaiser and Miller, and put Flaherty and Jones on the bench. Herzog played a brilliant game, but Miller had nothing hard to do.

There was an inning and a half of airtight baseball, during which one man on each side reached first base. Herzog scratched a single with two out in the opener, but perished trying to make two corners on it. Tinker was the first Cub to get on. He caught Herzog flatfooted with a bunt toward third, and beat it easily. Two were gone, and Tinker tried to sneak around, but was trapped.

Toney's foot slipped in the second, and it cost a run. He passed Ingerton, first up. Miller forced his predecessor at second, but stole the bag himself in a minute. Spratt flied out. Then Kaiser stung a single into right, scoring Miller. Kaiser went down to second on the throw in, and made third, because Archer relayed the ball wildly to Tinker. Kling struck out.

Archer's Pass of No Avail.

Saier was out in the third when Archer worked Mattern for a sou' paw pass. It was good for one station only, as Toney and Sheckard flew out. In the local half a wild throw by Doyle gave Mattern a life at first. Sweeney forced the pitcher out at second, then was caught stealing just when Tenney popped out.

Hofman tried to start something with a loud single after one out in the fourth. He got no farther than first because Kaiser backed up almost against the fence to catch Zimmy's fly and Doyle popped the side out.

In Boston's fourth Toney issued another round trip pass. He slipped it to Herzog to start. Ingerton's grounder put the insurgent on second. Saier's brief fumble let Miller live at first and then Spratt poked a single to left, scoring Herzog. Hofman gathered flys from Kaiser and Kling.

A procession of three disposed of the Cubs in their fifth. Mattern began the home half with a surprising single to left. Sweeney sacrificed him to second, but he was stopped when he tried to make third on Tenney's rap to Toney. Herzog forced his manager and the side out.

We were putty in Mattern's hands in the sixth, but Boston came near scoring again. Ingerton led off with a single and was sacrificed to second by Miller, but Tinker disposed of Spratt and Kaiser at first by extremely heart disease margins.

Put End to Cub Rally.

A double play choked the life out of an incipient Cub rally in the seventh. Hofman cracked it open with a single to left. Zimmy tried to duplicate it, but Herzog pinched the roller and started a lively double killing. Doyle smashed a liner straight into Sweeney's eager hands.

The Cubs woke up in the eighth and broke down Mattern's guard. Tinker opened the attack with a single, but was forced at second by Saier. Archer sent a screamer to left, and Graham was sent to bat for Toney. Peaches sent a long fly to center and it eluded Kaiser's grasp. Saier scored and Archer reached third. Good was put on to run for Graham. Sheckard hit 11,000,000 fouls in several directions, then smashed a screamer through Tenney so fast the manager did not see it. Archer registered, and Good raced to third. Schulte flied to deep right, scoring Good and letting Sheckard to third. Hofman flied to Ingerton in the far corner of the lot.

Three fingered Brown went to the slab, struck out Herzog, and got rid of Ingerton and Miller on easy chances in the domestic eighth. Another double play froze a budding Cub rally in the ninth. Zimmerman singled to left and was sacrificed ahead by Doyle. Tinker pasted a screamer toward left, but Herzog pinched it on the fly and doubled up Heine off second.

Hofman's Muff Costly.

Hofman spilled the soup in the home half by muffing Spratt's line fly, which struck squarely in his hands. Kaiser sacrificed Jack to second. Kling responded in the pinch with a single to right, but Schulte's perfect throw stopped Spratt at third. Flaherty batted for Mattern and slapped a bounder to Zimmerman, who cut down Spratt at the plate, Kling going to second. Sweeney singled to left and Sheckard made a grand throw home. It looked all over, but fifteen feet in front of the plate was Sweeney's discarded bat. The ball hit it and bounded away, letting Kling in with the tying run. Tenney grounded out.

A single by Zimmerman and a pass to Sheckard put Cubs on second and first with two out in the tenth, but Schulte fouled out. Brown got three Rustlers in a row in their half.

Hofman opened the eleventh with a walk, but Zimmy struck out trying to sacrifice. Doyle settled the argument with a tall fly which dropped over the left field fence just inside the foul line, driving Hofman home ahead of him. Tinker grounded out. Kaiser's muff let Saier live, but only until Herzog threw out Archer.

In the last half a pass and two singles filled the bases with only one out. But Brown did not falter. He got rid of Sweeney on a foul fly and wound up by striking out Manager Tenney.

CUB SYDELIGHTS.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—[Special.]—"Next, Philadelphia."

Three more games will finish the trip.

Home again on Monday.

The Cubs have won seven and lost five games on this trip with three more to play.

The season's series with the Rustlers now stands eleven games to one in favor of Chance's men.

The Cubs left early this evening on the Federal limited for Philadelphia, where they are booked to tackle the league leaders tomorrow.

Some good fielding was required to stop the Cubs in the fifth. Sweeney killed off a hit for Tinker at the start of the half and Herzog robbed Archer by a clever stop and throw at the close of it.

Up to the hour for the Cubs' departure no promoter had come through with the price necessary to purchase either Boston club nor with the composite capital necessary to consolidate them into one modern plant.

Boston and Pittsburg will play a double header here tomorrow. The bargain is a scheduled affair booked for Saturday, but will be staged tomorrow instead so that the Pirates can get an early start for home on Saturday.

Doyle made a quick witted play in the first. Herzog hit a nasty bounder through Tinker, who slowed it so much that Herzog easily could have reached second before Sheckard could get to the ball. Seeing this, Doyle raced back, grabbed the runaway, and threw out the insurgent at second.

It was fortunate for organized baseball that Herzog and Miller sent out some laundry just before they decided to quit baseball. While they were waiting for the laundry to come back so they could pack their trunks the two insurgents lost their yearning for the simple life and were persuaded to stick around.

Sweeney put one over on the Cubs in the eighth. Two were out when Bill laced one cleanly over second. Rounding first he saw no one covering second and Hofman rainbowing the ball back to Tinker. Sweeney dashed for second and made it easily, but it did not hurt, because Tenney popped out.

JOHNNY EVERS LEAVES CUBS TO ROUGH IT IN MOUNTAINS.

Trojan Unable to Regain Strength and May Be Out of Champions' Lineup Balance of Season.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Boston, Mass., July 19.—[Special.]—Johnny Evers did not accompany the Cubs to Philadelphia tonight. Instead he asked and was given permission to go to his home in Troy. The star infielder plans to go into the mountains for a fortnight's outing as soon as his equipment can be put together. He is going out to rough it, where hard work will tire him out physically and produce natural sleep, of which Evers stands in great need.

The present trip has done Johnny little good, as lack of sleep has left him weak and prevented his gaining strength. The excitement of the games and the close pennant race keep John's nerves on edge. His determination to get away from it all was reached after consulting a doctor.

Evers may remain only three or four weeks or may not return to the club this season, depending on how his health is later on.

PHILS TAKE 4 FROM PIRATES

Make Clean Sweep, Winning Final Game by 5-4 Score.

VICTORY COMES IN NINTH.

Three Hits, Error, and Two Walks Bring Two Runs in Last Round.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 19.—Philadelphia won today's game, 5 to 4, and made a clean sweep of the series of four games with Pittsburg. Adams pitched great ball until the ninth inning, when, after the home team tied the score and had men on third and second as the result of three hits and an error by Wagner, he purposely gave Dooin a base on balls and then forced in the winning run with a pass to Titus. Beebe was forced to leave the game in the second inning when he had his right hand injured by a drive off Wilson's bat. Score:

CARDINALS WIN TWO GAMES.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 19.—St. Louis took both games of today's double header, 4 to 2 and 8 to 5. In all but one inning of the first contest Steele was invincible. Brooklyn appeared to have the second game safe, but in the fifth inning Schardt was hit for two home runs, three doubles and a single, which netted seven runs. Scores:

BY SAM WELLER.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, has begun talking about fishing and hunting. There's nothing so remarkable about that to one who hasn't been in close touch with the Old Roman for some years, for every one knows he's especially fond of that line of sport.

But when Comiskey begins to talk about the fish and the partridge and the deer more than he talks about baseball his close friends know he's given up hope of winning a pennant. If one were to ask him today who he thinks will win the pennant in the American league probably he'd argue that the White Sox had a chance yet and would build up some logical line of reasoning to back his opinion. He never will admit he's beaten until counted out.

But back in the summer of 1908, when the White Sox battled until the closing day of the year before they lost the flag, Comiskey had little time to talk of the fall sport in the Wisconsin woods. In those days one found him gay after a game that the Sox had won and despondent after one they had lost.

It was the same way this season until this week. After the Sox had been beaten by Walter Johnson of the Washington club the friends of the Old Roman approached his private office gingerly after the game, expecting to find him glum and discouraged. To their surprise he was in good spirits and, after a few brief remarks about the game, he swung into the topic of the fishing and hunting of northern Wisconsin, where he maintains a preserve. He talked for an hour about the joys of the woods and lakes and seemed to have forgotten all about the defeat of his team on the ball field that afternoon.

Fight to Hold Third Place.

The wise ones of that party knew that afternoon that Comiskey had abandoned hope of landing a flag this year, and though he'll never admit it and keep his team fighting to the limit all the way, he probably has given up now. Of course, he'll keep them going at top speed to hold third place, and from the present outlook there is more interest over the country in that struggle than in the contest for first honors. Four clubs are closely bunched for third honors. Detroit and Philadelphia seem to have the battle between themselves for the top place.

The season is just a bit more than half finished, and the White Sox are in third position, closely followed by New York, Cleveland, and Boston. Few of the critics would have guessed so much success for the Sox before the season opened. If they can stay in the first division this season, it will be a great achievement, for it will be better than was expected of them.

Yesterday was an open date in the schedule for Duffy's men. Today they are to open a series of four games against the world's champion Athletics. These four games will end the home games for a spell of three weeks, for the Sox leave Sunday night for Boston to begin a round of the eastern clubs in their own territory.

By breaking even with the champions, the Sox should start on their eastern journey still holding third position. They will need a successful trip on the road to hold that position all the way, for two of their three rivals, New York and Boston, will be playing on their own grounds, and they're both good home clubs.

Sox in Batting Slump.

The batting of the Sox has fallen off fearfully during the last week or ten days, but probably not more than the hitting of the other clubs. The players declare there has been a change in the ball in the last ten days and the old kind of ball used last season has been supplied to replace the lively one that caused such havoc in the early games. The players with big batting averages are sorry of the change. The pitchers are delighted.

No official announcement of a change was made, but the players declare it's a different ball. Some of them say they can distinguish a difference in the sound when the bat smacks against it. The outfielders have crept in a bit closer with less fear of one being hit over their heads, and the pitchers generally are geting back to the form of days when they could hold a club to six or eight hits.

Lena Blackburne says he wants to rejoin his mates. This news came in a letter from the young player, who has been followed by "jinx" ever since he joined the south side aggregation. Lena wrote that he again was in good shape and anxious to get back in the harness, and wound up his missive with a request to report. Blackburne has been rusticating at his home, in Palmyra, N. J., and he probably will be asked to join the boys on their next invasion of the east, which starts on Tuesday.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

GLOOMING IT A BIT.

We had it from Detroit yesterday that Ty Cobb was afflicted with some wasting malady and was ordered by his physician to take a rest.

Tyrus off his feed? O, say not so!
Heav'n forefend and Fate avert the blow!
'Twere with'ring blight if aught should hap to Cobb
To separate his genius from the job.
Ball minus Cobb would take a backward step,
Become inane and destitute of pep.
The one-man club a no-man club would be;
The one-club league would lapse in lethargy.
With Tyrus out it would not pay to look
Where umpires ump and pitchers get the hook.
If he is ill the game itself is sick.
O, scurvy luck that plays us such a trick!
If Tyrus is but tired and needing rest,
We might bear up until he's convalesced.
But if he's out for good, our love is lost.
[Don't rubber now—we have our fingers crossed].

Billy Papke, now "undisputed middleweight champion of the world," has arrived, reporting the discovery of a new "white hope" in South Africa. This one is fitted out with the conventional description, the same being: He is young, strong, quick; weighs 14 stone 4, stripped; has a good punch in either hand and is a glutton for punishment. We shall find him presently in Hugh McIntosh's exhibit of grape fruit, never fear.

The extraordinary part of the story of the flirtation of Garry Herrmann and Johnny Evers is that it originated in Cincinnati, where the club chiefly involved is located. Isn't this procedure heterodox? We are accustomed to get our Cincinnati news from Pittsburg.

The "Rialto" was thrown into a state of intense excitement Tuesday by a rumor, originating unaccountably, that Frank Chance had been injured seriously, or fatally—according to the extent of the brainstorm—in Boston. By the way, where is the "Rialto"? It is only when somebody is bitten by a mad dog, like that, that we ever hear of it.

We are numerously requested to make facetious note of the signing of an outfielder named Tom Murray by Barney Dreyfuss. What's the joke?

Easy Steve respectfully suggests that if "Dawson, natural" would switch his point to "big Dick" he might get a better break.

REMINDS ONE OF SWIVELLER.

Boston, July 17.—Dear Awakener: We are on the rampage again—thanks to Briggs. We have wondered what "the boys" looked like and now we have an idea of at least one geezer. It was our notion that he was a bloke between 50 and 55, with a hobby and a bit of a brass rail orator—one of the "old guard," something of a Starbottle—first class mixer with all the versatility the word in its true sense implies, etc., etc.

At any rate, between The Wake and our friend Col. Taylor we have managed to lay the foundation of a liberal education, and that's more than we can say for a five foot shelf.

Some weeks ago, when the Naps were gamboling in these parts, we made the statement that they were playing an article of airtight ball second to none in that circuit. And now, with a few "ifs," we dare to say that if the lineup is not changed over three times a week, injuries barred and Lajoie back, they will finish in the first division. What of it? O, nothing. But if Somers will give us his ear we will tell him he is trying to keep too many things in the air at once, especially considering the political situation.

On the principle that John I. never thinks a thing has any value until seventeen other people, or persons, want it he ought to show up in St. Paul with the money bags pretty soon and get into the bidding for that harp battery.

One moment: If a strong infield is the basis of a ball team how long before Duffy will deliver? Perhaps that Luderus wouldn't look good over on the west side.

I guess that will be about all—except this question: Do you suppose Steiny would take money under false pretenses? RUTABAGA.

Of course, the ungrateful baseball fans will forget in the course of a week that one day it rained when there was no game scheduled.

One superficial unappreciative critic says that "Doc White became peeved when he found he was being hit and quit the box." Wotrot! "Peeved," forsooth! Doc White is artistic to his finger tips. An artist may allow his temperament to manifest itself, but to succumb to such a vulgar emotion as peevishness, jamais!

Cleveland, After Winning Nine Straight, Is Trimmed by Red Sox, 10 to 2, Wood Pitching Finely.

NO MORE PLAYING FOR "P. L." CHANCE

President Murphy Declares Manager Has Ended Active Diamond Work.

SAIER TO STAY AT FIRST.

Cub Magnate Says Youngster Is Fixture; Leader Will Dictate from Bench.

BY HANDY ANDY.

Frank Leroy Chance, Peerless Leader of the Cubs, probably never will don a baseball uniform again unless he does so in order that he may go on the coaching lines to tell his charges how to play the game. This rumor has been floating about the baseball rialto for many moons, but it was not until yesterday that some one with authority put the stamp O. K. upon it.

There probably are only two men who could make the statement with authority, and only one of them is in the city at the present time. President Murphy declared positively yesterday Victor Saier hereafter would be seen at first base in the champions' lineup and that the P. L. would do the dictating from the bench. The Cub boss opines that the 19 year old boy will make another Chance before he is many years older, and there is no need of worry that the Cubs will still be in the running with Chance actively out of the game.

Blow to Cub Fans.

The permanent displacement of Chance will be a blow to the Cub fans, but, when it is considered the punishment the P. L. has undergone since he has been playing ball, there is wonder that he has lasted to tell the tale. Chance has been struck on the head nearly forty times since he first took up the national pastime. The last blow was the worst, or at least left the worst effects. There has been no denial of the rumor that Chance was badly hurt, and the fact that he had to give up and retire to the clubhouse on his first trial out after a long rest from the blow bears out the rumor.

Saier, who just turned the 19 year old mark last June, has all the earmarks of being one of the greatest players ever turned loose from the minor leagues, according to Mr. Murphy. The Cub boss says he has the brains and natural ability that make a star of the diamond. Mr. Murphy, when his attention was called to the heavy hitting of Fred Luderus, the Philadelphia first baseman who was traded to the Quakers for Bill Foxen, said that with all of the discard's great work this season he would not trade even for Saier.

Murphy to Go to Adrian.

President Murphy will go to Adrian, Mich., this morning to look over Frank Gilhooley, the crack outfielder of the Southern Michigan club. Mr. Murphy several days ago was in communication with the owner of the Adrian club and asked for an option on the player. This was agreed to by Manager Billy Smith and a check for $50 option money was mailed to the club, which had set a price of $1,000 on the player. The Cub boss learned through newspaper reports that the player had been sold to the St. Louis Cardinals for $1,500 and immediately communicated with Chairman Herrmann of the national commission, who asked Mr. Murphy to appeal his case in writing, which was done. As the Cub management had until July 31 to make good on the option money, Mr. Murphy is confident the national commission will stand by him in the final settlement of the case.

In regard to the acquisition of O'Toole and Kelly, the St. Paul star battery, Mr. Murphy said he had heard nothing. He was under the impression, however, that the Cleveland club may have an inside track on the proposition, as Grover Land, the pugnacious catcher of the Naps, had become a member of the Saints.

HANLON AFTER RUSTLER CLUB.

President Russell Admits Former Major Manager Seeks to Purchase Team for Baltimore.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—[Special]—Boston baseball circles are all agog over the report that the famous Ned Hanlon, who made quite a splurge in National league baseball some years ago, was to acquire control of the Boston National league baseball club.

The report that the club had been sold would not prove so disconcerting as has the intimation that the club is to be transferred to Baltimore. President Russell, who was seen in regard to the deal, admitted that Mr. Hanlon had been negotiating for the purchase of the club. Last night Mr. Russell denied Mr. Hanlon had been in communication with him and when the Baltimorean's name was mentioned to the local magnate it had to be repeated. However, the cat was let out of the bag in the early morning.

There is a feeling, however, that Baltimore can support a National league team and not a whole lot of regret will be expressed if the franchise should become the property of Hanlon.

UMPIRE CARUTHERS DYING?

Former National League Pitcher, Sent to Workhouse on Charge of Intoxication, Taken to Hospital.

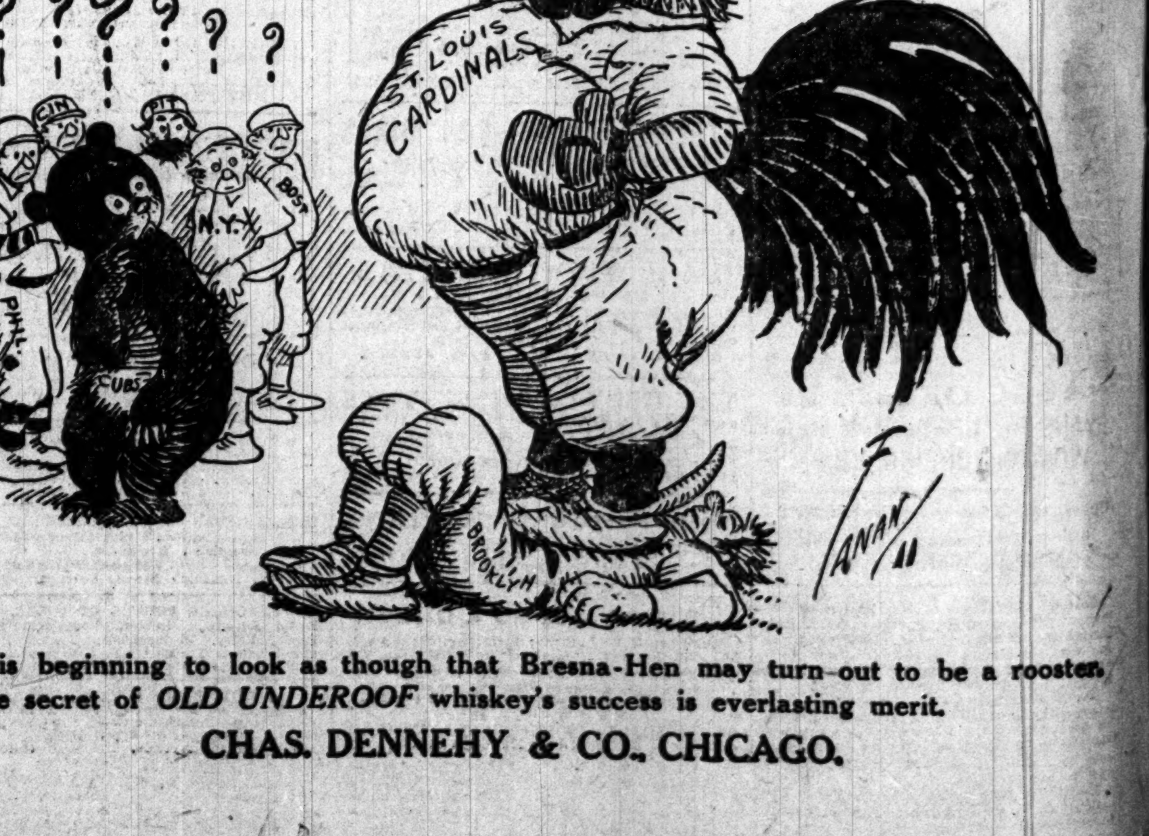
Peoria, Ill., July 19.—[Special.]—Umpire Bobby Carruthers, who was sent to the workhouse a few days ago on a charge of intoxication, has been removed to a hospital, where it is said he is dying. Carruthers once was a National league pitcher.

Tigers Buy Catcher Chapman.

Topeka, Kan., July 19.—Announcement was made today of the sale of Catcher Chapman of the Topeka Western league team to Detroit for $3,000. Chapman will play the season out with Topeka.

Cards Buy Adrian Star.

Toledo, O., July 19.—Frank Gilhooley, outfielder for the Adrian South Michigan league team, was sold today to the St. Louis Nationals for $1,500. Gilhooley, who is only 19 years old, will report at the end of the season. The outfielder was sold to Adrian this spring by Toledo.



It is beginning to look as though that Bresna-Hen may turn-out to be a rooster.

EIGHT REMAIN IN SKOKIE TOURNEY

Of This Number Three Home Golfers Survive the First Round of Play.

AMES IN BRILLIANT FORM.

Goes Out in 35 and Takes 24 for First Six Holes Coming Home, Winning Match, 5—4.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Three home players survived the first round of match play for the Skokie cup, the main prize in the annual invitation tournament of the Skokie Country club, these being George M. McConnell, the old Harvard oarsman, Douglas Smith, and John Stuart, the former Princeton golf captain.

In the duels of yesterday afternoon three of the home veterans fell by the wayside. K. L. Ames of Glen View, the winner of the tournament last year, defeated N. Landon Hoyt, 5 and 4; Douglas Smith trimmed Dr. L. K. Stewart, the former cherry circle footballer, 2 and 1, and John Stuart eliminated Percival Manchester, 4 and 3.

H. R. Shollenberger, who was in the final last year with Ames, was given a close match by C. H. Farley of Maywood, winning 2 and 1, while Lee Maxwell was taken to the nineteenth green by C. H. Wheeler of Evanston before the old Maroon quarter back clinched his victory.

Ames Plays Good Game.

Ames was in fine fettle in his match against Hoyt, going out in 35, as against 37, and being 2 up at the turn. Scoring twenty-four for the first six holes coming home, Ames did not give the home player a look-in and won easily. The cards:

Ames—Out	4	4	5	4	4	3	4	4	3	—35
Hoyt—Out	4	3	4	4	5	4	5	4	4	—37
Ames—In	5	5	3	3	4	4	*	*	*
Hoyt—In	5	6	4	4	4	5	*	*	*

Shollenberger and Farley broke even on the first nine holes, each winning four in a see-saw battle. Shollenberger took the first two coming home, but a fine two on the thirteenth hole, 134 yards, followed by a four at the next hole, enabled the Maywood player to square. Shollenberger won the sixteenth and seventeenth and the match. Cards:

Shollenberger—Out	4	4	4	4	5	4	5	5	4	—39
Farley—Out	4	5	3	5	4	5	4	6	3	—39
Shollenberger—In	4	4	5	4	5	5	4	5	3	—39—78
Farley—In	5	5	5	2	4	5	5	6	3	—40—79

Maxwell had a hard battle with Wheeler. The former was 1 up at the turn and by playing par golf had the Evanston man dormie 4. Wheeler by a nervy display won four straight and squared. On the extra hole Maxwell, got a 3, one under par, and won.

W. H. King, Skokie, defeated A. W. Shaw, Exmoor, 3 and 2.

The second round will be played this afternoon, the players being paired in the order in which they stand in the summaries. The first round for the consolation cup, Spionkop, Balen, Laddie, and Hillside also will be played.

Hoag First at Windsor.

The Business Men's Prosperity club had an outing at the Windsor Golf club yesterday. Dr. J. C. Hoag had low gross score of 47 in the qualifying round of the golf event, President Elmer E. Buchan winning the low net prize. H. B. Wattley won the first flight prize and Dr. S. C. Plummer the second, the consolation event going to W. D. Dee. James H. Winn won the putting contest, John M. Ryan being the runner-up. The members dined at the club at night.

The second monthly tournament of the Chicago Dental Golf club will be held at La Grange today. Sixteen will qualify for the Reliance cup and in addition the first round for the A. Brown Allen cup will be played. Four rounds each at 36 holes are to be played during the monthly tournaments. It is a handicap event, the cup going permanently to the winner. A consolation event will be played in the afternoon.

The lawyers and doctors will play at Homewood this afternoon and a mixed foursome is carded at Ridge. At Ridgemoor the first round for the Piper cup is billed.

EVANS RETURNS WITH PRIZES WON ON FOREIGN GOLF LINKS.

Chicagoan Arrives in Boston with Trophies and Leaves for Detroit, Scene of Western Tournament.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—Charles (“Chick”) Evans, the Chicago golfer, who failed in his effort abroad to win the British amateur championship, but won the French title, landed here today after an interesting European trip with two prizes in his grip and another to come from abroad.

Evans won the principal prize at Troon, one of the leading Scottish links, and a second prize at Stoke-Poges, in the royal gold vase competition. He also took the Bennett cup in the French amateur championship at Paris. This trophy will be sent to him.

Evans left for Detroit, where he expects to participate in the western amateur championship curtain raiser on Saturday.

HURD TAKES TRAFFIC TROPHY

Wins National Association Cup at Homewood, 4 and 3.

CHAPIN, CLEVELAND, SECOND

Brent Arnold Beats Thompson in Second Flight; 1 Up in 22 Holes.

D. F. Hurd of New York won the sixth annual championship of the National Freight Traffic Golf association which finished yesterday at the Homewood Country club, defeating F. H. Chapin of Cleveland in the final, 4 and 3.

In the semi-final round in the morning Hurd defeated F. W. Maxwell of Denver, 3 and 2, and Chapin downed R. C. Smith of New York, 3 and 2.

The most exciting contest of the day came in the semi-finals of the second flight, in which Col. Brent Arnold of Cincinnati defeated Charles F. Thompson, the president of the Homewood Country club, 1 up in 22 holes.

Results in the championship consolation and other flights were as follows:

EVANSTON GOLF CLUB TO MOVE.

New Home Covers 120 Acres Near Glen View—Directors Vote to Spend $127,000 on Venture.

The Evanston Golf club, which is now occupying its second location, has decided on a third move, this time with the idea of getting a permanent home. At a recent meeting plans for the purchase of 120 acres of land located one mile west of Evanston in the direction of the Glen View club were announced and it was voted to spend about $127,000 on the new venture. The property will cost $82,000 and it is proposed to spend $25,000 on the clubhouse and $20,000 on the course.

The lease on the property at present occupied by the club expires in 1913 and the committee in charge of the new project will have until then to prepare the new site. The new course is located on the car line running from Evanston to the Glen View club, the automobile road to Glen View forming the north boundary line. The land is about the highest in the vicinity and Tom Bendelow, who will lay out the course, expects to be able to get one of the best along the north shore.

It is proposed to change the name of the club and adopt one of Indian origin, this matter having been placed in the hands of the committee. Following are the members of the committee:

H. E. Baker, John A. Childs, R. S. Dutton, T. H. Eddy, A. B. Jones, W. S. Lord, W. S. Mason, M. J. Morehouse, F. T. Murray, David McCurrach Jr., C. M. Stevens, F. C. Stiles, J. C. Shaffer, W. T. Sheffield, and J. N. Welter.

UPSETS IN TENNIS TOURNEY.

Touchard Comes from Behind in Longwood Singles, Beating Niles—McLoughlin Nearly Defeated.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—Championship tennis was displayed freely today in the Longwood singles. Several upsets resulted. G. F. Touchard of New York, after having been on the defensive for the major part of three sets in his match with N. W. Niles of Boston, rallied and won in five sets. T. R. Pell of New York came within an ace of defeating M. E. McLoughlin of San Francisco. I nthe eastern doubles championship Clothier and Larned's team work was a little better today than yesterday, but the game of Long and Gardner appeared to be the more finished and precise. Summary of principal matches:

Singles, third round—G. F. Touchard defeated N. W. Niles, 2-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

PAPKE BACK FROM ENGLAND

Returns to Chicago and Then Hikes Off to Kewanee.

TELLS OF HIS FUTURE PLANS.

Says He Intends to Give All a Chance; Burke First Opponent.

BY KNOCKOUT.

William, better known as Bill Papke, landed in our fair city yesterday afternoon and after being here for four hours departed for his home, Kewanee, Ill. Papke has been abroad for nearly a year and came from London. The fighter who claims he is the real middleweight champion is just about the busiest person in the land and he intends to be even busier in the near future, cleaning house among the other fellows who are candidates for the middleweight title.

Papke was accompanied by his wife and a stranger to these parts of the country in the person of William Papke Jr. When the pugilist went away nearly a year ago there wasn't any William Jr., but there is now, and William Sr. is the real proud papa. Bill calls him the star “white hope.”

While in the city Bill had time to discuss things pugilistic for a brief time, and what he had to say about things pertaining to the middleweight division were interesting. In the first place, he made it known that he intends to show he is the leader of the bunch not through the medium of a claim, but by fighting it out with those who are looking for the title.

With this in view the “Thunderbolt” is going to make only a short visit in Kewanee, then will jump back to New York, where he will make his first American fight in a long time against “Sailor” Burke on Aug. 6. “Then I'm going after Johnny Thompson and all the rest of them, including Hugo Kelly, the Chicago Italian, whom I think is just about the classiest of any of them,” said William.

Papke says he is the middleweight champion, and is prepared to meet all comers at 160 pounds. This includes Jim Flynn, according to Bill, if he can make the weight. In speaking of his fight with Jim Sullivan, the British champion, Papke said he was a great boxer, but not much of a hitter.

Papke added he would make no more trips abroad. He said he could make more money in America and receive better treatment here, and that he intends to stay.

FIGHT MAY LEAD TO ARRESTS.

Cedar Rapids Attorney Makes Announcement During Investigation of Recent Bout.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., July 19.—County Attorney G. P. Linville said today that there probably would be some arrests tomorrow because of the prize fight in which Frank Whitney of Cedar Rapids knocked out Jeff O'Connell of Chicago Monday night just outside the city limits. Acting on instructions from Attorney General Cosson, he has ordered the officers to make a thorough investigation.

GET SANCTION FOR LAKE SWIM.

A. A. U. Gives Its O. K. to Event Set for Aug. 5 from Wilson Avenue Crib to Beach—Entries Close Aug. 4.

Sanction for the annual two and a half mile lake “marathon” on Saturday, Aug. 5., was asked for yesterday by the Wilson Beach company of the Central A. A. U. It is planned to start the race from the Wilson avenue crib and finish at the beach. Solid gold medals will be given to first and second place winners, silver for third and fourth, and bronze to all contestants who finish. Each contestant is required to furnish a boat manned by two competent swimmers. The race will start promptly at 2 o'clock. Entry blanks can be secured from William Bachrach, 17 Quincy street. The list closes on Aug. 4.

Net Tourney for Washington Park.

The Washington Park Tennis club will hold its second annual open tournament on the club courts at the southeastern section of Washington park, beginning Saturday. First and second prizes will be given in each event. Entries will close tomorrow noon, July 21, with Edward Banks, 1411 E. Forty-seventh street, or J. J. Cole, 5 E. Garfield boulevard.

Turfman Rinaldo Dies.

New York, July 19.—Word was received today that David M. Rinaldo, one of the best known turf men in the country, died Monday night at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. His son, Lawrence J. Rinaldo, left tonight to bring the body here for burial.

Denver Cyclist to Race Here.

Another speedy professional motorcycle rider is to join in the Riverview motordrome contests. Court Edwards of Denver wired his entry to Saturday and Sunday nights' events and left last night for this city.

Interest in the Hotel Baseball league centers today in the first of the series between the Auditorium hotel and Congress hotel teams, which will be played in Grant park this afternoon.

DOWNPOUR STOPS KALAMAZOO CARD

R. T. C., Right Off Farm, Takes First Heat by Length in $10,000 2:14 Trot.

FINISH BIG EVENT TODAY.

Anvil, Driven by Geers, Favorite in 2:24, Scores Victory, Winding Up with Jog.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 19.—[Special.]—A deluge of rain, which in five minutes made the track more like a morass than a trotting course, stopped the races today after Tom Murphy had won the first heat of the $10,000 2:14 trot with his big chestnut gelding R. T. C., which was so little thought of by the bettors that the odds against him in the auction pools were better than 100 to 1.

Of course that heat does not decide the race, which has gone over until tomorrow, but R. T. C. is a stout horse, he has speed of no mean order, as evidenced by his mile today in 2:08¾ over a track slow from the rain which was falling when the word was given, and with Murphy up he will be well driven. Backers of the favorite, which was Geers' Ario Leyburn, with Lady Greengoods well supported, will not rest easy until the contest is decided. So far as the single mile trotted is concerned, Ario Leyburn never looked to have a chance.

R. T. C. Given the Pole.

There was considerable scoring in the midst of gusts of wind and swirls of rain, and when finally the word was given the field was well aligned. R. T. C. had the pole, Nanah second place, the Wolverine third, Ario Leyburn fourth, Douglass McGregor fifth, Lady Greengoods sixth, Johnny G. seventh, Chatty Direct eighth, O'Neill ninth, and Oxford Boy Jr. the outside.

As they left the wire Douglas McGregor, which was under full sail and had a clear road, went to the front, and for a time Johnny G. was prominent in the fore, with the others strung out. Millard Sanders, who drove the leader, never let up on the McGregor horse, which is known as a fast but sometimes erratic nag, and he was first at the quarter in :32, at the half in 1:06¼, and the three-quarters in 1:35¼. This was great stepping considering the footing, and Douglas McGregor looked all over a winner as he headed into the stretch.

At that point R. T. C., which had hugged the pole all the way and was going the short mile, began his drive, having three open lengths to overcome before his rival was reached. He set a great clip, however, kept it up unfailingly, and at the short distance was on even terms with the leader. It was quite a fight from there to the wire, but on the end Douglas McGregor failed rapidly, R. T. C. winning by a length in 2:08¾. O'Neill was a fair third, with the others straggling.

Victor Real Farm Horse.

R. T. C. is a real farm horse. Two days ago Murphy said to me, “I am going to start a sure enough farmer's nag in the big purse here, and he will not be the poorest trotter on the track at that. He is called R. T. C., and has plenty of harness marks to show where he has done real work. Last year I trained him a while after his owner had used him as one of a pair to put in the corn, and when I sent him back he got home just in time to help haul the hay from the fields to the big barn.”

After the flooded track made racing impossible, pool selling was resumed with great vigor, but the odds had shifted. Ario Leyburn which before the start was better than even money over the field, was now cast in with all the others save R. T. C., that weatherbeaten trot hoss from Poughkeepsie being valued at $25, while it was hard work to get an equal amount for the field. Some persons say Mr. Geers, realizing that a stern chase with Ario Triburn was hopeless, took as little as possible out of his horse. At all events, he finished ninth, but came out of the scramble fresh and lively, and his backers say he will take down the money tomorrow if the track dries.

Previous to calling the big race one heat in each of two other events was contested. In the 2:24 trot Anvil, with Geers up, was choice over the field at 2 to 1, and he more than made good, as at the end of the mile he was only on a big jog in 2:11½, with Lady Willow from the same stable a length back. Anvil is in the M. & M. with several other Geers horses, and he will start, as also will The Hugenot and possibly Lady Willow.

Four C. of C. horses, Peter the Second, Hal Akin, Game Maid, and Lon Allen, hooked up in the 2:14 pace with the first named a strong favorite on account of his win at Indianapolis, where he beat 2:07. He did not have that sort of speed today, as Game Maid won from Lon Allen in 2:12½, funereal time for the class, with Peter the Second third. Hal Akin's hopples came off near the three-quarter pole and he was distanced.

A good deal of the money bet on Lady Greengoods was pointed that way because of the widespread rumor that McHenry was to drive the mare. Inasmuch as there are three professional jocks in the Grady family the story was preposterous, but it was diligently spread around and had its effect.

Rain made the track slow in the morning and there were no fast workouts, the best being a mile in 2:07 by The Harvester, with the final quarter in :30½. The stallion king never looked better than now, and horsemen think he will lower his 2:01 record before fall.

Henry H. in Train Wreck.

The Chicago pacer Henry H., which Dean had shipped to him here for a little training away from home, was mixed up in a train wreck and knocked flat in his car. He does not appear to be injured, however. Before leaving home Henry H. worked the Dean half mile track in 2:08¼, something no other horse than The Broncho ever did, and he is being saved over for the 1911 slow classes. Dean will drive him a good mile in the next three weeks and then send him home.

In the betting before the start of the races Ario Leyburn brought $100 in pools where the total was $224, with every horse sold out. Anvil was a $25 to $12 favorite in his race, with the Cox mare Mary G. bringing $7; Peter the Second was a top heavy choice in the 2:14 pace. Now that two or more horses from the same stable are allowed to start in most of the big trotting stakes there is a demand that they be co upled inthe betting and otherwise considered as one horse. Geers and other prominent drivers are in favor of such a rule. In the 2:24 trot Geers started Anvil and Lady Willow, F. G. Jones driving the mare. Another amateur driver in this race was J. L. Dodge with Lee Wilson.

FIRE DESTROYS RACETRACK.

Stands and Buildings at Grand Rapids Burned and Harness Meet May Be Called Off.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 19.—[Special.]—The buildings of the West Michigan fair grounds, including the grand stand, were totally destroyed this afternoon. This is the park at which the grand circuit races are held and the burning of the buildings probably will interfere with the meeting scheduled for next week. Just what will be done the directors of the driving club have not had time to consider. It is believed it would be useless to try to pull off the meet without a grand stand or any other conveniences. The park had no fire protection. The loss on the stands will be $60,000.

NEW YORK RACING INTERESTS GIVEN BOOST BY THE SENATE.

Gittings Bill, Relieving Track Directors of Liability for Gambling, Goes to Assembly Today.

Albany, N. Y., July 19.—[Special.]—A notable epoch for the racing interests of the state was achieved today when the senate strangely reversed its action of last week and passed the Gittings bill designed to relieve the directors of a race track of personal liability for gambling on the track.

Six Republican senators, Allen of Rensselaer, Argetsinger and Ormrod of Monroe, Brackett of Saratoga, Emerson of Essex, and Sage of Albany, gave their aid to the Tammany delegation in accomplishing this result.

Nearly every one of the Tammany delegation went on record in favor of the bill. Its dangerous provisions, however, were too much for Senator Wagner, majority leader, and some of the upstate Democrats who voted against the measure.

The bill, which the best lawyers in the legislature say will break down the legal barriers against gambling in the state, is scheduled to go through the assembly tomorrow. Its opponents admit their inability to stay the action of the legislature. The friends of the measure say that Gov. Dix will sign the bill if it reaches him.

WINDSOR RACE RESULTS.

Drawings for Junior Net Games.

Drawing for the annual city junior tennis championships to be held at the Hebrew institute courts next week were made yesterday. The preliminary events will be played on Thursday and Friday and the finals on Sunday. Forty-four are entered, representing Jackson park, Washington park, Douglas park, Kenwood, Ever Ready, Spartan, and Nationalist clubs, Oak Park Y. M. C. A. and Lane High school. Abe Buhai, winner of last year's singles, again is entered to defend his title.

Umpire Mullen Punches Fan.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—[Special.]—Because one of the local baseball rooters after the game today between Boston and Cleveland asked Umpire Mullen if he had studied umpiring in a correspondence school Mullen landed three times on the stranger's jaw. The latter tried to retaliate, but Groundkeeper Van Dellen prevented a continuance of the bout.

MOTORISTS SET FOR RELIABILITY

Amateurs and Tradesmen of C. M. C. Compete Today for Banta Cup.

ST. JOE OVERNIGHT STOP.

Thirty-five Listed in Annual Affair to Be Conducted Under A. A. A. Rules.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

Amateur motorists and those engaged in the trade will hook up today in the first annual reliability team match for the A. J. Banta cup, with St. Joe, Mich., as the overnight stop of the two days' run. Out of an original entry list of forty-two names, seven were scratched at last night's meeting of the officials, drivers, and observers at the C. M. C. clubrooms in the New Southern. The remaining thirty-five were represented at the meeting and it is likely close to that number will get away for the Michigan resort when Starter John H. Kelly gives the word at 6 o'clock this morning.

Under Rules of A. A. A.

The match will be conducted under the rules of the A. A. A. and the conditions will be the same as in the annual runs between the C. A. A. and the C. A. C., penalties being imposed for work done on the road and for being late at controls. The team showing the smaller number of penalizations when the run ends in Chicago tomorrow night will be awarded the trophy.

Before the motorists return to the city a number of club championships will have been decided for a program of field day events will be held at the Edgewater club near St. Joe. The outgoing route will total 105.6 miles and the towns to be passed through include South Chicago, East Chicago, Gary, Chesterton, Michigan City, New Buffalo, and Stevensville.

List of Officials.

The officials elected are: Referee, E. G. Westlake; judges, A. J. Banta, C. T. Knisely, W. J. Zucker, and Frank Sparks; starter and clerk of the course, John H. Kelly; pacemaker, Walter Simpkin; pilots, J. P. Dods and Frank Wood. President David Beecroft is captain of the amateur team and Charles F. Van Sicklen will lead the tradesmen. The entries follow:

PROSPERITY SEEN IN TRADE BALANCE

Excess of Exports Over Imports Due Chiefly to Factories.

REFUTES GLOOMY OPINION

Total International Commerce of United States Reaches $3,500,000,000.

BY HOLLAND.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—We sold to other nations in the twelve months ending June 30, which makes up the last fiscal year, commodities so greatly in excess of imports that the balance of trade amounted to $521,000,000.

While this is not as high a figure as was that which represented our favorable trade balance in 1908, approximately $666,000,000, nevertheless it is regarded here as more satisfactory from one point of view.

Our enormous exports in the year 1908 were due to the fact that we were rushing our products to foreign markets at whatever prices we could obtain for these commodities and were at the same time importing on so small a scale as to make it clear that the American people were at that time practicing enforced economies.

Articles of luxury, such as precious stones and jewels, costly furs, and other products usually imported in large quantities in time of prosperity, were almost neglected in that fiscal year. In this record of the fiscal year 1908 is to be read a part of the story of the panic of 1907.

Enabled a Rapid Recovery.

It was this heavy marketing of our commodities in other lands in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1908, which enabled us so rapidly to recover from the immediate effects of the panic. It was this in part which made it possible for New York bankers to import in the late fall and early winter of 1907 $100,000,000 in gold, whereby the loaning capacity of American banks was increased by $300,000,000.

This year the United States has not only made a new record but it has made it along normal and healthful lines. We have bought from and we have sold to other nations commodities valued at about $3,500,000,000. And a curious feature of this year of our greatest international trade is that it has taken place at a time when complaints have been general of demoralized, or at least somewhat stagnant, business conditions.

In a year when almost every business man shook his head negatively when asked if general business conditions were good, we have nevertheless sold in foreign markets American commodities valued at more than $2,000,000,000, and have, on the other hand, bought in foreign markets commodities valued at $1,528,000,000.

In the late summer of last year one of the great bankers of the United States, in speaking in partial confidence of our international trade condition, said that he was not disposed to accept the view of so many friends that the fiscal year would on the whole make a bad record for the United States.

Banker's Prediction Comes True.

The banker said he believed that our sale of cotton for export would be likely to create a favorable and large trade balance. He said he would not be surprised if our international trade in other things than cotton, outgoing and incoming, for the fiscal year about balanced in value, while the excess balance in our favor, which he thought might amount to $500,000,000, would be created by our sales in cotton.

This banker, who is now in Europe, must look at the figures as officially reported from Washington with gratification as he recalls his prediction of last summer. Our sales of cotton in foreign markets approximately represent in dollars our entire favorable trade balance.

There is another feature of this report which is without precedent. Aside from cotton, our agricultural exports for the year were not wholly satisfactory. Nevertheless, we have so greatly increased our exports in the products of our great manufacturing corporations that we have been able to make more than good the falling off in our exports of the products of the soil other than cotton.

Half of Imports Enters Free.

This record, too, has been made partially possible because a very large amount of our imports was entered free of duty. Approximately one-half of our total imports paid no toll at the custom houses. It will, of course, be assumed that our ability to sell in great amounts in foreign markets is partially explained by the fact that foreign goods to so great an amount could be imported into the United States free of duty. That is, other nations were better able to sell to us.

This tends to emphasize recent statements made by President Taft that the time has come when customs tariffs may be advantageously adjusted so that they may represent no more than the difference between the cost of production of similar articles in the United States and other parts of the world.

One reason for the somewhat despondent feeling which prevailed in the summer of last year respecting our foreign commerce was the general impression that our crops, and especially cotton, would harvest below the average yield of the last eight or ten years. There were then as dire predictions respecting corn and wheat as has been the case this summer. Yet the harvest proved to be bountiful and corn made its greatest record. Cotton was approximately 12,000,000 bales.

Gloomy Reports Not Accepted.

For this reason the gloomy reports which have been received from the harvest fields this year have not been accepted by bankers or by our railway men as being justified by conditions.

Therefore it is presumed that the record of our foreign commerce for the fiscal year upon which we have just entered may be even better than that of the last year. Some of the manufacturers of machinery, electrical apparatus, especially mining apparatus or tools used in making great excavation work, see indications of an increased foreign trade in the present fiscal year.

It would not be surprising if, early in July of next year, the Washington authorities reported that our exports of manufactured products amounted approximately to $1,200,000,000. Large orders are expected from South America and from the far east, especially the Manchuria region.

If the present promise of the cotton harvest of approximately 15,000,000 bales be realized, and if we harvest in excess of 700,000,000 bushels of wheat and approximately 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn, our total foreign commerce for this year should be considerably in excess of $2,000,000,000.

HIDES AND WOOL.

HIDES.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Market dragging; prices unchanged.

WOOL.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Market dull, with unchanging quotations.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 19.—WOOL—Unchanged; medium grades, combing, and clothing, 18@20½c; light fine, 17@19c; heavy fine, 14@15c; tub washed, 23@30c.

LONDON, July 19.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 12,341 bales. There was a strong demand and good wools were firm, with the best grades of greasy merinos occasionally 5 per cent dearer. Geelongs sold quickly. Americans purchased a few lots of half breds. Shabby wools were irregular. The sales: 7d; greasy, 5¼d@1s, 1d. Queensland, 900 bales; scoured, 1s 3d@1s 11d; greasy, 8d@1s 1½d. Victoria, 1,600 bales; scoured, 10d@1s 16½d; greasy, 7½d@1s 4d. TRANSFER ENDS GRAFT SUIT

West Pullman Property Deeded to Illinois Central.

MANY CITY LOANS MADE.

Apartment Building on Washington Avenue Sold.

In an adjustment of the differences between the Illinois Central railroad company and Frank B. Harriman, Charles L. Ewing, and others the West Pullman Car works, formerly belonging to the latter, together with seven other parcels of land in West Pullman, have been conveyed by the Hibernian Banking association, trustee in bankruptcy, to the railroad company for a stated consideration of $190,000.

The car works plant is at the northeast corner of Peoria and One Hundred and Twentieth streets and occupies a plot of ground 287x458 feet in dimensions, and was constructed about five or six years ago. The transfer was executed July 13 last. The statement was made at the general offices of the Illinois Central yesterday that it had not yet been decided whether or not to dismantle the plant, which has been idle since the differences between the road and Mr. Harriman and his associates became public. The case involved alleged graft in the car repair department of the Illinois Central.

Blewett Lee, general attorney for the road, said it surrendered its claim of approximately $1,000,000 against the West Pullman Car works and gave $190,000 in cash for the plant. The transfer was filed for record late in the day.

To Build 2 and 3 Room Apartments.

The Continental and Commercial National bank has sold to George O. Gordon vacant property at the northeast corner of Oakwood boulevard and Ellis avenue, fronting 110 feet on Oakwood and 200 feet on Ellis avenue, running through to Thirty-ninth street, giving the property three street frontages.

Mr. Gordon is preparing to improve this property with a high class apartment building containing two and three rooms. The permit has been issued for the building, and it is understood that construction will begin Sept. 1. The consideration was nominal.

C. E. Bates of Murdock, James & Co. represented both parties.

The same firm has also sold for the Continental and Commercial National bank property at 1405 Hyde Park boulevard improved with a three flat building to Francis K. Montgomery. The consideration was $15,000 cash.

B. A. Thorpe has rented for Tom Murray to Henry P. Epstein, jeweler, for occupancy Aug. 1, the twelve foot front store at 105 West Madison street, 75 feet west of Clark, for a term of years at a total rental of $60,000. Mr. Epstein is now located at 55 West Madison street, in the Hartford building, and will continue in his present location, operating both stores.

Six Flat Building Sold.

The six apartment building, with 48x150 feet of ground, in Washington avenue, 46 feet north of Fifty-sixth street, west front, has been sold by Frank C. Crittenden to Katherine F. Hyland, for a nominal consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $13,000. In part payment Mrs. Hyland conveyed the property in Belden avenue, 25 feet east of Dayton street, 34x115 feet, north front, a consideration of $1 being given.

Thomas Cusack has sold to Hyman Rubenstein the residence property at the northeast corner of Ashland boulevard and York street, with lot 50x148 feet, west front, for $15,000, subject to an incumbrance of $6,500.

The property at the northeast corner of Hastings and Laflin streets, 22x124 feet, with brick improvements, has been sold by Joseph Lawrence to Samuel Fleishman for $17,500, subject to an incumbrance of $7,500.

Josephine Wollensak, Florian D. Wallace, and others, Rosaline W. Jerrems and husband, Walter F. Wallace and wife, have given a trust deed to the Northern Trust Co. to secure a loan of $65,000, five years at 5 per cent, upon the property at the southeast corner of Canal and Washington streets, 80x150 feet, with six story and basement building.

$30,000 Loaned at 4¾ Per Cent.

The Northern Trust company is also trustee in a loan of $30,000, five years at 4¾ per cent, to Frank Cuneo, secured by the property at the northwest corner of South Water and Franklin streets, 160 feet, southeast front, through to the river, with four story and basement building.

Greenebaum Sons' Banking and Trust company have made a loan of $27,000, five years, at 5½ per cent, to Abe S. Davis and wife, secured by the property at the southeast corner of Ellis avenue and Sixty-First street, 50x170.8 feet of ground, with three story and basement apartment building.

The property in Milwaukee avenue, 411 feet southeast of Fullerton avenue, 50x154 feet, southwest front, with store and flat improvements, has been sold by Samuel Schelman to Mayer Van Gelder for $20,000.

CHICAGO TO FORE IN STEEL; PITTSBURG IS BEATEN OUT.

Local Subsidiary of the Trust Books Orders for 100,000 Tons—Finished Products Are Better Here.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—The Iron Age will say tomorrow:

"The most interesting bit of news in trade circles is the fact that a Chicago subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation the last week booked orders for about 100,000 tons of steel products for early shipment. This is about double its normal weekly bookings. The greater portion of the material sold consisted of rails and track fastenings, but structural shapes, plates, and bars figured in the tonnage to quite an extent. It is understood that some of the business thus taken was for export.

As compared with May, June has shown an increase of 50 per cent in this company's bookings, but July thus far has made a much better showing than June.

"Conditions in finished lines appear to have been somewhat better in Chicago than in Pittsburg, where the volume of business seems to be running along in about the same volume as for the previous week.

Chicago has shown greater activity in structural lines than other trade centers, as the fabricating contracts closed there in the last week aggregate about 16,000 tons, among which was a bridge for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, about 10,000 tons, and a local telephone building about 5,000 tons."

Improvement Is Moderate.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

"Mill operations show some increase and there is more activity in pig iron in some centers, but improvement in the general situation is moderate."

COUNT OF BALLOTS FINISHED IN MUTUAL LIFE ELECTION.

Highest Vote for Trustee Obtained by George F. Baker, Who Headed the Administration Ticket.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Inspectors who have been counting the ballots cast in the Mutual Life election of trustees completed their labors today. Thirty-six men on the administration ticket received votes running from 13,000 to 13,500.

Sol Rosenblatt, who ran all alone as a "policyholders' ticket," got a trifle over 2,100. The highest vote was cast for George F. Baker, who headed the regular ticket.

The inspectors did not make the exact figures public, as they have now been enjoined by Mr. Rosenblatt from certifying the result officially. The election was held on June 5.

ASKS REGULATION OF CORPORATIONS

Wickersham Says That They Should Be Placed Under Control as Roads Are.

MAY EVEN FIX PRICES.

Attorney General Declares Supply and Demand No Longer Is the Basis.

Duluth, Minn., July 19.—Attorney General Wickersham, speaking before the Minnesota State Bar association, today took an advanced stand on the further federal regulation of corporations and declared that a government commission to regulate great industrial organizations, in the same way that the interstate commerce commission regulates railways, was necessary.

Mr. Wickersham said it was a matter of serious consideration whether it would be practical to give to the proposed interstate corporation commission the power to fix prices.

The law of supply and demand, Mr Wickersham said, no longer controls prices in the United States. For years, he declared, the prices in all the great staple industries have been fixed by an agreement between the principal producers and not by a normal play of free competition.

Sought by the Corporation.

"That some further regulation over corporations carrying on commerce among the states may be necessary," he said, "is coming to be a matter of current comment. It has been advocated recently by representatives of some of the largest combinations of capital, probably as a means of salvation.

"But there are other reasons for such regulation. The federal department of justice is not organized or equipped to maintain constant supervision and control over business organizations. It deals only with cases of violation of the law. The activities of an administrative board or commission would be directed to preventing such violations.

"Whether or not such a federal industrial commission should have power to regulate prices is, of course, a matter for serious consideration. The interstate commerce law prescribes as a legislative rule that prices for transportation by rail, or wire, or pipe line shall be reasonable, and that no unjust discrimination shall be made between individuals or localities similarly situated. A similar rule might be declared by congress with respect to the prices of commodities the subject of interstate commerce.

Old System Does Not Work.

"The anti-trust legislation is based on the theory that the natural price of an article is that fixed by the operation of the natural law of supply and demand. But the fact is that the law of supply and demand does not work in a natural, unrestrained, and unfettered manner.

"The fact seems to be that the prices in the United States for a number of years have been fixed by associations of the producers, without the participation of the consumer or the general public—that is, without those who have had to pay the bill—having any voice in fixing the price. In this view it is certainly not unreasonable that the purchasing public should desire to have some part in determining the price it is to pay."

August Disbursements $95,781,986.

NEW YORK, July 19.—[Special.]—The Journal of Commerce estimates the August dividend and interest disbursements at $95,781,986, for the account of our railroad, industrial, and traction corporations. The increase over August, 1910, is $7,881,627. Dividends alone will call for the distribution of $46,581,986, an increase of $1,981,627. Industrial corporations will pay to their stockholders $19,516,108, a loss of $124,210, as compared with last year. The total interest payments for August are put at $49,200,000, as compared with $43,100,000 a year ago, the increase representing returns from new issues of bonds and notes. Railroads showed no marked changes.

WALL PAPER MEN INDICTED

Four Jobbers Charged with Conspiracy in Restraint of Trade.

CHICAGOAN IN THE NUMBER.

Accused of Trying to Prevent Sales to 5 and 10 Cent Stores.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—Four indictments were returned this afternoon by the federal grand jury which has been investigating an alleged wall paper trust. The indictments charge a conspiracy in restraint of trade under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

All the indicted men are officials of wall paper jobbing houses. They are J. B. Pearce, president of the J. B. Pearce Wall Paper company of Cleveland; C. C. Aler, president of the C. C. Aler Wall Paper company of Columbus, O.; Morton Newcomb, president of the Newcomb Bros. Wall Paper company of St. Louis; and E. E. Maxwell of S. A. Maxwell & Co., Chicago.

These four men constitute the executive committee of the National Association of Wall Paper Jobbers. Bond was fixed at $5,000 in each case.

The specific charge is that they met in Cleveland on May 30, 1910, and, after a secret session, notified wall paper manufacturers of the country that if they sold wall paper to 5 and 10 cent stores the jobbers would boycott the manufacturers.

According to federal officials, more than 300 5 and 10 cent stores throughout the country were affected by the order of the jobbers.

DENIES EXISTENCE OF TRUST.

Charles E. Maxwell, head of the firm of A. S. Maxwell & Co., said last night:

"I have just received a telegram from my attorneys notifying me of the indictment. There is no such thing as a wall paper trust. It has been out of existence eleven years. The executive committee never discriminated against selling wall paper to 5 and 10 cent stores at any of its meetings.

"This investigation has risen out of false charges by a Pittsburg dealer named Hall, who has been attempting for years to force legitimate wall paper prices down. There is nothing on which an action under the Sherman anti-trust law can be based."

PACIFIC GRAIN COMPANY CLOSING OUT BUSINESS.

Winnipeg Manager of Concern Leaves the City and Trouble in Accounting Is Reported.

Winnipeg, Man., July 19.—[Special.]—The Pacific Grain company is closing out its business in Winnipeg and the west. A month ago, there was trouble in the Calgary office, but this was settled.

Recently Bruce Campbell, the Winnipeg manager, left this city, and it is reported that there is trouble in the accounting. The extent has not been revealed.

The closing out trades were heavy. All the stockholders are Winnipeg men, and they say there will be no losses to the customers.

The closing of the Pacific Grain company of Winnipeg was reported on the Chicago board of trade yesterday. The firm was long about 500,000 bushels of wheat in this market, about the same amount at Minneapolis, and as much more, it is understood, at Winnipeg.

The selling out of the concern's long wheat in this market, supposedly through King-Farnum, and the liquidation of the long holdings in the Minneapolis market, helped precipitate a sharp break in wheat prices here.

Lucky Man on Panama 3s.

NEW YORK, July 19.—[Special.]—Defaulted bids on the government's recent allotment of Panama 3s were less than $100,000 out of the total of $50,000,000. Bond men with long memories said that it was an unusually low percentage. The government awarded the defaulted bonds to the last bidder within the limit, who was a lucky man. His original award was only $90,000, although he had bid for $200,000. With the defaults he got nearly as much as he wanted, or about $190,000, and all at the lowest price at which any Panama 3s were sold to anybody.

THOMAS FORGETS $35,000,000 DEAL

Sugar Man Says He Cannot Remember Aiding Purchase of Beet Concerns.

RECORD DENIED BY HIM.

Havemeyer Dictated Affairs of Trust, Although He Owned Little Stock.

New York, July 19.—Although the minutes of the board of directors of the American Sugar Refining company show that Washington B. Thomas, chairman of the board, was elected a member of a special committee with H. O. Havemeyer and Mr. Senff to acquire beet sugar refineries, Mr. Thomas declared today to the special congressional committee investigating the so-called "sugar trust" he knew nothing about it until he read of it in the government report a few days ago.

"Didn't Mr. Havemeyer notify you that you were a member of the committee to purchase independent beet sugar interests throughout the country?" Chairman Hardwick asked him.

"Not that I remember," he said.

Says Havemeyer Did Work.

"As a member of such committee, did you ever participate in the purchase of such interests?"

"I don't think so."

"But the records show that you, as a member of the committee, joined in these $35,000,000 purchases of independents."

"I have no recollection of it. Mr. Havemeyer always attended to these matters alone and never consulted any one."

Mr. Thomas told today of his financial interest in the American Sugar Refining company. His stock, he said, amounted to about 3,000 shares, with a book value of about $375,000, and the holdings of the members of his family, including his own, are between 15,000 and 20,000 shares, with a value of between $1,600,000 and $2,000,000.

Havemeyer Held Little Stock.

Mr. Havemeyer when he died had only about 135 shares of stock, but for many years had thoroughly dominated the company, the witness said.

Mr. Thomas said the $90,000,000 stock of the company was represented by real property with a book value of $132 for every $100 share of stock.

Chairman Hardwick said he would not accept the company's book value as correct. "Anybody can figure book value," he said; "what I want is actual value by unprejudiced experts," and it was intimated that the committee would endeavor to arrive at such a valuation by the employment of experts.

REALTY CONVENTION URGES RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

Removal of Lumber Tariff, Extension of Reclamation Service, and Preservation of Natural Resources Advocated.

Denver, Colo., July 19.—At today's session of the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, uniform legislation for mortgages and transfer of real estate was urged by Nathan W. McChesney of Chicago. Canadian reciprocity was approved by the committee on national legislation. Other recommendations were:

Enlargement of powers of the immigration bureau.

Placing of lumber on the free list, "so that the building of homes may be made cheaper."

Extension of the reclamation service.

Extension of the powers and work of the inland water ways commission.

Preservation of natural resources and rigid laws to that end.

Addresses were delivered by Col. J. S. Ray, Louisville, Ky.; A. H. Frederick, St. Louis; Philip Moessinger, Cincinnati; John E. Leet, Denver; and Nathan William McChesney, Chicago.

When You Go Home Tonight

Is it to a happy, healthy family in a suburban home and thirteen hours of country ozone?

You take half an hour or an hour to get back from business, anyway, in the city or out. Wouldn't it be worth everything if that journey's end should find you in a cool, quiet, green-clad world of out-door interests—in other words, one of Chicago's pretty suburbs?

One of the most interesting things a person can do who feels cooped up where he is now is to study The Chicago Tribune's real estate classified ads—noting the nice places offered, their moderate cost and so forth.

Try this through a week's issues of The Tribune. It may prove an eye opener to you.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

ELEVATED STOCKS MOVE UP 3 POINTS

Shows Premium for Old Shareholders Who Took Merger's Offer.

RAILWAYS 5S ARE LISTED

Steel Men, Home from World's Conference, Optimistic of Year's Prospects.

Chicago Elevated Railway stocks were strong on the local exchange yesterday. It was the first day of trading in the preferred stocks, and after an opening at 85, the bid price of Tuesday, they rose 3 points and closed firm at 88. The common opened a point and a half up at 24½, and closed at 26, a net gain of 3 points.

On this basis the market value of the new securities is such as to show a premium for the old elevated stockholders who elected the optional offer of the syndicate. This option, it will be remembered, was for 70 per cent of the original offer in cash, 30 per cent in new preferred stock, with a 24 per cent new common stock certificate.

Profit Figured Out.

Taking $1,000 as a basis, the holder entitled to that amount in cash by the optional offer would have received $700 cash, $300 par value new preferred and $240 par value new common. At the market rates following the first day of active trading the holdings figure out as follows:

	Offer.	Quota-tion.	Market value.
Cash	$700	..	$ 700.00
Preferred	300	88	264.00
Common	240	26	62.40
Total			$1,026.40

Apparent profit of the shareholders electing the option, then, figures out at 2.64 per cent at present.

At the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, the local depositary, it was stated that the payment to depositors will be accomplished in two or three days at the outside, after authorization to begin is received. No date for starting payment has yet been set by the syndicate, but it will probably be early next week.

New Railways Bonds Listed.

The governing committee of the exchange admitted the $5,000,000 first mortgage 5s of the Chicago Railways company to the regular list at the monthly meeting. This brings the total listed to $45,955,000, the total of the outstanding issue. Application will be made for listing the entire amount on the New York exchange.

President Townsend reappointed the old committee named to complete the revison of the exchange by-laws, made up of F. D. Countiss the former president, Frank W. Thomas, and Walter Brewster.

The last copies of the constitution and by-laws were printed six or seven years ago, and since that time there have been over forty amendments. A number of these have made more rigid requirements for listing new securities, for reports from the corporations to the exchange, and for the government of membership. The revised copies should be ready in a few weeks.

Steel Men Optimistic.

J. A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, returning from the steel conference at Brussels, speaks of the conference as offering great advantages to the steel industry through a practical working out of the problems discussed. Of conditions he says:

"Business conditions affecting the iron and steel industry in Europe are in an exceedingly prosperous state. Concurrently with this situation as affecting the home markets of Europe there exists a large demand from the nonmanufacturing countries of the world, and as a consequence the exports of iron and steel by all European countries are on a gradually ascending scale and the iron and steel manufacturers of the United States are increasing their exports in a corresponding ratio. The course of the steel business in the United States promises to be one of steady improvement and I look forward to a gradual increase in the production.

"The importance of the fact that the world at large is undergoing one of the most prosperous cycles in its history should not be overlooked, as ultimately affecting the United States, which, with its enormous resources, should soon be participating in the prosperity observable in other countries."

Schwab Tells of Contract.

Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, a passenger on the same steamer, confirmed the report that he had closed a contract with the Italian government in behalf of the United States Steel corporation and the Bethlehem Steel corporation for a large tonnage of armor plate. The price obtained, he said, was higher than that paid by the United States government for similar material. The delivery will begin at once.

"There is absolutely no truth in the report that the Brussels steel conference entered into any agreement to control steel prices," he said, "and Judge Gary's denial of that fact can not be made too emphatic. The conference was merely for friendly intercourse to improve the relations with one another and to come to a mutual understanding in regard to trade conditions and to avoid overlapping."

Mr. Schwab stated that the Bethlehem Steel plant at the present time was working up to 80 per cent of its capacity.

U. S. Ingot Steel 70 Per Cent Capacity.

The United States Steel corporation active ingot capacity has again reached 70 per cent, the high point reached before July 4, and the outlook for a continuance at this rate of activity is good. Blast furnace operations are just under 65 per cent.

The Republic Iron and Steel company is arranging to start the two additional open hearth furnaces at its new works in the Youngstown district. Six new open hearth furnaces started last month are running well.

The Cambria Steel company has started another blast furnace at its plant at Johnstown and now has all its eight stacks in blast. The company is operating 23 of its 25 open hearth furnaces.

Announcement is made of the placing by the St. Paul of an order with United States Steel and Lackawanna Steel for 40,000 tons of steel rails for summer renewals. The Illinois Steel company has received orders for 45,800 tons of rails.

New Steel Financing.

Negotiations are about finished for the sale of $9,755,000 Illinois Steel debenture bonds of 1940, now in the United States Steel treasury, through J. P. Morgan & Co., proceeds to be used for capitalizing new construction and the redemption of $6,900,000 Illinois Steel debentures maturing April 1, 1913.

Harvester's Missouri Suit.

"As a result of the summer adjournment of the Missouri Supreme court at Jefferson City on Saturday, there remains no doubt that there will be no decision for several months in the ouster suit started by the state against the International Harvester company. The decision is of more interest to the Harvester company than any of those handed down so far, as it is expected to fix the status of the company in other states as well as in Missouri.

American Glue Earnings.

Earnings of the American Glue company in the year ended May 31 after the preferred dividends amounted to 16.68 per cent on $800,000 common. Figures for three years compare:

Dividends Declared.

The Omaha Electric Light and Power company has declared a semi-annual dividend of $2.50 per share on the preferred stock, payable Aug. 1 to stock of record July 20.

The Butte Electric and Power company will pay the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on its preferred stock on Aug. 1 to stock of record July 20.

The North American company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent, payable Oct. 20 to stock of record Sept. 20.

The National Manufacturing company of Cleveland has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the common and 2 per cent on the prefrred stock, payable Aug. 15 and Oct. 1 respectively.

McCrum-Howell company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock, payable Aug. 1 to stock of record July 22. Books close July 22 and reopen Aug. 2.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

With May's gross earnings for fifty-nine leading railroads heavier than in any other month since January they were still 2.57 per cent under those of May, 1910. Operating expenses for the month were cut down considerably, allowing a gain of about one-half of 1 per cent in net income. Aggregate figures for the month compare:

May—	1911.	Decrease.	Pct
Mileage operated	146,016	*1,711	1.19

*Decrease.

Among the roads showing large increases in net earnings were St. Paul, Burlington, Baltimore and Ohio, Big Four, Erie, New York Central, Panhandle, Lehigh Valley, and Rock Island. Freight revenues declined 3.04 per cent, and this condition prevailed on all important lines except the anthracite coal, southern, middle western, and some of the New York Central lines. Passenger revenues for the first time during this fiscal year also showed a decrease of 1.30 per cent, the result of a general falling off in travel except on the southern roads.

General Financial Notes.

Virginia Carolina Chemical company stockholders at the annual meeting elected J. N. Wallace, T. S. Young, and J. A. Long to the board to succeed I. B. Duke, R. J. Reynolds, and W. N. Reynolds. Other directors were reëlected.

Directors of the Mercantile Trust company of New York have approved the agreement to merge with the Bankers' Trust company, stockholders of the former to receive a cash dividend of $50 a share and exchange share for share. Pending the completion of the new Bankers' Trust building the business of the Mercantile will be continued under the old management.

The New York bill extending by five years the period granted the life insurance companies to dispose of their stocks has been sent to the governor for approval.

The Baltimore and Ohio has ordered ten mallet type locomotives from the American Locomotive company.

The "Handbook of Securities," issued by the Commercial and Financial Chronicle of New York for July, 1911, contains a monthly range of prices to July 1 of exchange securities in New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, and Baltimore, with yearly ranges for stocks of the New York exchange and miscellaneous information, the whole covering 192 pages.

Local Securities.

In addition to the strength shown by Chicago Elevated stocks on the local exchange there was a higher tone shown by the other traction securities, though gains were fractional. Peoples Gas recovered a half point of Tuesday's loss, and Sears common was up a half point. Commonwealth Edison was firm. Bond transactions continued to be mainly with traction securities.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, July 19.—Money was in better demand today. Discount rates hardened on the continental gold demand and the offering on American bills. The stock market developed weakness in most departments under local and continental offerings, and consols closed three-sixteenths lower. The only bright section was the American, where prices opened about unchanged and then advanced on good buying induced by better crop reports. Union Pacific was strong and Canadian Pacific advanced to a new high record. The closing was firm, with prices a fraction below the best.

The body of an unidentified man, apparently about 35 years old, was found yesterday in the river at Throop street. It apparently had been in the water two or three weeks.

NEW YORK BOOM KEEPS ON GOING

Transactions on Stock Exchange Mount Up to Highest of the Month.

CANADIAN PACIFIC GAINS.

Makes New High Price, While Union Pacific Nears the 200 Mark.

New York, July 19.—The upward movement in stocks, which began late yesterday, was resumed today, although the further advance was less vigorous than the hurried upturn of the previous session.

For the first time in several weeks a moderate degree of outside business was reported and transactions mounted up to the largest total of the month. The movement was easily the most comprehensive of any for weeks past, and, while covering of short contracts played an important part, investment buying apparently was a contributing factor. The demand for this purpose was stimulated by yesterday's sharp rise, which seems to have originated in belated recognition of the favorable crop outlook, together with the more favorable turn in the local subway situation.

New High Records.

Some new high records for the year were reached, including Union Pacific, which rose more than a point, to 190⅜, and Canadian Pacific, which once more sold at the highest figure in its history, advancing a point, to 246⅞.

Buying of the Harriman issues was among the day's most impressive features, all offerings being taken freely. In fact, all the higher grade railways were in demand, among others the cotton-carrying roads. Many of the prominent railroad stocks and some of the industrials ranged a point or more above yesterday's closing figures during the greater part of the session.

Late in the day gains were reduced by profit-taking and a resumption of short selling. The market withstood the pressure fairly well, with the exception of Reading, which lost all of its gain.

Steel Most Active.

United States Steel was the most active stock and sold at above 80, touching its highest price for some two months. According to board room gossip, orders for this stock were received from out of town points, including Pittsburg. The movement in United States Steel was coincident with the reurn from abroad of tis chieftain, who made some optimistic comments on trade prospects.

The several issues of the Interborough-Metropolitan companies were prominent in the day's dealings. Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and the 4½ per cent bond scored the largest advances. Late in the day it was announced that the expected settlement of the traction negotiations had been reached, insuring the awarding of subway contracts to the company.

The full report of the country's foreign trade for the month of June and for the completed fiscal year made the expected good showing. The excess of exports for the year of $520,706,000 has been exceeded but five times in the nation's history, and, with one exception, is the largest in a decade.

In no branch of the securities market was the revival of activity more marked than in bonds. The demand was fairly broad. New York 4¼s, which were under pressure yesterday, partially recovered today. The total sales par value reached the unusually large total of $6,396,000.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2⅜; closing bid, 2⅜; offered at 2½. Time loans steady; 60 days, 2½@2¾ per cent; 90 days, 2¾@3 per cent; six months, 3⅝@3¾. Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8460 for 60 days bills and at 4.8620 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.84. Bar silver, 52⅝. Mexican dollars, 45. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds firm.

LATE WALL STREET GOSSIP.

New York, July 19.—J. A. Frrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, and Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, both of whom attended the International Metalurgical congress at Brussels, returned today on the Olympic. Both said that the congress was not for the purpose of fixing the price of steel or controlling the foreign market. Prices did not enter into the discussion.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, held in Jersey City today, J. N. Wallace, T. S. Young, and J. A. Long were elected directors to succeed J. B. Duke, R. J. Reynolds, and W. N. Reynolds, retired. The other retiring directors were reëlected. A resolution was passed authorizing the directors to sell the $2,000,000 unissued preferred stock of the company, authorized in 1904, to be offered to both classes of stockholders on the basis of 4 1-8 per cent of their holdings at a price to be settled later. The proceeds are to be used to provide working capital for the company's increased business.

It is officially announced that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company has placed an order with the United States Steel corporation and the Lackawanna Steel company for 40,000 tons of steel rails. The rails are now being edlivered and will be utilized for renewals on the St. Paul proper during the summer months.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, July 19.—[Special.]—COTTON—The gist of the weather and crop news today was favorable, and prices again fell. Old crop months led. Good rains, with seasonable temperatures, were quite general over the belt, and considerable cotton which had been bought on the reaction theory was thrown on the market. Large interests continued to liquidate their long August contracts, causing pronounced weakness in the old crop months, while Wall street, Liverpool, and the south sold the new crop deliveries. A prominent southwestern operator recently identified with the bull side is now said to have disposed of his long cotton; in fact, some claimed that he had taken the short side. New cotton, it was said, was being offered for October delivery, f. o. b. Galveston, at the New Orleans October quotation. Spot closed quiet, 30 points lower; middling uplands, 13.70c; middling gulf, 13.95c. No sales. Futures closed steady at 12@42 points decline, the latter on August. Estimated sales, 300,000 bales. ELECTRIC MERGER RUSHES DEPOSITS

Asks Stockholders of Constituent Companies to Turn In Their Holdings.

PASS TWO-THIRDS MARK.

Commonwealth Edison Interests' Activity Gives Rise to Circular Issue..

Contrary to opinion expressed by interests in the new Chicago Suburban Edison company some time ago, it has been decided to issue circulars to all stockholders of the constituent companies, asking for an early deposit.

Deposit of stocks by the Commonwealth Edison interests back of the merger has already passed the required two-thirds mark by a considerable margin, and the circulars sent out last evening are intended only to bring in as much of the small holdings as possible in a few weeks.

The committee in charge of the consolidation is made up of Samuel Insull, president of the Commonwealth Edison company, and two of the constituent concerns; Henry A. Blair, who has already effected the elevated merger; Frank G. Logan, Charles H. Randle, and H. M. Byllesby, with J. H. Gulick as secretary, and Isham, Lincoln, & Beale, counsel.

Await Return of Insull.

Full detail regarding the consolidated corporation have not been agreed upon, and little is to be done toward incorporation until the return of Mr. Insull. It will probably be chartered under Illinois laws with two casses af capital, common and 6 per cent cumulative preferred.

Absorption of the largest three companies, the North Shore Electric, the Economy Light and Power, and the Illinois Valley Gas and Electric companies will require $763,000 of the senior issue, all which is exchanged at par for the Illinois Valley's preferred stock, and $9,062,500 of the common stock. As previously announced in THE TRIBUNE, this is being exchanged at the rate of one one one-fifth shares for one of North Shore stock, three-fourths of one share for Economy, and one-furth of one share for Illinois Valley common.

The Kankakee Gas and Electric properties, on which were issued $600,000 stock and $700,000 bonds, were acquired by purchase the new operating arrangements going into effect last week.

July 1, 1912, is set as the limit of the period in which the consolidated may be effected. It is believed by men in charge it will be effected in the early fall, the Illnois Trust and Savings bank reporting the deposits of the stock as aready assured.

Government Officials Feed Paper Which Represents Nation's Civil War Debts to Furnace.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—More than $2,000,000,000 in redeemed bonds, representing the major part of the government's civil war debt, is being fed gradually to the furnaces in the bureau of printing and engraving. The engineers estimate that the immense sum in old securities will generate about as much steam as two tons of good coal.

All the government securities issued and redeemed between 1860 and 1898 are being thus destroyed, including nearly $1,000,000,000 in the famous 7-30 bonds, which were made in the size of greenbacks and passed as money at the highest rate of interest the government has ever paid.

More than 1,500,000 separate bond coupons, which represent a large portion of the government's interest payments for fifty years, also will be burned.

24	May 1, 1935	76,500.00

These bonds are payable, as to interest and principal, out of the Public Building Fund of the State of Oklahoma, arising from the sale or rental of Section 33 of the State School Land, and the good faith of the State of Oklahoma is solemnly pledged to administer the trust, which is created by the terms of the Enabling Act and the Constitution. The proceeds of the sale of these bonds are to be used solely for the construction of public buildings for the several institutions of the state. They are payable at the office of the State Treasurer or at the fiscal agency of the state in New York City.

Not less than $250,000.00 to be delivered August 15, 1911, and the balance November 1, 1911. They cannot be sold for less than par and accrued interest. They are non-taxable in Oklahoma and are proper investments for the capital and surplus of state banks, trust and insurance companies of this state and are legal collateral for deposits of all state and municipal funds.

All bids shall be accompanied by a deposit in cash or a certified check of some responsible banking institution for 2% of the amount of bid. The state reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

FOREIGNERS TAKE AMERICAN WHEAT

Export Sales for Day Aggregate Over 1,000,000 Bushels; Prices Fail to Hold.

HEDGERS FREE SELLERS.

Coarse Grains Firm Early, but Weaken Under Local Selling; Product Weak.

In spite of the fact that export sales of red winter wheat were the largest in many months, wheat had a weak tone yesterday and closed ¼@⅝c to 1⅛c off. The principal depressing factor was the steady selling of wheat against country purchases. Nearly every big cash house in the trade was on the selling side, and prices were forced to the lowest level on this movement. With outside trade at a low ebb, and the local contingent bearishly inclined, the selling against country acceptances was large enough to unsettle the whole market.

Liquidation of long July wheat was also a factor and started free local selling. Houses supposedly long big lines of July led the selling, and there was no broad demand for this month. Reports of the big export sales caused only a momentary rally.

Export Outlet Broadens.

Total export sales were 1,072,000 bu, Chicago, Toledo, New York, Baltimore, and St. Louis all reporting good sales. The largest business was done at Toledo, four cargoes, aggregating about 400,000 bu, being sold for direct export. The biggest part of the wheat sold was red winter. With the winter wheat moving in unprecedented volume for this time of year, an export outlet for the grain appears to be imperative, and it looks as if the big holders of wheat were willing to see prices at a level where a part of their burden could be disposed of abroad.

Arrangements have been made recently for considerable elevator room at eastern points by the bull interests, and it is likely that a part of the local stocks will be transferred east. The sales reported came from practically every exporting point, indicating a general inquiry.

Northwest Reports Mixed.

Reports from the northwest were mixed, but for the most part were bullish, and there were more black rust reports from different sections. The latter were not so numerous as on the previous day, however, and weather conditions were fairly favorable, fair weather being indicated for the next few days.

Liverpool was ⅛@⅝d higher; Paris, ½c off to 1⅛c higher; Antwerp, unchanged; Berlin, ⅜c off, and Budapest, 1⅜c lower. More bad reports were received from Russia and also from the Argentine. Cash prices here were relatively unchanged, No. 2 red being quoted 3c under the September. The flour trade continues poor. Primary receipts were 1,753,000 bu against 702,000 bu a year ago. Local arrivals were 87 cars, with 665 cars inspected yesterday. Minneapolis stocks decreased 350,000 bu for four days. Clearances for the day were 139,000 bu.

Selling of July was headed by Colvin and Hulburd-Warren-Chandler, while Clement-Curtis, Updike, Bartlett-Frazier, Armour and J. Rosenbaum sold the September. On the break Bartlett-Frazier, Fitch, Barrell and Knight-McDougal were on the buying side. Press, Ware-Leland and Logan-Bryan were early buyers.

Corn Sold by Professionals.

Corn showed considerable firmness early, prices advancing nearly 1c, but later there was heavy pressure from longs and local traders attacked the market successfully. Prices finished ⅝@⅝c to ¼@1c off. Showers were reported at a number of points and there was considerable selling on account of the weakness in wheat. Comstock, Geahart, O'Brien and local traders generally were sellers, with local longs dumping their corn. Bartlett-Frazier and Wagner bought early.

Cash prices were ¼@⅝c higher, and offerings were light, receipts being 65 cars with 63 cars for today. Primary receipts were only 255,000 bu, against 455,000 bu a year ago. Cables were ⅛d higher. Cash sales here were 160,000 bu. Reports from the southwest were bullish, but the Kansas City market was heavy. A 2c advance was reported at Buenos Aires, with heavy speculative buying.

Oats Weak at Finish.

Oats held firm early but weakened later with other grains. Stop loss selling again was a feature, and although crop advices were not much changed, local longs were afraid of the effect heavy receipts would have on the market. The country has been selling new oats to arrive freely, and it is expected receipts will increase materially soon. Cash dmand fair, with prices steady and sales of 155,000 bu.

Receipts here, 131 cars, and the same number inspected yesterday. The eastern inquiry for oats continues good. The quality of new oats coming in is a little surprising in view of the reports of poor quality that have flooded the market for some time. First arrivals indicate as good a quality as last year. Primary receipts were 523,000 bu; last year, 520,000 bu.

Packers Sell Hog Products.

Provisions were influenced by a firm hog market at the start and worked a little higher. On the advance there was quite free selling credited to the packers, with an export house offering lard quite freely. Outside buying was light and prices eased off near the close. Weakness in the grain list was a factor. Receipts here were 27,000, with 21,000 estimated for today. Hogs lost their early advance. Western receipts were 91,300, against 72,800 a year ago. Liverpool hams were 1s lower. Receipts of product here were 52 cars; shipments, 158 cars. Cash trade was reported of small proportions.

Barley Market Strong.

Barley was in light supply and met with an improved demand. Market had a strong undertone. Malting was quoted $1.00@1.15; feed, 70@80c, and screenings, 30@70c. Receipts were estimated at 7 cars.

Rye held steady. No. 2 sold at 81c; No. 3 was quoted 75@80c, and No. 4, 65@75c. Receipts estimated at 1 car.

Duluth flax closed unchanged to 3c higher; July, $2.09; September, $2.07, and October, $1.97. Receipts, 1 car. Minneapolis, 3c higher; cash on track, $2.09. Receipts were 7 cars.

Timothy seed was steady. August closed at $14.50; September and October, $14.00 bid; December, year and March, $13.25 bid. Clover seed was unchanged; October, $16.25 nominal.

New York Bank Busts Up.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Announcement was made today that the Audubon National bank, a small institution at Broadway and One Hundred and Forty-third street, will go into voluntary liquidation because of misappropriation of funds by one of its officers. National Bank Examiner Hanna is now in charge.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Export sales of wheat were the largest yesterday of any day in several months. Most of the business was in No. 2 red winter and in all positions aggregated 1,072,000 bu. Sales of red winter included 400,000 bu at Toledo, 88,000 bu at Chicago, 280,000 bu at New York, 80,000 bu at Baltimore, and New York also reported 224,000 bu Manitoba wheat taken. In addition to the above St. Louis claimed a fair amount of both wheat and flour sold abroad and Winnipeg reported prices close to a working basis. While the export sales were liberal the effect on speculative sentiment was not pronounced, the continued hedging pressure offsetting the effect of the export business. Some of the local exporters continue to profess to be unable to sell wheat for export, but the general reports indicate there has been considerable business the last few days. King of Toledo wired that four cargoes of No. 2 red had been sold from there for direct export on Tuesday and that another one was close to working on the break yesterday.

Chicago prices for cash wheat are attracting more than the usual proportion of winter wheat to this market, according to messages from St. Louis. A late message from there to Barrett said that wheat would continue to come here on the present basis. Cash houses were all free sellers of wheat against country purchases during the day, although country acceptances were said to be materially less than the previous day. Nye-Jenks, Armour, Updike, Pope-Eckhardt, Bartlett-Frazier, and J. Rosenbaum all were good sellers, and it was this class of pressure on the market which encouraged local short selling and caused the big slump in prices. Most of the receiving houses said there was much less wheat sold to arrive, but there was a fair amount in the aggregate and cash men look for free selling on the advances for some time.

Well posted corn traders said last night that most of the local longs had dumped their corn overboard on the downturn and that many of them had gone short. The buying by commission houses early gave the locals a good opportunity to sell their corn, and after the first two hours the outside demand was limited. September sold off nearly 2c from the top mark of the day and there were big declines in all months. The scattered rains over the belt created a more bearish sentiment, and the weakness in wheat also caused much selling. Cash corn has been holding relatively firm for some time, and while there has not been a great deal of inquiry from abroad, some of the exporters here say prices are not far from an export basis. The domestic demand continues fairly good.

The Minneapolis Miller says: "Minneapolis flour output last week increased 106,790 brls. The output [for the week ending July 15] was 326,800 brls. against 282,970 in 1910, 259,955 in 1909, and 232,630 in 1908. This week three less mills are in operation, but it is expected that another large one will be started on Wednesday. The output for the week should approximate 290,000 brls. In the corresponding week last year it was 292,600 brls.

"Last week was an unsatisfactory one so far as new business was concerned with most northwestern mills. Buyers seem to be getting along with the least possible quantity of flour and stretching their supplies to the limit. Limited sales are for prompt and nearby shipment. No disposition whatever is shown to anticipate wants."

Prices for No. 2 red were about the same here as the previous day, new wheat being about 3c under the September. Corn was ¼@½c higher for sales and oats were not much changed, the break in futures coming after the cash market had virtually closed. There was hardly enough corn on sale to make a market and the country is selling little grain of this kind to arrive. Oats offerings were heavy of new grain. Shipping sales were 160,000 bu corn and 155,000 bu oats.

Winnipeg wire to Shearson-Hammill: "Western Canada had a pretty general sprinkling of rain last night and temperatures are warmer. Our reports continue to be very good. Exporters say while their export bids are not workable they are nearly in line."

John Inglis writes Logan & Bryan from Sioux City: "From Aberdeen to Yankton, with the exception of a few localities that were favored by heavy rains, crop is a failure. Where they can skim a few loads by the header they are doing so. The quality is poor and shriveled, but will be good stuff to mix with oats. Corn very good. From Yankton to Sioux City down the Missouri valley [which is a small area] all crops are good except oats. Corn stands about eight feet high, has splendid color, and is well eared."

Bartlett-Frazier had the following from a prominent farmer at Gilby, Grand Forks county, N. D.: "On July 1 I reported the condition of wheat in this county at 90. Today, after driving twenty miles, I would place it at not above 60. All ordinarily farmed land has deteriorated 60 per cent. Many fields would be more valuable for hay than grain if farmers had stock to feed, and some fields are being fed for hay. Rust and hot weather have stunted all wheat, and the earliest seeding does not show heads above the shot blade."

"My station agent wires me from Carrollton, Mo.," said W. H. Perrine, "there was a heavy rain for two hours general over northwestern Missouri. His estimate is that corn is damaged beyond repair, about 50 per cent. This rain ought to stop further damage and give some grass and feed, which will be big relief to the farmer."

George E. Fuller of Bartlett-Frazier wired from Girvan, Sask.: "Don't think this country will raise bumper crops. Condition of wheat and oats only fair; flax good. Believe country is still suffering in many sections from last year's drought. Been too cool last two weeks. Does not look like early harvest. Hear from travelers that North Dakota looks bad in many sections."

Leading crop expert said in regard to Nebraska conditions: "Eastern third of state, wheat good, both in yield and quality; balance of state very poor. From Grand Island west thrashing out two to five bushels, poor quality. Oats a failure. Corn through western half very unpromising; will make some feed. Nights very cold."

Reports from Ohio and Indiana indicated oats turning out better than expected, but in Illinois reports were more conflicting. The first cars of new oats received here show excellent quality, two cars of Illinois oats grading No. 2 white and testing thirty-three pounds to the bushel.

McKenna-Rodgers had a message from E. S. Jones of Kansas City, who said samples of corn received from Kansas and Missouri indicated the crop was in bad shape and that a large proportion would make an extremely small yield.

The Illinois Central railroad through their agent here sent out the following notice: "Commencing at once and until further notice we will not accept any carloads consigned to Wabash Elevator."

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ½@1c lower; corn, ¼@1⅜c lower; oats, 1@2c lower; and rye unchanged. Sales were 1 car No. 2 rye, 10 days' shipment, 80c track Chicago.

Receipts of wheat at Winnipeg were 11 cars, compared with 11 cars a week ago and 112 cars the corresponding day last year.

Estimated receipts are: Wheat, 665 cars; corn, 63 cars; oats, 131 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 7 cars; hogs, 21,000.

Broomhall's Russian advices continued to be bullish, claiming serious damage from drought in the Volga district.

Deliveries on July contracts yesterday were 105,000 bu wheat, 45,000 bu corn, 40,000 bu oats, and 500 tcs lard.

Argentine reports were less favorable, damage being claimed in the north, with crop badly in need of rain.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 350,000 bu for four days.

Charters were made for 100,000 bu corn to Buffalo at ⅝@⅞c.

HOG AND CATTLE PRICES BOOSTED

First Appearance of Seven Dollar Porker Since Late in March.

TRADE IN BEEF ACTIVE.

Fancy Lambs in High Favor with Buyers; Inferior Grades Sell at a Decline.

Seven dollar hogs and steers yesterday made their reappearance on the market at Chicago after an absence of several days. The porkers at the coveted figure were bought by speculators early in the session, when the general market was strong to 5c higher than on Tuesday, and were cast into oblivion again later, when packers amassed their droves at prices that showed all of the opening gain elimiated. It was the first time since March 29 that sales had been made up to $7.00.

Eastern shipping demand of urgent character was responsible for a surprisingly strong and active trade in beef cattle. Local buyers who had counted on seeing values receed under pressure of a liberal midweek supply witnessed instead a buoyant market, with good to choice steers selling at firm to 10c higher prices. Fancy lambs continued in high favor with buyers at firm figures but the inferior grades were discriminated against and sold at a decline. Range sheep were 15@25c lower.

CATTLE.

Receipts of 19,000 to 20,000 head were fully as liberal as the trade had expected, but the general demand for beef steers was broader than on any day in nearly two weeks and not the least sign of weakness was discernible in the trade. The commoner grades of steers were neglected and a little uncertain early, while the good to choice lots cleared briskly at firm to 10c higher prices, but they, too, were given reliable support later in the session, and the general market closed in a healthy condition. Besides the $7.00 steers, two loads made $6.90, and numerous lots reached $6.50@5.80, including yearlings at $6.75.

Fat beef cows and heifers continued to sell briskly and easily retained the gain of 10@15c made earlier in the week. Plain and medium quality cows and heifers were steady, and there was a firm market for bulls. Calves were supported at Tuesday's bulge, with choice vealers in full loads lots at $7.60, and assorted bunches at $7.75. Feeders were firm. Quotations:

Beef steers, choice to prime	$6.35@7.00
Beef steers, medium good to choice	5.50@6.30
Beef steers, common to medium	4.60@5.50
Yearlings	6.00@6.80
Beef cows, plain to choice	3.25@5.50
Fat heifers, good to choice	4.00@5.50
Heifers, selected	5.50@6.25
Canners and cutters	2.00@3.00
Calves, common to choice heavy	3.00@5.25
Good to prime veals	6.75@7.75
Stock steers	3.00@4.75
Feeding steers	4.00@5.20
Bulls	3.00@5.35

Cattle at six western markets, 34,900, against 39,600 a week ago, 46,200 a year ago, and 35,000 two years ago. Total for 1911 to date, 3,984,000, against 3,901,000 the same period in 1910.

HOG.

Speculators, shippers, and small packers bought hogs at firm to 5c higher prices and the average figure for the day was advanced 3c to $6.71, although leading packers staid out of the market until they could get their supplies on the same basis as in the foregoing session. Sellers did not hold out against the big killers after outsiders had filled their orders and the market closed active at the prices, with scarcely 4,000 hogs left in the pens unsold.

Quality was more attractive than on the preceding day and a spread of $6.80@6.90 caught the big bulk of the good hogs, with speculators paying up to $7.00 for one load and eastern shippers buying several lots at $6.95. The latter purchased 4,000 hogs altogether, while packers took an aggregate of 20,000 head, the smaller killers being particularly liberal buyers. Quotations:

Bulk of sales	$6.75@6.90
Common to good mixed	6.40@6.75
Fair to choice mediumweights	6.50@6.90
Fair to choice butchers	6.70@6.95
Lightweights	6.60@6.90
Select 200@300 lb packers	6.60@6.90
Boars, according to weight	2.50@3.00
Stags	6.70@7.25
Fancy shippers	6.80@7.00
Pigs	5.75@6.50

Average price of hogs at Chicago $6.71, against $6.68 Tuesday, $6.59 a week ago, $8.53 a year ago, and $7.90 two years ago.

Eleven markets received 88,000 hogs, against 98,700 a week ago, 71,000 a year ago, and 55,600 two years ago. Total for 1911 to date 13,948,000, against 10,709,000 the same period in 1910.

Hog purchases for the day follow: Armour & Co., 5,100; Swift & Co., 3,700; Anglo-American 1,100; Hammond, 1,200; Morris & Co., 1,600; Boyd-Lunham, 1,200; Sulzberger & Sons, 2,200; Boore & Co., 500; Roberts & Oake, 700; Western Packing Co., 1,100; Miller & Hart, 1,100; Independent Packing Co., 600; butchers, 300; shippers, 4,000; total, 24,000; left over, 4,000.

SHEEP.

By paying 10c higher for choice lambs and forcing inferior light lots down to 10@15c lower buyers widened the spread quoted on the general run of offerings to $2.75@7.40. A string of nearly 1,000 Idaho rangers reached the outside mark and the fact that they sold straight, against $7.35 the foregoing day, indicated how urgently they were wanted by packers, who had to be forced to take small bands of lightweight lambs at $2.75@3.50. Fancy native lambs reached $7.35.

More range sheep were offered on sale than on any previous day so far this season, while native sheep were in comparatively light supply. The latter cleared early at close to steady values, but rangers were off 15@25c and decidedly hard to move at the decline. Receipts here were placed at 22,000 head, while six western points had 35,900 head, against 27,000 a week ago and 32,500 a year ago. Quotations:

Native ewes	$3.25@4.10
Yearlings	3.75@5.50
Western wethers	3.90@4.75
Cull sheep	1.50@2.50
Bucks	2.00@3.00
Native wethers	3.50@4.85
Native lambs	2.75@7.35
Range lambs	4.75@7.40
Feeding lambs	3.25@5.25

CHICKENS POUR INTO MARKET

Liberal Receipts Tend to Depress Prices on South Water Street.

FRUIT AND TRUCK SLOW.

Lack of Demand Caused by Failure of Restricted Peddlers to Buy.

Liberal receipts of chickens yesterday gave the poultry market at Chicago a weaker undertone and buyers looked for lower prices. Officials of the poultry board did not announce reductions in official quotations, but sentiment favored a lower market and prospects were that cheaper cost will have to be made before the market can recover its equilibrium. Butter, eggs, and cheese held at stationary figures.

Showers and the anti-noise ordinance were held responsible for a restricted trade in fresh fruits and green vegetables. Peddlers, many of whom have decided to follow some other line of employment, now that the law has placed an embargo on their mode of calling attention to their wares, were sparingly represented in the trade, and receivers had to depend on city retailers and outside shippers to furnish an outlet for their offerings.

EGGS.

Receipts of 10,386 cases, although comparatively light, sufficed to meet the requirements of the trade and the market was weak at unchanged prices. Quotations:

CANNED GOODS STILL SOAR; SHORT DELIVERIES REPORTED.

Higher Prices of Staples, However, Do Not Appear to Affect Wholesale Grocery Trade.

Higher prices for many different staples has had little or no effect on the wholesale grocery trade in Chicago. Particularly is this true of canned goods and dried fruits. While there have been no recent advances in dried fruits, the tendency is toward higher prices.

Droughty conditions are generally responsible for the marked advance in canned goods, with indications of still higher prices on account of short deliveries, due to curtailed packs. The retail trade appears to realize this fact and is buying freely.

Jap Tea Demand Stronger.

On account of the small compass of gunpowder teas, as a result of the attitude of the growers in China failing to comply with the ruling of the tea board in regard to the adulteration of teas with coloring matter, the demand for Japan teas shows a proportionate increase, and holders are advancing prices. Opening prices on Japan teas were 2c a pound higher than those of last season, although the crop was larger. Second picking of leaves is now in progress.

Late reports from Seville are to the effect that the growing crop of queen olives promises to be abundant, but the output of fine Manzanillas will be small. Shipments of the new crop will not begin before January next, and in the meantime the supply of 1910 fruit in Seville, with what is held in distributing markets, is said to be insufficient to meet consuming requirements of the world for the next six months.

EXPRESS RATE CUT IN FORCE AUG. 1

Shippers and Companies Given Notice by Railway and Warehouse Board.

25 PER CENT TAKEN OFF.

Merchandise Charge Slashed and Minimum of 25 Cents Now Reduced to 20.

Notice was served on the express companies and shippers of the state yesterday that the Illinois railroad and warehouse commisison will issue an order prescribing a schedule of reduced express rates to apply throughout the state on Aug. 1.

This announcement was made by Secretary William Kilpatrick for the commission following a hearing before the commisison during the morning and a heated conference of representatives of the express companies and the shippers' organizations in the afternoon at which no agreement could be reached as to possible modifications of the commission's order of last year which was enjoined. cluded a 10 uer cent reduction a hundred pounds in the merchandise rates, a new graduate scale for shipments of less than 100

Reduces Rate on Merchandise.

The new order, issued in accordance with the new powers conferred upon the commission by the recetn amendments to the railroad and warehouse commission act, will be based on the order originally made effective on Oct. 15, with some slight modifications. The reductions made last year included a 10 per cent reduction a hundred pounds in the merchandise rates, a new graduate scale for shipments of less than 100 pounds weight, and a reduction of the minimum charge for single shipments from 25 to 20 cents. The entire reductions are estimated to average about 25 per cent, although some are as high as 50 per cent.

An injunction granted by Judge Kohlsaat last fall was based on the grounds that the commission was without jurisdiction. Having been given this jurisdiction by the legislature, the commision called a hearing at its Chicago office yesterday, at which the express company officials and the shippers' representatives were invited to express their views as to the previous order. After repeated objections and requests for a new and fuller investigation on the part of the express company attorneys, a committee was appointed to attempt to reach a compromise and report back to the commission.

Move for Delay Fails.

When neither side was willing to make an acceptable concession the announcement was made that the commission would decide the case without further hearing.

T. B. Harrison, attorney for the Adams and American companies, and C. W. Stockton, attorney for the Wells-Fargo company, first suggested that the commission make a complete examination of their books to ascertain the expenses and revenues of the Illinois traffic and possibly await the report of a committee of the National Association of Railroad Commissioners appointed to investigate express rates. Chairman Orville F. Berry of the commission stated that it had no disposition to make another extensive inquiry.

At the afternoon conference of shippers and express company officials the latter agreed to waive their objections to the reduction in 100 pound rates, provided the new graduate scale were eliminated. As the bulk of express packages averages far below 100 pounds in weight this would have meant a victory as to the most important effect of the order, and the shippers declined to accept any compromise. "We shall not compromise on any higher rates than those determined upon by the commission," said H. C. Barlow, traffic director of the Chicago Association of Commerce. "The rates are too high as it is, and we can only compromise by accepting the order without asking for further reductions."

A suggestion by Secretary Kilpatrick, who presided over the conference, that the commission's schedule be put in effect for six months, reserving the right to any party to make a complaint at the expiration of that time, was rejected by the express companies.

HIGH GRADE MEN.

We could fill this entire column listing bona fide positions paying $600-$10,000 per year, for executives, office, sales, advertising, factory, and general managers, bookkeepers, accountants, correspondents, salesmen clerical men of every kind, as well as neat appearing young fellows without experience.

We have over 100 positions open, and surely with this choice you can secure exactly what you want.

Remember, we have stood the test for 8 long years, that we are positively obliged to place you in a position. How can you lose? Thousands of others placed. Come in and get the facts. All interviews strictly confidential in private offices.

TECHNICAL MEN. TECHNICAL MEN.

Our technical department is simply overflowing with orders. Some of these are for the best positions in the United States, such as:

Designers, Factory Superintendents, Foremen, Mech., Elec., and Civil Engineers; over 15 openings for draftsmen, paying $900-$1,500 per year. We are especially shy on Mechanical and Architectural men. Also a raft of openings for tracers and college men.

If you are a high grade man in the technical line don't dispose of this ad until you have called on us. We have a special suite of offices for this department, located at Room 308. Drop in and talk to our manager, Mr. Plumbe.

Now, when we say we have these openings, we actually mean it, and you can depend upon not coming up here on a "wild goose chase."

Come in today. If out of the city, drop us a line. Keep your eye on our Sunday ads as well.

BOOKKEEPERS AND STENOGRAPHERS—

We simply cannot get enough to meet the demand. We see no excuse why every high grade woman in Chicago should not be placed in a better position, just as we have placed thousands of others. Our openings are with the better firms, offering you more salary.

Think of it! We have over 35 positions for stenographers and private secretaries alone; about 10 unusually good openings for Combination Bookkeepers and Stenographers at $15-$18 per week, besides a raft of openings for all kinds of general office clerks and neat appearing young women without experience.

All interviews strictly confidential in private offices.

We are "different," being under direction of Business Men's Clearing House, who have stood the test for eight years, placing high grade men. This is the reason we have the higher grade positions. Come in and see for yourself this morning.

SALARY LOANS.

SALARY LOANS—

Every person in Chicago getting a salary kindly call at our office and get all the money you want on your OWN NAME, without security; a written guaranty will be given you not to enforce payment through your firm.

WE MUST GET OUR MONEY OUT, so everybody come and get it. Our rates are the lowest in the city. You can pay us back in easy weekly and monthly payments at your own convenience.

NO ONE REFUSED MONEY.

Whether you borrow or not, come and get our rates first; honorable, fair, and just treatment accorded to all.

Present this ad.; it's good for money. You get the money the day you call; all we ask is to investigate our special rates first.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.
MASON FINANCIAL COMPANY.
BANKERS TO SALARIED PEOPLE,
105 W. MONROE-ST., ROOM 502,
SOUTHWEST CORNER OF CLARK-ST. TEL. CENTRAL 3516.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by profesional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan, Credit and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4303 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and in consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

MONEY FOR SALARIED PEOPLE—IF YOU hold a permanent salaried position we will loan you any reasonable sum from $10 upward WITHOUT security or knowledge of employer or friends. Our rates are LOW, payments easy. REBATE IF paid before due. QUICK SERVICE; long time if desired; no red tape; no extra charge; nothing taken out of loan in advance. Office hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Will receive courteous treatment whether you borrow or not.

NATIONAL FINANCE COMPANY, Joint Stock Company, New No. 30 N. La Salle-st. Room 431, Corner Washington-st. Old No. 108 La Salle-st. Branch office: Room 7, 9215 Commercial-av., South Chicago.

VACATION MONEY—

All you want for the asking. You can return it when you come back to work. We are the accommodation bank to honest people who haven't bank credit. PRIVACY GUARANTEED; FAIRNESS ASSURED; and you'll find our charges about one-half of what the loan companies sometimes impose. The original and only

CHICAGO LOAN ASSOCIATION, [Uninc.] SUITE 205, 35 S. DEARBORN-ST.

IF YOU NEED MONEY—

And appreciate privacy, confidential and courteous treatment, you can borrow from us QUICKLY any reasonable sum. MEN AND WOMEN permanently employed. BUSINESS CHANCES.

EXISTING TRADE CONDITIONS CREATE THE 20th Century opportunity. The Chain Store Systems of retailing and the jobbers' private labels is going to force an early economic adjustment. A promotion proposition greater than U. S. Steel. Is there another Moore in Chicago. Plan is original, not imitative. No [Moore] water. No get rich quick scheme or stock market selling plan. Plan proved without investments, promotion pays its own way. Responsibility, not actual money required. Attractive proposition for conservative bond house desiring strong nation-wide clientele of wealthy country business men. Prefer wealthy level headed young man, desiring a life work of achievement. Not a speculative plan, but will be the Giant Oak of commercial corporations founded on scientific management and the economic law, the advantage of which will not be lost by being capitalized. HOUSEHOLD GOODS.

3201 MICHIGAN-BLVD.

A palatial home, altogether 26 rooms, probably the most elegantly furnished mansion in Chicago; all the elaborate furnishings of this home are offered for sale at prices designed to effect an early disposal. The parlor furnishings are mostly imported and solid mahogany, with mahogany rockers and parlor table of exquisite design. Library set in mahogany and leather, worth $125, for $35. Beautiful library table. Complete dining set, $35. Beautiful revolving bed davenport. Turkish couch and rockers, massive brass beds of beautiful patterns. French box springs and mattresses complete, $25. Colonial chiffoniers and dressers, arts hairs and dainty bedroom rockers. An admirable collection of oriental and domestic rugs, stair carpet, etc. All priced at about 1-3 their actual value. Dainty tapestries, lace curtains in very rich patterns, portieres and drapes. Numerous elaborate electroliers, mostly imported; hand painted china and plaques, cut glass, set of Haviland china, silverware, etc. Our extensive collection of oil paintings is on exhibition in our art gallery, and this is your opportunity to secure some masterpieces by practically deciding the price to suit yourself. There are celebrated paintings by modern artists and reproductions of works of old masters, Raphael, Rembrandt, Rubens, etc. Hans Makart's sensational painting, "King's Daughter of Egypt," life size in elaborate frame 6 feet high, worth $5,000, for $500. Countess Potacka, $100; Countess Spencer, 75; "John," at Andrea del Sarto, $50 Countess "Simplicity," by Reynolds, $25. Thirty other notable paintings, $5 to $25 apiece. Concert grand piano, also inner piano player; have been used but little and look entirely new. Rarely ever is such a chance offered those needing furniture for a complete house, flat, or separate pieces, and we shall be pleased to receive a fair offer for any article in the house. Will remain home day and evening until everything is cleared out.

...AYS SMYTH AIMS TO DELAY CANAL

Trustee Charges Scheme to Disrupt Sanitary District Organization.

PRESIDENT IN FLIGHT.

Calls Minority Member from Meeting to Break Quorum; Court Fight Opens.

Thomas A. Smyth, president of the drainage board, having failed in his attempt to discharge thirty-seven technical men from the service, resorted yesterday to his veto power to effect his design, according to Trustee Wallace G. Clark.

He is now trying, Mr. Clark said, to delay the starting of the Calumet Sag channel in order that there may be no more work done—therefore no necessity of keeping together an organization it has taken the district years to build up.

"It now appears," said Mr. Clark, "that Mr. Smyth is willing to jeopardize the health of some 500,000 people affected by contamination of the waters of Lake Michigan from pollution now flowing into the lake through the Calumet river. The purpose of Calumet Sag channel is to reverse the flow of the river in order that this pollution may be diverted."

Smyth Flees Meeting.

President Smyth again fled from a board meeting during the day with defeat staring him in the face when he opposed an attempt of the insurgents to have approved the minutes of the previous meeting, which recorded the rescinding of the discharge of the employés.

Mr. Smyth deserted the board rooms after requesting Trustee Thomas M. Sullivan to desert also. Trustee Healy had called for minutes of the previous meeting to be approved and had asked for a roll call.

President Smyth ruled the motion out of order. Mr. Healy called the president's attention to the law and to Roberts' Rules of Order which have been adopted by the board. He said the ruling of the chair was "a wilful and defiant" violation of both.

"I say the motion is out of order and do so willfully and defiantly," retorted Mr. Smyth.

"I now appeal from the decision of the chair and upon that I ask for a roll call," said Mr. Healy.

"I say the appeal is out of order and there will be no roll call and I ask Trustee Sullivan to leave the room," said Mr Smyth.

"Call the roll," shouted Mr. Healy.

The clerk began the call of the roll on the question, "Shall the decision of the chair be sustained?"

"Don't you call the roll," said President Smyth to the clerk. Despite the president's order the clerk began to call the roll.

"I declare this meeting adjourned," shouted the president above the voice of the clerk.

President in Wild Retreat.

He then fled from the board rooms followed by his ally, Mr. Sullivan. Mr. Edward Kane, also a Democrat, disappeared from the meeting when the clash began.

Mr. Healy, Wallace Clark, Adolf Bergman, and Edward I. Williams remained. Mr. Clark was appointed to take the chair. The clerk began the reading of the message from the president, which purported to veto an order of the board published and deferred on June 29 awarding the contract for section 3 of the Calumet Sag channel.

The message of the president was referred to the committee on engineering for report.

"I move that the minutes of the previous meeting be approved," asked Mr. Healy. The motion prevailed.

The clerk presented a report from the committee on finance and Mr. Healy motioned that the report be accepted and the vouchers paid. Upon a roll call being taken it was found that a quorum was not present. After a statement by Trustee Clark the meeting adjourned.

President Smyth said he declared Mr. Healy's motion to approve the minutes out of order because Sullivan's motion deferring action on the minutes until the next meeting had been passed without objection.

Open Court Fight on Rules.

After the meeting members of both factions went to the courtroom of Judge Theodore Brentano, who with Judge Charles McDonald, sitting en banc, is hearing a mandamus suit brought at the instigation of President Smyth to determine the legality of rules which he asserts are void.
